Plans Being Made For Navy Reserve

Charleston. - Walver of the physical examination for Navy veterans en rolling for inactive duty in the Naval Beserve and the appointment of volunteer recruiters ' throughout the will be pleaded in bar of their recountry are latest steps taken by the Navy to make it possible eventially for every Navy veteran to establish his affiliations with the Navy in his home town.

In the past many Navy veterans eager to join the Naval Reserve have been unable to do so because of the absence of Navy recruiting activity in their home towns. Volunteer recruiters - members of the Naval Reserve on inactive duty who donate their time and services to assist others in joining the Reserve-are being appointed throughout the country.

These officers are designated as Naval Reserve volunteer recruiting officers and are authorized to complete enlistments, including administration of the oath. They are being assisted by enlisted personnel of the Naval Reserve giving their services as volunteer recruiters. The volunteer recruiters are taking care of the clerical work - radically reduced to speed enrollments - and assisting Navy veterans in the filing of appli-

The volunteer recruiters are being recalled to active duty but are being authorized in an inactive status to assist in enlistments, operating from their own homes or offices. Thty are authorized to wear the prescribed uniform while they are engaged in

All Naval Beserve officers, aux c inactive duty, interested in offering their services as a volunteer recruitter should address applications to the Commandant, Sixth Naval District. Naval Base, 'S. C., Attn: District Director of Naval Reserve.

HINTS TO FARM HOMEMAKERS If you have an old easy chair, keep on enjoying it for the present instead of trading it on a new model. Families are urged to postpone unnecessary purchases to give veterans chance to furnish their homes.

If the old gray suit won't go thru the winter and you find the new suits too expensive for your budget, why not make your own. There's more to thrift than putting money in the bank. It is easy to make a tailored suit, say clothing specialists, if you are skillful at sewing and have the patience to do careful work. But don't attempt a suit if you are an amateur at sewing. If you would like to have a bulletin telling you how to make a suit write to the Clothing Department, Agriculaural Extension Service, State College, Ralel-

How to get the bagginess out of trouser knees is one of the homepressing problems of housewives. Clothing specialists explain that trusers hag where the fabric has been stretched and that shrinking with team is the cure. Lay the trouser leg flat on the ironing board with the baggy part uppermost. Press gently, moving the iron from side to side so that the steam goes into the garment Keep pressing and patting the loose fabric into place until the fullness lisappears. Then press the entire leg of the trousers until almost dry. Leave the trouser leg in position on the hoard for a few minutes until it is completely dry. Never press wool until "bone dry" because this makes the fabric stiff and harsh.

Harmony

During the recent months of in-dustrial strife and popular centu-sion, current events have been almost as common a topic of convex sation as the weather. Whereve people congregate, somebody opens the subject of "What's the world coming to, anyhow?" It's a whole some condition. The common sen of Tom, Dick and Harry has say this nation from many a bad spill

Recently an old man (alightly deaf) sat near me on the train. With him was a teen-age girl, a with him was a teen-age girl, a grand-daughter perhaps. They had divided a newspaper between them. Granddad spoke first. "There's nothing wrong with this country if everybody would get together and do the right thing," he observed. The girl looked at him, shifted her gum and replied, "Many an honest heart beats beauth a wooden

Not a Dreamer. Maybe she lacked respect for her practical. People in a country this large don't get together. Moreover they don't do the right thing unless they know what it is, and their education in economic matters has been sadly neglected. Unless that very situation is corrected before long, our people will trail the British

I believe in specialization but I think no specialty should be so narrow as to exclude good citizenship. I believe in versatility, but how can any collection of miscellaneous knowledge be complete without some facts about how men became free to pursue knowledge and get understanding? No people can remain free long after their youth cease to appreciate their sacred lib-

Young Ideas.

Within the last 12 months, I have been privileged to talk with the students of a great many high schools and colleges in widely scattered states. I have discussed private enterprise and state socialism with them, and I can testify that most of them seem to consider private enterprise a failure. Some of them have been extremely well coached to debate against it.

Questioning them sympathetically, I find that very few of the students I meet have a clear idea about what private enterprise is. They consider it a system that gives spe-cial advantages to rich men and big corporations. They point out that our system has not maintained full employment, has not prevented alternate depressions and booms, and has never equalized living stand-

Look to Politics.

It is no surprise that studious youngsters are able to pick the obvious flaws in any system, but here is a surprise: Almost without exception these young people seem to think all the imperfections of America's present system can ed by government management. With the scandalous exhibitions of incompetence from WPA to the OPA, how can anybody expect politics to help?

Harmony is really needed in American industry, and American government, but it will be found only on a plane of better knowledge. Text books must be prepared and instructors trained to teach Americanism if human freedom, individual opportunity and intellectual liberty are to continue. When enough of us know the truth we can do the right thing whether we can actually get together or not.

Uncle Sam Says

North Carolina hog growers

When figures are presented for what rats eat, waste, and otherwise damage, the exclamation-'Aw Rats' -u not in order.

It costs plenty to keep rate on the form, according to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Just how much corn will the average rat eat in year?

Studies reveal that he eats about 50 pounds of corn. But that's 'not all. He also wastes from 50 to 100 pounds in addition to what he eats. With corn at $2 a bushel, or thereabouts, he piles up a big bill that the farmer must pay, unless someone gets mad about the whole proposition and decides to put on a rat eradication campaign.

And that's exactly what's happenng all over North Carolina at this time. Farmers, with the aid of the county agent and the Wildlife Service from State College, are carrying out county-wide campaigns to entire sections of rats.

Red squill balt is prepared at central location in the county and then farmers come into community centers at a certain time to get their batches of bait. The cost of the bait for the average farm is only about this investment in bait has saved them as much as $200, where rate were especially bad.

And another thing. Eradication of rats is a good Bealth measure not only for the family but also for the livestock.

Veterinarians tay tage there such diseases as white scours of ealves. mastitis, ringworm, tuberculosis, contagious abortion, coccidiosis and nfectious of chickens, and trichinosis of hogs

Hawkins Elliott of the Ryland comnunity of Chowan County, for evample, picked up more than 100 dead rats on the day after he put out that one dollar's worth of poison and estimated that about another 100 rats were killed under the barn.

The nation's 650 million acres forest lands must be made more productive. R. W. Graeber, Extension forester at State College, says there is a big job to do in North Carolina.
