Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hosts At Dinner-Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Hal D. Ward were hosts last Saturday evening at a dinner dance which was one of the season's most festive affairs.

The dinner table, which was appointed for twenty-four guests, was covered with a gleaming damask cloth. Lovely bowls of snapdragons and tulips were used as table decorations.

Lacy Valentines were suspended from streamers which draped the windows.

After a bountiful dinner, the table was moved to clear the floor for dancing.

The dance held candy in heart shape and a crystal bowl for punch. Twining tendrils of ivy were artistically arranged around the punch bowl.

Mrs. Cooper Hostess At Delightful Party

Mrs. Jacob Cooper was hostess last Wednesday afternoon at a delightful bridge party.

Lovely arrangements of carnations and snapdragons were used in the living room where five tables were in play. Score prizes were won by Mrs. W. K. Mauney, Jr., Mrs. Hunter Neisler, and Mrs. Carl Mauney. After the presentation of prizes, Mrs. Cooper served tasty refreshment in two courses.

Homemaking Is Theme At DAR Meeting

Members and guests of the Colonel Frederick Hambright chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met last Wednesday in the lounge of the Woman's club house. Miss Edith Hambright of Grover was hostess to the group.

An open fire and vases of Piccadilly lent a cheerful atmosphere to the gathering.

The chapter's regent, Mrs. Frank Summers, presided. The meeting was opened with prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. J. T. Pharr, after which Mrs. Arthur Hay led the salute to the flag.

After the business was dispatched the program, under the direction of Mrs. J. S. Norman, was presented.

The theme of the program was homemaking and Mrs. Norman introduced it with a few remarks about the origin of homemaking and methods of homemaking in other countries.

Mrs. Arthur Hay read an article by Pearl Buck about an outstanding Chinese homemaker.

Mrs. W. T. Weir then read two poems, "It Takes a Heap O'Livin' To Make a House a Home" by Edgar A. Guest and "When I Was a Little Boy" by Eugene Field.

Miss Margaret Williams, accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Herndon at the piano, sang "Sweet Little Woman of Mine" by Bartlett and "I Love a Little Cottage," by Stott-O'Hara.

Following the vocalist, nine girls from the Home Economics classes of Central and Beth-Ware high schools modeled the cotton dresses they had made and entered in the DAR contest.

Those who entered their dresses were Joan Bridges, Evelyn Roberts, Billie Sue Gates, Eva Nell Ross, Dorothy Hope, Peggy Mauney, Marilyn Surber, and Virginia Cole from Central and Little Mae Wright from Beth-Ware.

As the girls passed in review, the dresses were judged. The judges reported that a decision was hard to make since all the dresses showed excellent workmanship and design.

However, when all the garments had been inspected the winners were judged to be Peggy Mauney, first place; Marilyn Surber, second place; and Little Mae Wright, third place.

The teachers, under whose supervision, the girls made their dresses are Mrs. Dan Finger, and Mrs. John Cheshire.

As first place winner, Peggy Mauney is eligible to attend the DAR convention which will be held in New Bern in March and model her dress in the Cotton Review which will be a feature of the convention.

The girls and their teachers were guests during the social hour which followed the program.

Miss Hambright served a delicious chicken salad course accompanied by cherry tarts and coffee.

MISS EVELYN JACKSON

Fulton-Jackson Vows To Be Spoken Saturday

Miss Frances Evelyn Jackson and Robert De Kalb Fulton will be married on Saturday Feb. 15 in a quiet ceremony which will take place in the Presbyterian parsonage at York, South Carolina.

Miss Jackson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jackson of York. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer D. Fulton.

Harold Crawford, Jr. Honored At Party

Harold Crawford, Jr., was honored on Tuesday at a delightful party given by his mother on the occasion of his fifth birthday anniversary. Nineteen of Harold, Jr.'s friends gathered to help in the celebration, all bringing gifts which added much joy to the event.

The children played several games and competed in pinning a tail on a donkey, with Kenneth Roberts winning a prize for pinning a tail nearest to the correct place.

After the games, the young group were taken to the dining room which was festively decorated for the affair. A patriotic note, in keeping with the approaching birthday anniversary of George Washington, was observed in the party trimmings.

Colorful garlands of crepe paper in red, white, and blue cascaded down the chandelier to the table.

The birthday cake, glowing with five candles, was flanked with miniature flags.

All the little guests were given flag favors and paper hats with a patriotic motif.

After Harold, Jr. blew out the candles, the cake was cut and served with ice cream, mints and suckers.

Those present for the party besides Harold, Jr. are Ann Kathy and Frank Hoyle, Ann Warren, Polly Page, Ann Falls, Billy Shuford, Puck Lewis, Carolyn and Barbara Pinnix, Jim Pursley, Billy Logan, Jimmy and David Plonk, David and Kenneth Roberts, Jimmy Huneycutt, Billy Bird Crawford, and Mary Jo and Carolyn Bird from Shelby.

Mrs. Rossie Bird and Mrs. Wilson Crawford assisted the hostess in entertaining.

Attie Bostick YWA Met Monday Night

The Attie Bostick YWA of the First Baptist church met on Monday night with their counselor, Mrs. J. C. Bridges. Fifteen members were present.

Miss Martha McClain, led a brief period of business and Miss Beth Hord gave the devotional message.

Mrs. F. F. Sisk, guest of the group, gave an interesting discussion of the YWA Manual, after which the hostess served tasty refreshments.

Bride Is Honored At Lovely Party

Mrs. Eugene Goforth, bride of last month, was charmingly complimented at a lovely party given in her honor last Friday evening by Mrs. Ben Beam and Mrs. H. R. Patron.

The lounge of the Woman's club house, where the party was held was beautifully decorated for the occasion with crystal bowls holding red and white carnations interspersed with tendrils of ivy.

Covers were laid at eight tables when guests arrived. Slender white tapers, girdled with red ribbon to which tiny hearts were attached, centered each table. Mrs. Goforth's place at head table was marked with an exquisite corsage of red rosebuds. The other places were marked with dainty standing Valentines which were later used as tallies.

The Valentine motif and color note of red and white was observed in the desert course which was served by candlelight before the games started. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Misses Mildred Mae Goforth and Betty Hord and Mrs. Charles H. Hill.

Several progressions of rook and bridge were played during the evening and score prizes were won by Mrs. Hayne Blackmer and Mrs. Frank Hoyle at bridge and Mrs. Lynwood Parton and Mrs. R. G. Plonk at rook.

Just after the hostesses had presented the honoree with a gift of china in her chosen pattern, the party was interrupted by a delivery boy bearing a huge bundle of "laundry" which was delivered to Mrs. Goforth. Opening the bundle, she found it filled with attractive and useful gifts from the other guests.

Miss Aileen Yarbro Weds R. Sextus Bell

Miss Aileen Yarbro and Reed Sextus Bell were united in marriage on Sunday, February 9 at the home of the bride's parents on West Gold street.

The ceremony, characterized by dignity and simplicity, was performed by Rev. A. M. Kiser, former pastor of the bride, who used the double ring ritual.

An altar which had been arranged before the mantel in the living room was tastefully decorated with gladioli, carnations, tuberose and southern smilax and flanked by candle-bearers holding white cathedral tapers.

Prior to the ceremony the tapers were lighted by A. V. Yarbro and Fred Bell, brothers of the bride and bridegroom.

The couple approached the altar together and unattended.

For her wedding, the bride wore a becoming suit of navy blue and a modish straw hat to match. Her flowers were red roses in a shoulder bouquet.

Mrs. Yarbro, the bride's mother, wore a grey suit with a corsage of red carnations.

Mrs. Bell, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in a blue suit with a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Yarbro. She is a graduate of Waco high school and now holds a position at Mauney Hosiery Mill.

Mauney reside in Shelby.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bell. After graduating from Beth-Ware high school, he served in the Army for two years. He recently completed a course at Barber's college in Durham and is now employed in Shelby.

After their return from a short wedding trip, the young couple will
