Shed At Panther Home Burns Monday

A shed adjoining the home of Gus Panther on E. King street was destroyed by fire, after being hit by lightning during Monday night's storm.

Fire Chief Grady King said he investigated the blaze but that the shed, which contained farm tools, harness, and other articles valued at some $300, was too far along to save and no general alarm was turned in. The shed was a total loss. It was owned by J. O. Plonk, and rented by Mr. Panther.

Firemen answered an alarm last Saturday morning, extinguishing a grass fire west of Bridges Airport. No damage was reported.
