Mill to Last
Now serving as the main office building of the Rocky Mount Mills, Rocky Mount, N. C., this fine, old colonial mansion was built in 1835, nearly two decades after the mill, pioneer industrial enterprise in the South, began operation. Once the home of Benjamin D. Battle, one of the sons of the mill's founder, it was barely saved from destruction in the Civil War. The beautiful home is in a fine state of preservation and restoration and today it is virtually as it was constructed over a century ago.

NEWS VIEWS
BY J. G. DARRACOTT
Recently a man and his wife tried to refuse a big cash prize they won because when the news broke they got more calls than a duck flying over a hunting club. The doorbell buzzed and the phone clanged, like a bell buoy in a hurricane. It seems there are clipping bureaus around the country that keep a few eyes on all papers and magazines. Win a prize, get married, have an heir graduate, receive a legacy, and the clipping bureau swoops down on your name like crows on a cornfield! They sell lists of names to interested companies, and you're the target. It's the easiest popularity contest in the world.
Monday is the day—5th annual Lions club Labor Day Horse Show, featuring some of the finest horses in the South. Two performances — at 2:30 and 8 p. m. See you at City Stadium Monday.
In Turkey, surgeons removed a one-foot snake from a man's stomach. It crawled in as he slept with his mouth open! Any of you ladies want to use this to frighten hubby? You may swallow a lot of things, but not poor service when you're in a hurry!

Vets Must Apply For GI Benefits

Veterans entering school or on-the-job training under the GI Bill after September 1st must apply for their certificates of eligibility at least 30 days beforehand, according to Jack C. Winchester, district officer of the State Veterans Commission. Within one month after application the veteran will have been assigned a claim number and will receive by mail an original and one duplicate certificate of eligibility, both of which he will present to the institution or employer upon beginning his training.
"Subsistence checks to veterans in training will probably be received with much less delay under this new procedure," Mr. Winchester said. "Those veterans already having valid certificates need not worry about this change," he added, "as long as they plan to use them some time during this year. Later, if they haven't already begun training they will probably have to trade their old certificates in for a new model."
