

First View of First-Born

Look, but don't touch is a good motto and helps to protect new-born babes from worldly germs... which even an adoring father can carry. The colorful nursery in Russell Hospital, Alexander City, Ala. is also fitted with germicidal lamps for the added protection of infants like the one being held up by Nurse Mary Sue Densmore (above) to the admiring gaze of a proud and happy dad. The modern hospital, where an average of 43 newcomers a month are ushered into the world, is maintained by the Russell Manufacturing Co., textile manufacturers, for employees and townfolk.

Fall Fashions Call For Dainty Jewelry

The sleek, slender clothes you'll be wearing this fall are perfect foils for exquisite accessories. And there's a fascinating array of new jewelry designs to give a beautiful finishing touch to every costume. Lovely, little Victorian charm pins dainty bracelets and brooches with bangles, heirloom-type cameos, and jewel-studded cufflinks are but a few of the season's offerings that are sure to put the collector's gleam in your eye. You'll also find a choice selection of dog collars and chokers with bracelets, scatter-pins, and earrings to match, all of them dainty and feminine in keeping with the new fashion trend. Speaking of earrings, there's an important revival of the graceful, long pendant types. Among the new designs being featured are dramatic water-fall pendant effects, made up of baguette-shaped stones hung in graduated lengths. To highlight your "new look" hair do are rhinestone-encrusted bobby pins, gold-plated and jewel-studded barrettes, and lovely little jeweled combs. Jewel-toned and bronze baroque pearls in twisted and draped arrangements are wonderful with fall's new necklines. Exciting innovations this year, are necklaces with side and front clasps. Hunting season is here for migratory game and waterfowl—season opened Sept. 1—and it's just around the corner for dove, with rabbit and squirrel running close behind. Split dove season opens at NOON Sept. 16 and ends at sunset Oct. 5. For the first half, and opens up again Jan. 1, closing for good Jan. 20. Daily limit on doves is 10. Quail season opens Nov. 25 and closes Jan. 10, both dates inclusive. Daily bag limit is 8, possession limit 16, season limit 100. Rabbit season is the same as quail—opens Nov. 25 and closes Jan. 10. Daily limit is 7, possession limit 14, and no season limit. Squirrel season opens Oct. 15 and closes Jan. 10. Daily limit is 8, possession limit 16, and season limit 100. Grouse season opens Nov. 25 and closes Jan. 10, with a daily limit of 2, possession limit of 4, and season limit of 10.

On migratory game—rails and gallinules, daily limit 15, any combination. Daily limit for soras is 20. Season closes Oct. 30.

On ducks, geese, mergansers, and coots, the season opens Dec. 10 and closes Jan. 8, shooting hours one-half hour after sunrise to one hour before sunset.

Opening of hunting season means its time for football again too, with all the fall "ray! rah!" and stuff.

Down in City Stadium this week, first-year Coach Everette. (Shu) Carlson and Coach Don Parker had some talented assistance in Central high school football drills.

Pride Ratterree, all-stater with Wake Forest, and Jimmy Dickey, Catawba Tangerine Bowl hefty, were busy Wednesday giving the local line aspirants plenty of pointers on line play.

Both were stellar linemen in their respective colleges and both are now line coaches, Ratterree at Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va., and Dickey at New Bern.

Ratterree is slated to leave for Staunton Friday and Dickey is awaiting another call to New Bern, having already reported once. His school hasn't started practice because of a polio ban.

Sounded practically like a big college practice session with all the hefty coaches sounding off down in the "mud bowl" Wednesday.

Only boys over 15 are at the local drills because of the polio ban and the reserve strength of the Central squad is a question mark. Don't know just how much strength to add to the squad from the boys 15 and under.

It looks like Coach Carlson will field a good starting team for the opening game with Hendersonville on Friday week in City Stadium, tho.

If every player on the team can learn every play and can get into good physical shape after an unfortunate delay in practice sessions, local fans could well witness a better-than-average team on the field this fall.
