Inspection Lane Returns Tuesday

Motor vehicle inspection lane Number 4 will return to Kings Mountain on Tuesday and will again be set up for operation on Tracy street between Mountain and Gold streets. It will remain here through Saturday, November 27.

Motorists having their cars inspected will use the Gold street entrance.

All motor vehicles of the year models 1940 and 1942 are required to be inspected by November 30, while all vehicles of the year models 1941 and 1943 are required to be inspected by December 31.

Ten Defendants Tried In Recorder Session

Ten cases were tried in regular weekly session of City Recorder's court held at City Hall Monday afternoon, Judge E. A. Harrill, presiding.

Four defendants were found guilty of public drunkenness.

Other cases tried included: Case against Charles J. McKenney, charged with temporary larceny, not prosed.

Case against Thomas Bethel Grindle, charged with illegal possession of one pint of tax paid whiskey, not prosed.

Clyde Goins, of Bessemer City, fined $50 and costs after conviction on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

James W. Mayhew was fined costs after conviction on a charge of simple assault.

John Bell for driving drunk, was sentenced three months, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. His driver's license was revoked for one year.

James Hinson was sentenced two years, suspended, on a non-support charge. He was also put on good behavior for five years and was ordered to provide for and support his family.

South Carolina is the only Southern state which has state-wide forest fire protection.

Kings Mountain's high school gridders are scheduled to meet the Wolves of Lincolnton high in Lincolnton Friday night at 7:30 p. m., in the finale of the 1948 Western conference season.

The Mountaineers will be gunning for their second loop victory against five losses and a tie. Season record to date is one win, six losses, two ties. The record:

Nov. 19—Lincolnton—There Lincolnton has won five, lost three and tied one for the season in loop play. The Wolves fought Shelby to a 13-all deadlock on Nov. 5.

Coach Jack Kiser, of the Wolves, will send a strong, fast squad out for the Mountaineers in the homecoming battle. Ends Schrum and Saunders have been on the ailing list but are expected to be in form Friday night.

Kings Mountain players are in good shape after the 27-0 loss to Shelby last week and all members are in good physical condition.

It will be the last high school football game for nine starters on the Mountaineer squad, which also loses two reserves via graduation.

Chemist Reports Some Anti-Freeze Harmful

RALEIGH. — A warning to car owners and auto supply dealers to guard against harmful anti-freeze preparations has been issued by Dr. E. W. Constable, chief chemist of the State Department of Agriculture.

Samples of several so-called "permanent type" anti-freeze mixtures submitted to the Agricultural Department's laboratories recently have been found to contain materials prohibited by state law, Dr. Constable said.

Reports received from the western part of the state, he added, indicate that one of these brands has been veterans' administration expenses will require another large and necessary sum. He predicted that the European Recovery Program would take less money, but would still be around four billion, and added that the functions of the Department of State now require more personnel and consequent expense.

"Where would you cut? The salaries of employees only take a small part of the budget. In the Department of State, we can reduce its activities only at the choice of slipping back to a third or fourth rate power, where we would be worse off."

"We cannot let conditions exist as they were before World Wars I and II and again allow the killing of 78 million people," he declared.

Mr. Bulwinkle stated that he wished to clarify the nation's foreign policy, which consists of two principal planks: (1) to construct a strong and peaceful world order, and (2) to overcome the ravages of war in devastated countries.

"That is the foreign policy of the United States," Mr. Bulwinkle said, "and that's all you need to remember when the commentators talk about 'our confused foreign policy.' It isn't confused at all."

He said the aid to ravaged nations was begun, even during the war, with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration, through the World Bank and in other ways, and is now being continued through the European Recovery program.

"I know none of you would have us shirk our responsibilities," he concluded. "We must assume it for the future of the world."

Seal Sale Drive To Start Monday

Kings Mountain business and industrial firms have purchased $915.05 in "bonds" as a preliminary to the annual county-wide T-B Christmas Seal Sale, it was announced this week by Mrs. L. E. Abbott, Kings Mountain chairman of the campaign.

The annual seal sale will get underway Monday and will be handled in the customary way, with the familiar seals being mailed to almost every citizen of the county.

Funds from the annual campaign go to the Cleveland County Tuberculosis association and are used in stamping out the disease in Cleveland county, by preventive education and by treatment of the indigent who contract the disease.

Total for the county to date (against a quota of $8,000) is $1,556.55, with the drive incomplete in Shelby. To date Shelby has purchased $557 in T. B. bonds while rural Cleveland has purchased $384.50, it was announced by Mrs. W. C. Stallings, executive secretary of the organization.

Large portions of the contemplated budget for this year will be to furnish operating funds for the X-Ray unit which the Jaycees of the county are now raising funds to purchase.

The advance bond sale here was a project of the Senior Woman's Club. Other members of the committee, in addition to Mrs. Abbott were Mrs. J. H. Arthur, Mrs. J. E. Herndon, Mrs. Otto Hehn, Mrs. George W. Mauney, Mrs. J. L. McGill, Mrs. E. H. Crouch, Mrs. A. W. Kincaid, Mrs. Ollie Harris, Mrs. J. K. Willis, Mrs. E. W. Griffin, Mrs. Hunter Allen, Mrs. Gordon Riley, Mrs. Hal Plonk, Mrs. W. B. Thomson, Mrs. Claude Hambright, and Mrs. Clyde Kerns.

Clips 7-Game Streak Faces Team With 22

Charlotte. — With Sunday afternoon's meeting with the powerful McKeesport, Pa., pros at Memorial Stadium here, the Charlotte Clippers' search for strong opposition is expected to end. Game time is 2:30 p. m.

The Clippers, from end to end, average a hefty 204 pounds. McKeesport, covering the same territory averages 225.

The Clippers are proud of a seven-game winning streak. McKeesport until last week, had rolled up no less than 22 victories in a row.

Those reasons, plus a recommendation by all-time pro star Clark Hinkle, were enough to convince the Clippers management that they had found a team capable of staying on even terms with the Charlotte club. So McKeesport replaced the York, Pa., Roses on the schedule for Sunday.

Starting with McKeesport, the Clippers close their campaign with their three most capable foes since September. Next week comes Hinkle's Weirton, W. Va., team, and the week after that the College All-Stars in the second annual Variety club charity classic.

The Clippers to date have compiled the most impressive scoring record in Charlotte's football history, 395 points in nine games, or an average of 43.8 points per outing. End Rocco Spadacini is currently leading the way with 84 points.

The pollsters and columnists are still trying to explain "What's happen" with their election forecasts. Two months before election day Elmo Roper decided Dewey was so far ahead that it was a waste of time to ask any more questions. On November 1 the Gallup Poll had Dewey 5 percent ahead of Truman . . . and the Crossley Poll gave the G. O. P. and 8 percent margin. Apparently they asked the wrong people. The electorate trimmed the pollsters and columnists like a city slicker taking his country cousin. It was a self-funding debacle that caught the experts peeking the other way. Looks as though their next question is, "What now?"
