Mrs. M. A. Ware Gives A Lovely Party

One of the most attractive and delightful parties of the week was given last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. M. A. Ware at her lovely home on Gaston street.

Very unique arrangements of mixed flowers were used throughout the home. Four tables were appointed for refreshments on the arrival of the guests.

The hostess assisted by Mesdames J. B. Simpson, George Houser, E. W. Griffin and P. D. Herndon served a frozen salad course, sandwiches, strawberry shortcake, topped with whipped cream.

After four progressions each one was given a chance to pick the winner in the Derby. Mrs. P. M. Neisler and Mrs. H. C. Mayes were winners in the first race with Mrs. Howard Jackson winning the other two.

When scores were counted high score prize went to Mrs. Carl Mauney, second high to Mrs. Aubrey Mauney with Mrs. Jay Patterson receiving low.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments consisting of heavenly hash, Old London cheese sandwiches, peanuts, and fruit punch were served by the hostesses.

Methodist Youth Study About "Service"

Beginning a series of programs on "Summer of Service," Randle Williamson conducted a program on "Time on Your Hands" at the evening meeting of the Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship Sunday at 7 o'clock.

Sunday morning the Intermediate Boys class conducted a Mother's Day program, with readings, scriptures, hymns, and poems about "Mother." As a worship center, a white silhouette of a mother's head was placed on the wine curtain in the center of the wall, with white candles and red roses on the table below it.

Local Ladies Judge Shelby Flower Show

The Garden department of the Shelby Woman's Club held their annual Spring Flower Show Wednesday from 3-9 o'clock.

The club was most attractive with accents of ivy and bamboo. On entering, an attractive outdoor scene caught the eye. On a circle of artificial grass stood a white bird bath with two gorgeous white magnolia blossoms and their green waxed leaves casually floated in the basin of water.

The mantle arrangement by Gilliat by invitation, was equal to their artistic florist ability.

At the left of the entrance, a shadow box holding an artificial mannikin ladies head, whose hat was made of ceramim, but was topped with dainty natural flowers. This was surrounded by four models showing different styles of ladies hats decorated with lovely natural flowers to enhance the beauty and emphasize the theme of the garden show - "Fashions in Flowers".

At the right of the entrance—four shadow boxes were arranged, by invitation, depicting Education, Peace, Religion, and Remembrance or Hope. The study of these seem to speak through their natural accent with accessories. A message true to the need of today.

Around the entire wall space exhibits of specimen flowers of many varieties, shrubs, iris, etc. — appointments suitable for most every need and occasion.

The men's exhibit was very outstanding. The interest shown by preacher and laymen was unusual. These depicted different aspects in unique and original designs. Give a man an old shoe, ragged robins, day lilies, cigarettes, cigars and "four roses" — they can really go to town in flower arrangin'.

The room to the left was arranged with a perfectly appointed table, decorated for a dinner engagement. This was by invitation.

The show was successfully carried out by the detail planning of Mrs. R. T. LeGrand, Sr. Mrs. E. S. Bennett, Mrs. George Still and members of their committees.

The judges were Mrs. W. L. Pressly, Mrs. George H. Mauney and Mrs. Moffatt Ware from Kings Mountain.

Mrs. Z. J. Thompson entertained the judges and chairmen of committees at her attractive home for lunch prior to the opening of the Garden Show.

The centerpiece of red roses and yellow jasmine formed a color note for the delectable luncheon.
