Doing Things Together
"The American success is the story of large numbers of people doing something together. When an enterprise prospers, everybody connected with it prospers, and the success legend must be divided among them." The statement was made by Mr. Crawford Greenwalt, president of the Du Pont Company, who believes that America's unique position was achieved "not because we have more coal or more gold or more land, but because we have more incentive, more venture, more determination." Now, when the rest of us get out and talk that way, I believe that we will begin to see the greatness of America.
No Mere Accident
If management thinking at Du Pont is any key to the attitudes generally held in industry, I think we may all be encouraged to expect greater and greater things as America goes ahead year after year. Indeed, "the greatest good to the greatest number of people" is a description that just fits America. But it is no accident. It includes the ways we cooperate, capital with labor and labor with capital—until actually there are no differences.

Better Than Average
When you consider that persons willing to deny themselves put up their savings to the tune of $13,500 for each worker at Du Pont, you see how the stockholders cooperated. That makes a good solid investment behind the average Du Pont worker. It's higher than average. Proper and wise use of tools and human energy enabled this average worker to collect $10,600 for his part of production. That's higher than average.
Out of this $10,600 had to come costs of producing the goods. About 42 per cent, or $4,410, went for raw materials, power, and other necessary expense. This average worker himself was paid $3,330. The government tax bill was $1,030. There was put aside $730 to replace and modernize tools that wore out. All these costs came to $9,500, which taken from $10,600 leaves a profit of $1,100. On an investment of $13,500 that's about 8 per cent. That's not bad either.

What Makes America?
However, stockholders were asked to leave $280 of this profit in the business, making $13,780 for this average worker to use the following year. Stockholders were then paid $820 in dividends, or about a 6 per cent return on their money. This is the way that Du Pont's annual report reads, in terms of each worker. It represents wonderful coordination of the worker-management team. When you duplicate this many times, with big and little business, you've got what makes America.
The measure of America, then, is how well all of us cooperate. We've done a wonderful job in the past, despite misunderstandings here and there. This system, that permits us to use all our talents and all our resources, is sometimes called "free competitive enterprise." But it is also a wonderful adventure in cooperation. More than any other land today, more than can be found of any nation in history—we have succeeded in bringing "the greatest good to the greatest number of people."
