Mr. and Mrs. Fred Plonk and children spent the weekend in Blowing Rock and Linville Falls.

The many friends of Mrs. J. L. Teague will be sorry to learn she is still confined to her bed.

Dr. J. B. Church of Winston-Salem was a visitor in Kings Mountain Wednesday morning.

Mr. Tom Black of the Bethlehem community has entered the Gaston Memorial hospital where one of his legs was amputated above the knee Wednesday morning.

The night blooming cereus plant of Mrs. C. L. Fulton attracted much attention this week with its lovely blossoms. Many people have called by to see it. This plant is of the cactus family and produces large tubular nocturnal blossoms hence the name night blooming cereus. This plant is extensively cultivated for its beautiful, short lived flowers.

Miss Hope Becomes Bride Of Mr. Riddle

Sunday at high noon Miss Ella Mae Hope became the bride of Harold Riddle in a simple, dignified ceremony held in the First Baptist church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. L. C. Pinnix.

A basket of white gladioli and asters centered the altar and a bowl of white asters graced the piano.

Mr. L. C. Pinnix, vocalist, and Miss Lula Mae Teague, organist, were wedding musicians.

A grey suit with navy blue accessories provided a modish wedding costume for the bride and she wore red rosebuds at her shoulder.

The new Mrs. Riddle is a daughter of Mrs. J. I. Hope and the late Mr. Hope of near Kings Mountain, attended Grover high school and is a graduate of the Shelby Hospital School of Nursing. She is now employed at the Garrison General hospital in Gastonia.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Riddle of Kings Mountain, attended Central high school and is now employed with the Margrace mill.

After a honeymoon in the Carolina mountains, the couple will live at 105 North City street.
