Career Men Speak To Central Seniors

As a follow up of career day, Kings Mountain high school seniors recently heard a series of talks.

Among the speakers were L. E. Abbott and Frank Summers, who explained banking and later conducted the seniors through the bank.

R. L. Moser, administrator of Shelby hospital and W. O. Rudock, of Neisler Mills, told of opportunities in their respective fields of work.

A representative from King's Business College and recruiting officers from the Navy and Marines also made talks to the group.

Several garden crops, including tomatoes and beans, are highly sensitive to 2, 4-D.

Senior Class Play Was Delightful Hit

The Senior class of Kings Mountain high school presented "Mountain Mumps", a three-act farce last Friday under the direction of Miss Mary Belle Teague.

The cast, which included six boys and six girls, gave an outstanding performance, with the help of the stage crew.

Immediately following the play, a reception was given for all seniors and their parents in the cafeteria.

For refreshments, time punch, iced peanuns, and a large variety of cookies were served.

The committee which planned the reception consisted of Mary McKeivey, Iris Patterson, Jo Ann Bridges, and Carolyn Early.

Fontana Dam, on the boundary of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park in North Carolina, is 480 feet high. It was victed by a million people in 1949.
