At the same time, success of American forces in Korea will not call for any slackening of the vigilance of this nation against Russian aggression. Failure in Korea will require re-doubling of strength, in all of the United States' world outposts.

Mr. Fuller

The Herald is glad to learn that the city board of commissioners has employed a city administrator and that he will be on the job on August 1.

M. K. Fuller has considerable experience in municipal and county affairs, having formerly served as auditor for Columbus county and for the past three years as city manager at Laurinburg.

He comes here with highest recommendations, and the city administration is confident that he will successfully discharge the duties of top executive of the city.

Running a city is no easy task. First, the job has all the difficulties customarily associated with the running of any ordinary $300,000 corporation. Second, while the city administrator is responsible first to the board of commissioners (which might compare to the average board of directors of a corporation), he has also to please the vast majority of 7,193 stockholders, which is the current population of the city. It is a vociferous and temperamental group of stockh lders, too.

On the other hand, Kings Mountain is little different, if at all, from other communities in this respect, and our hope is that Mr. Fuller will be able not only to please the directors and stockholders. but to make them money in the sense of providing improved services for the same amount or less money.

The Herald is firmly committed to the need for a full-time executive for any business, Jarge or small, and feels that the city requires one too.

all times, and these are found all too seldom, not only at the postoffices of the nation, but in other businesses as well.

There is a premium these days on friendliness and willingness to work in all employment, whether public or private, and Miss Black was of the old school in these respects.

Mortgage-burning ceremonies are always pleasant, and the one at the Kings Mountain Country Club last week was no exception. Burning of evidences of debt mark the attainment of a goal, and frequently are the go-ahead signal for setting of another. This is true at the Country Club, where the directors have set for the next club project the construction of a swimming pool. It is a big project and a costly one, but the club feels that it is merely one more phase of the over-all goal in making the Kings Mountain Country Club one of the best and most well-rounded small city clubs in the nation.

Our congratulations to the Kings Mountain Legion Juniors, Coaches Lewis and Bradshaw, Athletic Officer W. L. Plonk, and the hard-working athletic committee on a successful season. Ordinarily, a record of ten victories against four losses in first-round play would insure a place in the second round. This year it was short by one game. At the same time, the record this year was by far the best in local Legion baseball history. The program has been improving here each year and Kings Mountain fans are looking forward to future seasons with anticipation.

Acceptance of a call to Zionville in Watauga county by Baptist minister. Rev. E. O. Gore can be described as Kings Mountain's loss and Watauga's gain. Mr. Gore was a respected minister and citizen of this community and he served well the members of Oak View Baptist church.

Bachelor life is better, if the larder is left well-stocked. Last winter, I had an evening's freedom due to a concert of some kind, and found myself in no. mood to go out on the to. n. A nice T-Bone steak was waiting in the freezer compartment. and I went to work. It probably wasn't too balanced a meal. but there were also some Brussel sprouts present too, so I looked at the directions and dumped 'em all in the pot. Coffee rounded out the meal, and it was a good one, though it took somewhat longer to prepare than the average cooking time. There must have been a dozen Brussel sprouts, and I thought I had to eat 'em all. The steak was my first from the cooking standpoint and it worked out very well. No ptomaine resulted and I was bragging about my ability in public later on, when Jim Anthony, an excellent chef in his own right, deflated me somewhat. "It's the quality of beef that tells the tale in a steak", Jim remarked. "Anybody can cook one."

Occasional short periods of baching it are o. k., but one of too much duration might get pretty wearing, probably in direct proportion to the number of buttons which pop off shirts.

It is a fact that North Korea is at war with South Korea. Newsmen have reported that troops of the Russian-supported government of North Korea Sunday lanched an invasion into the territory of the Amer.can-sponsored Republic of South Korea. It is not fact that Russia has invaded American territory, nor is it true that Russia and America are at war.

Our authorities in Washington are very much concerned over this conflict in the Far East, but they do not believe it means that the third world war is about to start.

THEY MAKE US WEARY (The Philadelphia Inquirer)

It is practically impossible to repress a feeling of admiration for that famed scientist, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, who after three long and weary hours of "preliminaries" at a dinner in Caliornia, abandoned his speech. He called it off with the obser vation, "At this hour I fear the mind is too weary to listen to the speech I have prepared." The practice of stalling off the that spells fuancial security.

A business is judged the same way. If it is legal ... law-abiding ... pays its share of taxes and fills a community need... then it deserves public respect and patronage.

A good example is the Brewing Industry. It is a legal, law-abiding business. A source of many jobs with a large payroll, it also contributes thousands of dollars in added revenue for public services in your community. And it is taking positive steps to insure that it does not lay itself open to criticism.

How? Through rigid self-regulation ... the fullest possible cooperation with the Malt Beverage Division of the State ABC Board in its periodic checkups of all individuals licensed to rell beer. Conditions are improving, and the whole industry benefits accordingly.
