The Ayshire Association has also cited an outstanding bull owned by the North Carolina Experiment Station at Raleigh. The bull, Carolina's Criterion, has sired ten daughters that have averaged 10,251 pounds of milk and 421 pounds of fat.

Wake County farmers now have more than 12,000 acres in Ladino with hundreds more scheduled to go in this fall. Last year, several Wake farmers grazed their pastures for eleven and one-half months out of the twelve.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTES

Margaret Lowder

Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today!

Yes, if you wonder whether you're entitled to Social Security benefits, inquire today. It may cost you another month's benefits if you wait until tomorrow. Remember, benefits are paid at age 65 and to survivors of deceased wage earners.

Payments, whether retirement or survivor's monthly or lump-sum, are not made automatically. A claim for benefits must be filed before payment can be made. It is important to file a claim promptly; otherwise, benefits may be lost. A worker should get in touch with the nearest Social Security Administration field office as soon as he reaches age 65. Benefits are payable retroactively for only three months prior to the date of filing. Claims for monthly survivors' benefits should be filed immediately after the insured person's death. Monthly payments to survivors are also retroactive only for three months prior to the month of filing. Thus, if a claim is not filed until the fourth month after the month of the insured's person's death or attainment of age 65, one month's payment is lost.

The Gastonia Office is located in the Post Office building. Office hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday. A representative is in Kings Mountain, N. C., the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays of every month at 10 o'clock in the morning in the City Hall, and will be glad to answer any questions about social security.

North Carolina dairymen had 3,262 cows on official test during April.

State Receives Liberty Bell

RALEIGH.—At a ceremony Friday afternoon, July 7, Governor W. Kerr Scott accepted in behalf of North Carolina the Liberty Bell replica which visited 74 cities and towns in the state for the current U. S. Savings Bonds Independence Drive. The bell will temporarily rest in the State Museum of Natural History and later will be moved to the Hall of History. In its tour over the state the bell was viewed and rung by thousands of men, women, and children.

I. M. Bailey, of Raleigh, state chairman of the U. S. Savings Bonds Advisory Committee for North Carolina, presented a descriptive plaque and a certificate of donation signed by the Secretary of the Treasury to Governor Scott. The certificate officially placed the Liberty Bell replica in permanent custody of North Carolina.

Mr. Bailey stated that the Independence Drive closes July 15 and urged all North Carolina citizens to remember the Liberty Bell's Savings Bonds message and serve as minute men volunteers during this final week of the Drive by buying at least one series E Savings Bonds and asking others to do so. North Carolina is far from reaching its $7,057,000 Series E Bond quota, he said. In the light of the present world situation we cannot afford to fail, he concluded.

Food specialists of the State College Extension Service say the common onion is one of the most versatile vegetables we have. No other vegetable can be used in so many ways.
