Mr. Fogleman presented the historical origin of the office of deacon, the qualifications of a deacon, and the duties and privileges of a deacon. At the conclusion of the message, the pastor invited the members of the deacon board to participate in the ceremony of "laying on the hands." ## Annual Library Book Fund Drive To Begin Next Week; Goal $2,000

The annual fund campaign for books for the Jacob S. Mauney Memorial library will begin next week, under direction of the library committee, and with a campaign goal of $2,000. The goal of $2,000 was described as a "minimum" need, since books cost a minimum of $2.00 each. Last year the goal was not reached, which meant that, during the past year, the committee was not able to increase the volumes at the library to the extent it wished. Since the opening three years ago of Jacob S. Mauney Memorial Library, circulation figures have continued to grow. Figures reported this week by Mrs. Charles Campbell, librarian, showed total circulation of 15,398 during the year ended September 30.

Betty Yarn Mill Sale To Slater Firm Rumored

Unconfirmed information Thursday indicated that Slater Brothers, a manufacturing concern of Patterson, N. J., is planning to purchase the former Betty Yarn Mill property from Troy Whitehead, of Charlotte, and will use it for the manufacture of plush. Slater Brothers have recently purchased the Double Shoals yarn mill, near Shelby.

Sources considered reliable said that the New Jersey firm has an option of the property here and that the transaction will probably be closed within the next few days.

Mr. Whitehead, Charlotte machinery dealer, was out of town Thursday and could not be reached.

Betty Yarn Mill was originally built and operated by D. C. Mauney and Haywood E. Lynch, of Kings Mountain, in the manufacture of low-count yarns. These owners later sold it to Mr. Whitehead. At least one effort to put the plant back into operation was made a firm which was supposedly buying the property from Mr. Whitehead, but it never got into production.

Mountaineers At Newton Friday

Kings Mountain high school is scheduled to journey to Newton Friday night to meet the Newton-Conover Red Devils in a Western (AA) Conference game. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

The game will mark the annual Newton-Conover high homecoming and the Kings Mountain school band will also make the trip and take part in the ceremonies.

The Mountaineers will enter the game in poor physical condition, with Tackle Gerald Valentine, Guard Robert Davis, Tackle Charles Mauney, and Centers Bob Huler and Kenneth Davis all on the ailing list.

There was also a possibility Thursday that Tailback Jim Kimmell would be unable to play because of illness in his family. The Red Devils run from a split-T formation and Coach Shu Carlton says "they have a good ball club."

Right Halfback Reitzel, who is rated as one of the loop's best backs, sparks the Newton attack. Reitzel broke his leg last season and did not play against Kings Mountain, the Mountaineers winning 13 to 0. Reitzel was playing his last season last year but conference officials voted to allow him to play another season.

Other Red Devil standouts are Fullback Martin and End Hewitt, Earl Broome is coach of the Newton-Conover team.

Kings Mountain is to move back to City Stadium October 27th for the final home game of the season, Mt. Holly's Hawks furnishing the opposition.

Missing Any Ladies Lingerie?

Chief N. M. Farr of the Kings Mountain police department announced arrest of a 14-year-old Negro girl on Wednesday and urged cooperation of citizens in "getting rid of" several items of ladies' lingerie reportedly stolen by the girl.

"A good many of the items this girl had in her possession when we arrested her Wednesday morning have been claimed by persons who were aware their homes had been entered. The remainder of the items, we believe, were taken from homes and never missed," Chief Farr said.

Desk Sergeant R. O. Hord explained that the department "had a time" catching the girl.

"We know of around 10 or 12 homes she had entered and we answered numerous calls during the past week," Officer Hord said. "The girl would spot a house where the door was open and would walk right in and help herself. If someone was at home the girl always had an excuse — 'is this the house where they want a baby-sitter' or 'do you need any work done' were some of them," he continued.

The unclaimed clothing items are at the police department office at City Hall.

The girl was taken to Shelby Wednesday afternoon for trial before Cleveland County Juvenile Court Judge Everett Houser.

The county Democratic executive committee will meet Monday evening at the office of C. C. Horn, county chairman, to nominate a successor to the late Henry W. McKinney as a nominee for county commissioner.

Notice of the meeting were being mailed Thursday to the county's 28 precinct chairmen and there was some hope in Kings Mountain, that the committee would name an eastern county citizen for the post.

Prominently mentioned here as possible nominees were L. Arnold Kiser, Joe A. Neisler, Carl F. Mauney, and Hazel Bumgardner. Mr. Bumgardner was a candidate for the nomination last spring and failed of nomination by only some 200 votes.

There was no guarantee, of course, that Number 4 and 5 townships would get the nod. Other county citizens were also being mentioned for the post, among them Grady Burris, Mooresboro cotton ginner and farmer, and Senator Lee B. Weathers, Shelby Star publisher, who is not running for re-election as state senator.

Under present law, Clerk of Court E. A. Houser is empowered to make interim appointment in event of death or resignation of members. He has indicated that he will name the executive committee's nominee for the unexpired portion of Mr. McKinney's term, Chairman Horn told the Herald.

Mr. McKinney died suddenly at 5:30 Monday afternoon at Roster Memorial clinic at Boiling Springs. Death was the result of a heart attack. He had entered the clinic for treatment of a severe cold. Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Trinity Baptist church.

Central P-TA Will Conduct Clothing Drive

The Central Elementary Parent-Teacher association will collect used children's clothing for distribution to needy children beginning at noon next Wednesday afternoon, according to action of the group at a meeting this week.

Mrs. George Houser is chairman of the project and announced that the used clothing collected will be distributed to needy children in all schools of the city.

Citizens of the community are being asked to place bundles of used clothing on their porches by noon next Wednesday. P-TA members will pick them up.

"The clothes should be usable," Mrs. Houser pointed out, "and cleaned." She also asked that sizes be pinned on shoes and garments if possible.

"The P-TA feels that many usable clothes are available in Kings Mountain homes which children have outgrown or otherwise can no longer use themselves," Mrs. Houser said. "On the other hand, teachers report that many children in the city schools are ill-clothed. We want to put these usable, but unused, old clothes to work."

She said the clothes collected will be distributed to needy children by the teachers in all the city schools, including Davidson school.

If bundles placed on individual porches are accidentally missed next Wednesday, Mrs. Houser asks that the citizens call Mrs. Houser at 108-J or Mrs. Hunter Neisler at 549-J.

GRACE PASTOR — Rev. T. W. Hager is the new pastor of Grace Methodist church. A minister for the past 33 years, Mr. Hager began his work here on October 8.

Mr. Hager, who succeeded Rev. G. W. Fink as pastor of the local church, came to Kings Mountain following a four-year pastorate at Caraway Memorial church in Greensboro.

He is a native of Lincoln county, and Mrs. Hager is the former Miss Essie Edwards, also of Lincoln county.

The Hagers have five children, all married. They are Mrs. Crosby Morrow, of Mooresville, Webb Hager, of Albemarle, Rev. Parker Hager, of East Bend, Clarence Hager, of Salisbury, and Mrs. Theo Crouch, of Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Hager occupy the church parsonage on Church street, which has recently been renovated.

Induction Call For Nine Nov. 1

The Cleveland county selective service board has been ordered to furnish nine men for induction into the army on November 1.

Mrs. Clara Newman, board clerk, said seven of the men would be called from the group of 77 which were found physically fit October 6th, since the board's pool of men available for induction is only two — other than the October 6th group.

Mrs. Newman also reported that only three Cleveland county professional men registered Monday under the so-called doctor draft. They included Dr. P. E. Hendricks, of Kings Mountain, and Dr. Paul Nolan, of Lawndale, both medical doctors, and Dr. G. C. Sloan, Shelby dentist.

The group came close to being four. However, after visiting the board office to register, Dr. D. F. Hord, Kings Mountain dentist, found that he was not required to register, having previously served a sufficient amount of time in the army.

Under registration requirements, professional men educated under the services specialized training programs who did not serve on active duty for 21 months were required to register for possible call to service.

Mrs. Newman said the Cleveland board has not yet received a pre-induction call for November.

On Wednesday, two Kings Mountain area men were among the group of 13 sent to Charlotte for induction into the army. They were Jesse James Rhodes and Ralph Jennings Smith.

Board Seeks Six Local Area Men

The Cleveland county selective service board is still seeking to locate six Kings Mountain area registrants.

Those sought by the board include Jacob Bradley, Lee J. Owens, Edward Junior Martin, William Henry Howze, Willie James Archie, and Wiley Richard Ogle.

Persons having information on the location of any of these men are asked to notify the board at Shelby.
