Central PTA Plans Hallowe'en Carnival

The PTA of Central Elementary school met Wednesday afternoon. Prior to the program a social period was held. During this time punch and cookies were served.

Mrs. Humes Houston, president, presided. Rev. J. H. Brendall gave the devotional. Miss Mallord gave an article on "Home," Mrs. W. F. Houser discussed, "Education Begins in the Home."

During the business it was voted to help with a clothing drive for needy children and plans were made for a Hallowe'en carnival.

Mrs. Swink's third grade had the most parents present.

Two Are Hostesses At Formal Tea

Mrs. Hugh B. Covington and Miss Helen Logan entertained together Saturday afternoon at the Kings Mountain Teacherage at a beautiful formal tea which they planned as a compliment to out-of-town faculty members.

When tea callers arrived they were greeted by Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Hugh B. Covington headed the receiving line which included Miss Helen Logan, Miss Daisy Lovelace, a former teacher in Central School, Miss Kitty Lou Sutton, Miss Mary Maillard, Miss Mildred McKinney, Miss Doris Stout, Mrs. Mrs. Ray Swink, Mrs. Ruby Upchurch and Miss Cornelia P. Cobb.

Miss Ruth Beam received in the hall, and Mrs. David Fisher invited guests into the dining room.

The refreshment table placed in front of the double windows covered with a lace cloth was unusual and attractive, as the hostesses had emphasized the Hallowe'en motif. A large witch with candles semi-circled around her back holding ghosts created a very striking centerpiece. Mrs. Bill Craig presided over the coffee service at one end of the table and Mrs. Lawrence McSwain served pastries from the opposite end. Silver platters of homemade candy added a further note of color. Plates and napkins were given out by Mrs. Bill Page. Others assisting in serving were Miss Sarah Alexander and Mrs. Hill Carpenter.

Good-byes were said to Miss Marie Lineberger and Miss Janet Scoggings.

Calling hours for the tea were between four and five-thirty and approximately 100 friends of the hostesses attended it.

The living room was bright with arrangements of fall flowers which provided a festive setting for the tea, which was one of the largest social events of the week. The arrangement of marigolds on the living room mantel, the gorgeous dahlias on the desk with the marigolds used around the lamp base in the hall all combined to make a perfect setting for the lovely affair.
