Honor N. C. 4-H's For Achievement

Paul Wagoner Evelyn Waugh

STATE-WIDE recognition has been accorded Paul Wagoner, 18, of Gibsonville, and Evelyn Waugh, 18, of White Plains, for having a brilliant record of achievement in 4-H Club work. Each has been presented with a pair of miniature statues by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work as a token of their accomplishments.

Paul has been in 4-H nine years, completing 39 projects, specializing in poultry, dairy, wildlife and livestock. He has made 77 exhibits at county, district, and state fairs, and participated in 18 judging and livestock showmanship contests, winning many awards. Paul has attended National 4-H Camp in Washington, D. C., and in 1948 was state champion in field crops. Leader of his club, he has given unstintingly of his time and efforts to help younger members with their problems. Paul, now attends North Carolina State Agricultural College.

A 4-H'er for six years, Evelyn has done an excellent job in clothing, food preparation and preservation, home improvement and gardening, completing a total of 34 projects. Last year's state and national clothing achievement winner, she attended Club Congress at Chicago. Evelyn has made 72 exhibits at local, county and state fairs. She has given 24 individual and 34 team demonstrations before more than 6,500 persons. President and leader of her local and county clubs, she has given much assistance and inspiration to others. Now a freshman at the University of North Carolina, Evelyn is a member of the college 4-H Club.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperation.

Tamworth Hogs Make Good Bacon

Production of Tamworth hogs is enabling 4-H Club members of Rockingham County to meet the increasing demand for locally grown, high quality bacon, says W. F. Wilson, assistant county farm agent for the State College Extension Service.

Wilson says the club members have obtained some of the best blood lines of the Tamworth breed that can be found in the country. They selected this bacon type, he adds, because Tamworth grow rapidly and can feed themselves almost entirely on pasture. Tamworths, he adds, also farrow large litters and feed their pigs well until weaning time.

D. L. Tuttle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Tuttle, Route 1, Stoneville, has a registered Tamworth sow that farrowed six male and six female pigs. He didn't lose any. On Ladino orchard grass pasture the pigs have made outstanding gains. This litter, a prize winner at the Leaksville fair, is now ready for sale. D. L. plans to breed the sow to a registered boar for another litter next spring.

George Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Knight, Route 4, Reidsville, has several registered Tamworth sows and produces excellent pigs for the local market. He entered four registered gilts in the State Tamworth sale at Rock Hill Mount and sold them for a good price.

Edmond Albert, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Albert, Route 2, Stokesdale, is another Tamworth breeder who is producing excellent quality bacon-type pigs. He has a litter of 12 which are more than a month old.

Owen Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Young, Route 1, Stokesdale, has been producing excellent breeding stock for several years. He has several boar and sow pigs old enough for breeding next spring.

Sheltontown Wins 'Model Mile' Prize

First place in the State-wide Model Mile Roadside Improvement Contest for 1950 has been awarded to the Sheltontown community of Surry County, where a number of outstanding projects in community improvement were completed this year.

The contest is sponsored annually by the State Home demonstration organization and other State-wide groups with the help of the Carolina Motor Club, which provides the prizes.

The Sheltontown Home Demonstration Club had long wanted to make the highway running through the community more attractive, but somehow they had not had the proper incentive to get started. When Mrs. Grace Pope Brown, county home agent for the State College Extension Service, told the group about the Model Mile contest, the club members saw an opportunity to approach the people of the community with a definite program.

Mrs. Alvis Love was named leader of the project. She proved to be a "natural" for the job. Mrs. Love says, however, that success was achieved through the cooperation of all the people in the community.

One of the goals reached by the club was to have each home owner clean up and haul away all rubbish and trash from the premises. "Unfortunately," says Mrs. Love, "the rubbish reappeared almost as fast as it was hauled away."

The owner of an auto garage and "graveyard" became so interested in what was being done that he not only removed the auto parts by truck and bulldozer but also removed his entire place of business to a less conspicuous location.

Cleaning up and landscaping church grounds and painting the local schoolhouse were among the other accomplishments of the club. The community raised the money to buy the paint for the school building, and the county furnished the labor.
