Check Farm Homes Now For Any Needed Repairs

Uncle Sam Says

Our freedom is in danger! Every American knows that and I know that every one of you wants to do his or her bit to help preserve that freedom. We can't all go into uniform or into a defense plant, but there is one BIG way in which we can all help, every one of us. That is - the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. They are not only as valuable today as the day you buy them, they grow in value. And they will always be that way. Enroll for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or if self-employed, the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank.

Thousands of farm homes in North Carolina are in urgent need of repairs, says R. M. Ritchie, Jr., agricultural engineering specialist for the State College Extension Service.

Porches and steps of some are so weakened as to be dangerous, the specialist declares. He points out that winter and early spring is the best time to make needed repairs to these farm homes. Now is the time, he reminds home owners, for that annual check to find what repairs have to be made.

Concrete is an ideal material, says Ritchie, for outside steps and porches. If wood is used, it should be of a kind that resists decay, or else it should be treated with a wood preservative. It is possible to buy wood preservatives suitable for home use which will make sap wood as durable as heart wood.

Every year 3,500 farm people in the United States die in farm fires. The largest single cause of these tragic farm home fires is defective flues and heating equipment. If chimneys are cracked, or if mortar is leached out of the joints, these places should be repaired.

Ritchie asserts that any building will deteriorate rapidly if the roof is not kept repaired. For a new roof, there are several good materials from which to choose. Metal roofing is becoming scarce, but composition and asbestos cement shingles probably will remain available.

Composition shingles make a roof covering that is inexpensive, usually has a life of from 15 to 20 years, and is so easy to apply that the average farmer can put it on himself. Quite often these shingles may be put on right over the old roof.

Forestry Group Give 4-H Awards

The North Carolina Forestry Association plans to offer medals this year to 4-H Club members in all Counties for outstanding work in forestry projects, announces John L. Gray, extension forester at State College.

Initial awards will be made this year to one deserving youth in each county. The North Carolina Forestry Association is made up of representatives of wood-using industries, foresters, farm and other woodland owners.

Purposes of the program are to stimulate further interest and activity in forestry and good forest practices on the part of 4-H members, and to provide recognition to the 4-H boy or girl in each county who does the most outstanding job in carrying out forestry projects and otherwise contributing to the development of good forestry practices.

The boy or girl selected to receive a medal must be an active 4-H member at the time the award is made, must complete at least one forestry project, and must turn in a record book.

Selections in each county will be made by the county extension staff under the supervision of the farm agent. Awards are to be presented at 4-H achievement programs or similar events.

Four million farmers and other private landowners own most of the nation's timberland in small plots averaging about 62 acres apiece. Currently 90 percent of our wood supply is harvested on privately owned forest lands.

Plentiful Foods Are Listed

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for March features eggs and apples, Mrs. La Una Brashers, County home agent for the State College Extension Service, said this week.

Apple stocks are high for this time of the year, and March, historically, brings increased egg supplies to market, she said.

Protein foods on the plentiful list include frozen fish fillets, cottage cheese, broilers, fryers, peanut butter, dry beans and heavy turkeys.

Stocks of frozen fish fillets are about 30 percent larger than a year ago, Mrs. Brashers said. Among the varieties in particularly good supply are haddock, cod, flounder, sole and rosetfish.

Lettuce, Irish potatoes, and sauerkraut are the vegetables on the list. There will also be plenty of processed citrus fruits, along with liberal supplies of honey for March shoppers.

Lettuce supplies in March will come from California, Arizona and Florida. Improved yields in Arizona may more than offset the heavy freeze loss of acreage in Texas and lower yield prospects in Florida, Mrs. Brashers points out. The forecast on February 1 indicated a winter crop of 11,553,000 crates, compared with 10,855,000 crates last season.

When properly treated, sap pine posts will last 15 to 20 years.
