Girl Scouts Have Friendship Party

Some one hundred and thirty-five Scouters gathered Friday evening, March 9, at the Woman's Club to celebrate the annual "Ingathering" of all white troops in district two. Mrs. J. H. Arthur, Mrs. M. C. Poston, Mrs. M. H. Biser, Mrs. J. S. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tolleson, Mrs. M. L. Campbell, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. W. R. Craig, Mrs. Paul E. Hendricks, Mrs. Ben Goforth and Mrs. C. T. Carpenter, Jr., welcomed the girls and adults as they arrived, and presented each troop with a number by which they were to make their contributions to the program.

The Girl Scout colors, green and yellow, were used in decorations. On one table was placed an arrangement of yellow jasmintine and jonquils, flanked on either side by bronze candelabras holding green tapers. Mrs. Luther Cansler was in charge of flag arrangement, the World Flag stood on the left, the Christian Flag on the right, with the American Flag in the center. A table was placed in the center of the room, covered in white holding a bowl of yellow jasmintine with a candle on either end. Small hand-made flags of different countries of the world were used on the piano.

The program began with a color ceremony. Mrs. N. F. McGill, member of the Advisory Committee on Music of the executive board of Girl Scouting, was at the piano.

The group stood in horseshoe formation. Mrs. E. T. Plott and Mrs. D. R. Hamrick, members of the program committee, stood to the left of the horseshoe. Mrs. Hamrick called for the color guard to advance. Cynthia Plott served as flag bearer, Martha Baker and Shirley Foster as color guards. When the color guard had advanced to the center of the horseshoe the group gave the salute to the flag. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. H. Brendall. One verse of "America" was sung, after which the color guard was dismissed.

Lyvonne Lindsay and Jean Ricks took their places at each end of the table, and they spoke, each lit a candle in honor of Juliette Low, Founder of Girl Scouting in America. The Juliette Low chairman from each troop took their places around the table and placed their contributions near the lighted candles.

The ceremony was closed with the singing of "Our Chalet Song."

Mrs. D. R. Hamrick extended words of welcome to the troop, church and town committee members, ministers, parents and friends of Scouting.

The second part of the program was made up of songs, skits and folk games. Troops present were Intermediates Mrs. W. F. Houser and Mrs. E. R. Roberts, First Baptist, Miss Dorothy Hayes and Miss Margaret Harmon, Central Methodist, Mrs. Dean Payne, Wesleyan Methodist, Miss Peggy Baker, Lutheran, Mrs. Dean McDaniel, Presbyterian and ARP, Miss Kathleen McCune, Grace Methodist, Brownlee, Mrs. Harry Page, Mrs. Nell Cranford and Mrs. Frank Hoyle, Presbyterian, Mrs. Hillard Black, Central Methodist, Mrs. H. P. Dixon, Central Methodist, and Miss Naomi Edens, Mrs. James White, First Baptist.

Three good-bye circles were made, one of Brownies, Intermediate and adults, and the program was closed by the group singing softly, "Taps."

A contribution totaling $28.05 was made to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Miss Britt Entertains Canasta Club

The home of Mrs. Dan Britt was decorated with assorted spring flowers Tuesday night when her guests included members of the Red Three Canasta club and two other guests, Miss Mildred Mae Goforth and Miss Pat Smyre.

Taffles in seasonal design were drawn and partners found for several progressions of canasta. Mrs. Don Crawford was the most successful player and the consolation reward was received by Miss Goforth.

Nuts and mints were served during the progressions.

Mrs. Dean Fetes Garden Club

The March meeting of the House and Garden club was held at the home of Mrs. Amos Dean on Crescent Hill. The living room was attractively decorated with unusual arrangements of jonquils, hyacinths, daffodils, and narcissi.

Mrs. Virginia Williams, decorating consultant for the Heat-ford House Furniture Store in Charlotte, gave a very entertaining talk on interior decorating trends in furniture, color, and fabrics. One of Mrs. Williams' foremost ideas was that one's home should reflect entirely one's personality, to be completely as livable as the person desires. Trends in furniture, color, and fabric, after all, are only what the majority of the nation buy in the greatest quantity.

Team I had entered a modern arrangement of yellow and white daffodils, with green and yellow greenery as a back ground. Team II had a lovely arrangement of a giant King Alfred jonquils, in a triangular design. The jonquils were arranged in an ebony Chinese modern container.

Mrs. Dean served a delicious salad course after the business had been completed.

Mrs. Mayes Hostess To Garden Club

At a meeting of the Kings Mountain Garden club held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. C. Mayes, members heard a talk on "Church Decoration" by Mrs. W. T. Weir. Symbolism of color and flowers were discussed as well as the do's and don't's for good church arrangement. Mrs. Weir stated that decorations should harmonize with the architecture of the church and be consistent with the scale of the church. She spoke especially of practical application of types and forms of flowers and of appropriateness of the correct colors in flowers. Church arrangements should be dignified, the speaker said, giving examples of flowers for use. Flowers should be an integral part of the service.

Plans were made for a Spring Flower Show to be held at the home of Mrs. Joe Neisler in May. Mrs. M. A. Ware is general chairman.

During the business session the following officers were elected for the incoming year:

President: Mrs. J. L. McGill.
Vice-president: Mrs. Geo. H. Mauney.
Secretary - treasurer: Mrs. W. L. Ramsey.
Numerous specimens of bulbs were brought by members. The arrangements for the afternoon were for St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. M. A. Ware's arrangement was a vision of springtime using white hyacinths and yellow jonquils with the Barney Stone as an accessory. Mrs. Hunter Neisler used a St. Patrick's pipe container with a beautiful arrangement of yellow jonquils tinted green combined with white sweet pea. Mrs. Byron Keeter's arrangement was a large shamrock of split carnations dyed green, lovely in its simplicity.

After the business, the hostess served a delicious ice course carrying out the Easter motif.
