

Y. F. Throneburg's Mother Succumbs

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Mays Chapel Methodist church, near Newton, for Mrs. Nora Frye Throneburg, 76, mother of Y. F. Throneburg, of Kings Mountain.

Mrs. Throneburg, wife of Albert P. Throneburg, of the Mays Chapel section near Newton, died at a Newton hospital Saturday morning around 2:20 o'clock after a year's illness.

Among Kings Mountain citizens attending the rites were Mrs. A. H. Patterson, Mrs. H. R. Parton, Mrs. R. D. Goforth, Mrs. I. B. Goforth, Mrs. Fred Wright, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Butterworth, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Brendall and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Murray.

April Draft Quotas For County Given

Cleveland County's selective service quotas for April are:

On April 9, pre-induction quota of 125.

On April 13, induction quota of 45.

On Monday the Cleveland board sent 145 men to Charlotte for pre-induction physical examinations. On Thursday, the board had not been informed of the number of men found fit for duty. Mrs. Adeline Clark, board clerk, said.

jury trial, the latter requiring a deposit by the defendant of six dollars. Present law allows any defendant to switch his case to the county court merely on request.

In other actions the board:

(1) Deferred action for legal opinion on request of Plato Heaver for relief from tax levy on two trucks which, he says, are used in connection with his business in Grover. Mr. Heaver lives in Kings Mountain. The board agreed to seek an opinion from the state attorney general.

(2) Deferred action on a request by Wright & Rhea for the city to lay lateral sewer lines in Davidson Heights, the building firm to purchase the pipe. Maps of the proposal showed that the requested lines would be on private property, which, the board indicated, would be outside the city's province.

(3) Deferred action on sewer and water line installations on Childress street and Park street extension, pending receipt of shipment of necessary pipe.

(4) Discussed, without formal action, city wage rates. City Administrator M. K. Fuller informed the board that the city's minimum wage is 55 cents per hour, straight time, and that the city was having some difficulty holding employees. The board indicated it would approve wage rate increases, provided more production is obtained from the employees.

(5) Authorized the purchase of two 150-foot lengths of curb-and-gutter forms.

(6) Authorized letters to Rep. B. T. Falls, Jr., and Senator Clyde Nolan stating the city's appreciation for the Cleveland delegation's support of the Powell bill, which will materially increase the city's available money for street work.

The board was jubilant over passage of the Powell bill by the General Assembly. Mr. Fuller estimated that the city's share of the highway monies reverting to the cities would be $27,200, which will be payable annually on October 1. The amount is expected to forward materially the city's street-paving program.

(7) Indicated it would ask for a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission to force Southern Railway Company to approve plans for a traffic signal light at the corner of Battleground avenue and Mountain street.

(8) Noted complaints concerning water and light charges. Mr. Fuller explained that, in instances of complaint, city crewmen are sent immediately to check meter readings for possible error.

Donors Give 109 Pints Of Blood

A great number of the 109 Kings Mountain persons giving their blood via the Red Cross Bloodmobile Wednesday may learn with satisfaction that their gift is already en route Korea to save the lives of American boys wounded in action.

The Red Cross does not release the actual number of blood units used for this purpose, but the emergency call was for "O" type blood. The amount of this type collected here was only two pints short of the need.

Otherwise, the Bloodmobile officials regarded the Kings Mountain collection as most successful, though the quota of 125 pints was short by 16.

Mrs. J. S. Evans, Jr., recruitment chairman, expressed the appreciation of the Red Cross both to the donors and to the many volunteers who aided in the collection here. She also expressed appreciation to Kings Mountain Cotton Oil Company for gifts of needed ice and to Archdale Farms for milk.

More About Politics

Paul Beam, Kings Mountain, also surviving is a brother, John Carpenter of Forest City.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Falls, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Brendall and Mrs. Ellen Petrosino attended the services.

ther he would seek re-election as mayor, but Clyde Jolly, rumored as a candidate for Ward 4 commissioner, said, "The informed political observers are misinformed. I am not a candidate."

Considered almost sure candidates for several positions were C. C. (Shorty) Edens, expected to oppose L. E. Davis for the Ward 2 commissionership, and C. J. Gault, Jr., expected to make the Ward 3 commissioner race a three-cornered affair. A strong report that Dave Saunders would make a trio out of the Ward 3 commissioner race was also in the air.

Only official pronouncement among the new candidates was a statement by Garland Still, candidate for mayor, who said: "If elected mayor, I will do my utmost with the cooperation of the board, with no personal gains in mind, to make Kings Mountain a more progressive city, and a better place in which to live."

The whole community will receive the same benefits in the future as a few individuals have in the past.

"I am in favor of adequate sewage disposal to take care of the many septic tanks inside the city limits. If the administrations of the future are no more progressive than those of the past, the out-moded outhouse will again make its appearance."

"No corruptness nor anything pertaining thereto will be tolerated in any branch of the administration.

"Should any member prove unqualified for their office, I will expose him publicly. The progress of Kings Mountain will not be retarded another two years as in the past."

"Naturally there will be a thorough housecleaning in more than one department, which is long past due."
