DAVIDSON SCHOOL NEWS

During the regular meeting of the Davidson School P. T. A., the following officers were elected for the year: president, Rev. R. L. Garvin; vice-president, Mr. Roy Brown; secretary, Mrs. Felton Martin; assistant secretary, Mrs. Willie M. Adams; treasurer, Mr. R. B. Byers; (Reporter, Miss B. Jackson).

Committeemen appointed are: Executive committee: Composed of officers and Mr. J. A. Gibson.

Program committee: Mrs. Willie M. Adams, Mrs. Gertrude Brown and Mrs. K. W. Winston.
Social committee: Miss M. L. Pope, Mrs. Camenosal Castle, and Mrs. Lucille Hunter.

Membership committee: Mr. Hillard Hunter, Mrs. Odessa Shields and Mr. Felton Martin.

We do hope to see more of the parents at these P. T. A. meetings. We have big plans and it is going to take the cooperation of each parent and friend and not a few to cooperate and help make the Davidson school P. T. A. one of the best.

Brownie Troop No. 32 met Thursday afternoon, Oct. 4 in the recreational building of the Presbyterian church. We had our play period first and then Kathy Hoyle called the meeting to order. After we had said our pledges, put up our stars and sang our songs, we played gossip.

EXECUTIVES CLUB SPEAKER—Sydney R. Montague, former Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman, will be the first speaker this fall for the Cleveland-Rutherford Executives Club at their meeting on October 19.

Former Mounty To Speak To Club

The Land of the Midnight Sun in all its glamorous adventure and with its unlimited opportunity will be presented to the members of the Cleveland-Rutherford Executives Club by Sydney R. Montague, ex-Mounty, adventurer and philosopher, when he will speak at the next regular convocation of that organization which will be held at Gardner-Webb College on the evening of October 19. W. M. Ficklen the local secretary-treasurer announced today.

"Sid" as he is generally known, spent most of his six years as a Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the Arctic Patrol. It was while he was serving as a Mounty that he showed a tendency toward adventure which he had inherited from a long line of swashbuckling ancestors, most of whom were seafarers.

Montague was destined for a commonplace engineering career and was educated with that end in view in Montreal, Canada. But he brushed aside further formal education when a chance came to him to serve with the lads in the scarlet tunics.

His is NOT an illustrated lecture. He has made no moving pictures in order to round out a survey of strange places, for he has never needed such assistance. His talk is packed with facts; his power of description is vivid; and his command of words is fluent.

Montague has been places, seen and done things, and he is a past master in the art of getting all of this across to his audience. He makes it quickly apparent that the life of the pioneer has not passed. He believes, and he makes his hearers believe with him, that the youth of today has new worlds to conquer and vast, still-unsuspected resources to discover, and he declares that the natives of the north can show the way to these things.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Rhodes

Funeral services for Mrs. Sadie Rhodes, 78, former resident of Kings Mountain who died at a hospital in Travelers Rest, S. C., were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Boyce Memorial A. R. P. church. She had been in ill health for several years.

Rev. W. L. Pressly, pastor, and Dr. W. M. Boyce officiated and burial was in Mountain Rest cemetery.

Mrs. Rhodes was the daughter of the late Adeline Hooper Crane and Martin Crane. She was married to James E. Rhodes, who died in 1917. She was a member of Boyce Memorial A. R. Presbyterian church.

She had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest N. White, at Greenville, S. C. Survivors include Mrs. White, and a son, John O. Rhodes of Selma, Ala., five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Royal Heaters

Yes, the Floor is warm and children can play safely when this beautifully designed and attractive Cole Royal Heater is in your home.

COLE HOT BLAST CIRCULATORS are FUEL SAVERS. The AIR-TIGHT CONSTRUCTION and COLE'S ORIGINAL HOT BLAST SYSTEM OF COMBUSTION supplies all the draft to the Heater through the HOT BLAST TUBE over the fire bed, mixing preheated air with the rising gases, causing a scientific, economical method for the burning of the gases.

This AIR-TIGHT Construction makes it possible for our Hot Blast Circulators to hold fire not merely overnight, but will hold fire from 24 to 36 HOURS, depending upon the size of our CIRCULATOR.
