

TO STATE COLLEGE—New research equipment known technically as a spectrographic laboratory has been donated to N. C. State College by the Smith-Douglass Company of Norfolk, Virginia. The laboratory will be used in the study of hunger symptoms in crops, human and animal health, and for a wide range of other research activities. Built at a cost of $12,500, it is said to compare favorably with any of its kind in the United States. Shown above are principal figures in the dedicatory exercises for the laboratory. Left to right: James H. Culpepper of Norfolk, a vice-president of Smith-Douglass; Dr. W. L. Lott, laboratory director; Dr. Walter J. Patterson, head of the college's Department of Agricultural and Biological Chemistry; and Dr. James H. Hilton, dean of the School of Agriculture.

and SOCIAL SECURITY

By Leola M. Byerly, Field Representative of the Social Security Administration in Kings Mountain on each first and third Wednesdays at 10 a. m. at City Hall.

Did you know that as a World War II veteran you and your family have certain benefit rights under Federal old-age and survivors insurance? Thousands of men and women who served in the armed forces during the last war, including officers and men still on duty, are not aware of this protection offered by the 1950 amendments to the Social Security Act.

Primarily the Veterans' Amendment was intended to prevent World War II military service from depriving persons who generally work in jobs covered by the law of the benefits to which they would have been entitled.

In addition — and this is important — you the amendment gave temporary protection to veterans who have never worked under social security, either before or after their World War II service. These veterans include among others the doctors, dentists, lawyers, farmer, and the career military men. To this group, valuable "term" insurance protection was extended, the period and amount of which is based on the length of active service in World War II. It was thought that by the time this temporary protection will end, the veteran will have reestablished his eligibility. If he normally works under the Social Security Act.

The Veterans' Amendment applies to those persons who served on active duty in the armed forces for at least 90 days during the period September 16, 1940, to July 24, 1947, inclusive, and who were not dishonorably discharged.

Eligibility is not affected by any pension or compensation paid to the veteran or his survivors by the Veterans Administration.

However — and this is the big "if" — if any other Federal benefit based in whole or in part on the World War II service is payable, the period of military service cannot be used under old-age and survivors insurance. This includes such Federal retirement benefits as civil service, Army and Navy retirement benefits, and those paid by the Railroad Retirement Board. Most Federal retirement plans provide for the use of World War II military service. The amendment was not intended to duplicate credits for military service already used for benefits paid under the system in which the veteran is regularly associated.

On Wednesday night, October 24, the first regular meeting after its organization two weeks before, of what is called "Family Night" in the David Baptist church was held on family night. The Women's Missionary Society with all of its graded organizations, and the brotherhood for the men, come together on each Wednesday night after the first and third Sundays in the month, twice monthly, for a general opening, then each unit goes to special quarters where its individual meetings are held according to its own program of activity. At the last meeting there were fifty-five present and each organization is making plans to carry on a membership drive on the nights mentioned. Family night takes the place of the regular prayer meeting.

For his prayer meeting messages on Wednesday evenings, the Rev. W. L. McSwain is taking for each service a book of the Bible, giving the outline of its contents and giving an explanation of its principal teachings. This has created a great deal of interest and he is now ready to take up the book of Job.
