ANSWERS

TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION: Does warfarin kill mice as well as rats?

ANSWER: Yes. Warfarin reduces the normal clotting ability of the blood and causes the rodents to die by internal bleeding. It is equally effective on rats and mice, but takes a little longer baiting period to control mice. The rodents are not killed immediately. Warfarin must be eaten by a rat or mouse over a period of days, usually five to 14.

No difficulty whatever is encountered in getting rodents to eat warfarin. No pre-baiting is necessary, and no bait shyness develops. For best results, shallow containers should be used. They should be placed in ways behind boards leaning against the wall, or near holes and cracks where rats are known to go in and out.

QUESTION: How many soil samples were analyzed in North Carolina last year?

ANSWER: About 80,000 soil samples were analyzed in 1950 by the Soil Testing Laboratory of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. In each case farmers were given recommendation on the amount and kind of fertilizer and lime to use for specific crops. Incidentally, the fall months are a good time to have your soil tested, since the Laboratory isn't as rushed then as in the spring.

Band Will Perform In Charlotte Parade

CHARLOTTE—Among the 25 bands making up the beautiful Carolinas' Carrousel Parade in Charlotte on November 15, at 6:30 p. m., will be the Central High School band of Kings Mountain. The parade headed by Santa Clause, Miss North Carolina, Miss South Carolina, America's Mother of the Year, and other celebrities, will have 125 units. Advance plans call for it to be the largest and most beautiful ever held in the Carolinas. Last year over a half million attended the parade. J. C. Hedden is director of the Kings Mountain band of 60 members. The band is planning special marches and maneuvers for the parade.

Smaller supplies of feed grains are in prospect for the year ahead. However, hay supplies are expected to be large.

The Southern pine beetle, a real threat to pine timber in eastern North Carolina, has been temporarily stopped in its tracks. Although the beetle has caused extensive damage to at least 1,000 acres of pine timber in 10 counties, recent rains along the coast and control measures by many landowners have checked the insect's activities.

However, John E. Ford, assistant extension forester at State College, warns that the pine beetle, like other insect pests, never knows when it is licked and has not yet given up the fight.

It's very possible, he says that if the beetles now found in the trees are not destroyed through the winter, enough beetles may be present next spring to start a sizeable epidemic — especially if the weather is dry next spring.

Ford says the beetles probably will remain in the trees where they are until spring. This period of inactivity is an excellent time for any landowner who has patches of recently killed pines to destroy the brood trees with the beetles in them.

Since the pest works between the wood and the bark and just inside the bark, destruction of the bark will kill the insect. This can be accomplished, says Ford, by peeling the bark off and burning it.

If infested trees are large enough for sawtimber, they can be worked up into lumber, and the slabs should then be burned. In the woods all "laps" and tops of trees over two inches in diameter should also be piled and burned.

Counties affected by the beetle include Carteret, Craven, Pamlico, Beaufort, Hyde, Washington, Bertie, Martin, Pitt, and Nash.

TELEPHONE SERVICE IS GROWING, TOO

... and the price is up far less than most things you buy!

"GOODNESS, how he's grown!" And you could say the same about telephone service during the short time since his babyhood.

ACTUALLY, in just five years the number of local telephones North Carolinians can call has more than doubled. And this year's increase in North Carolina telephones is expected to reach about 23,000.

BEST OF ALL, this bigger, better "package" of service has gone up in price less than half as much as prices in general... and less than our cost of providing the service.

ALWAYS one of your biggest bargains, telephone service is today an even better buy than it was ten years ago, and a smaller part of your family budget.
