Ace Of Clubs Met With Mrs. H. E. Lynch

Mrs. H. E. Lynch was a delightful hostess on Thursday afternoon when her guests were members of the Ace Of Clubs and additional friends.

The tables were arranged in the living room where special attention was directed to bouquets of roses, Siberian iris and sweet peas.

Those making up the group of players were Mrs. J. E. Herndon, Mrs. Hunter Neisler, Mrs. Joe Neisler, Mrs. L. E. Abbott, Mrs. M. A. Ware, Mrs. W. K. Mauney, Jr., Mrs. George Houser and Mrs. W. R. Craig.

When they added and compared scores, Mrs. L. E. Abbott was found to be winner of high score and Mrs. J. E. Herndon runner up for second high.

At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Lynch served a complete salad plate.

Mrs. G. E. Bridges Fetes House And Garden Club

Mrs. Glee E. Bridges was gracious hostess to the House and Garden Club for the last regular meeting of the current year when she entertained the group at the Country Club on Wednesday afternoon.

Striking arrangements of gladiolus were used in both lounges. On the table in the entrance hall, a blue antique crystal compote held a lovely arrangement of pink Radlance roses and fern. In the lounge another arrangement in a low milk glass bowl featured New Dawn and dark red roses.

Mrs. Aubrey Mauney was in charge of the program for the afternoon, presenting a timely and interesting talk on the subject "Gardening Without Hard Work."

Annual reports were given by committee chairmen.

Mrs. Arnold Kiser, retiring president, commended the club for the year's work and expressed pleasure and appreciation for the cooperation shown during the year.

Specimens for the month were iris and roses.

Mrs. Bridges was assisted in serving a dessert course with iced tea.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesies Given Miss Gillespie

One of the lovely pre-nuptial courtesies extended Miss Emelyn Gillespie was the dessert bridge party given Thursday night by Mrs. Daniel Gill of Miami at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Warlick.

Striking arrangements of red roses and poppies were decoratively placed in the party rooms where four tables were arranged for the affair. While refreshments were served each table was centered with a dainty vase of pansies. Strawberry shortcake and coffee was served. During the progressions, cakes and potato chips were passed.

Several progressions of contract bridge was played with Mrs. Eugene Timms winning high score and Mrs. Henry Neisler low score. Each receiving attractive gifts. The hostess remembered the honoree with two soup bowls in her china.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Edward Hobson of Salisbury and Mrs. Austin Lackey of Fallston.

Two Are Hostesses To Friendship Class

The Friendship Class of Grace Methodist Church held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. J. C. Nance with Mrs. James Martin as Co-hostess.

The meeting was opened with the ladies singing in unison, "Dwelling In Beulah Land", followed by prayer led by Mrs. Carl Ganit. Mrs. Plato Heavener gave a talk on, "Complaining and Worry" "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" was sung by the group, after which a short business session was held. The meeting was adjourned by singing, "Bless be the Tie that Binds."

Later in the evening, the hostesses served refreshments consisting of pear salad, sandwiches pickles, cakes and cokes.

Barn Dance Wednesday Gala Affair At Club

The Barn Dance given Wednesday afternoon at the Country Club for children from the fourth through the eighth grades was attended by 36 children.

Children assembled at 5:30 and enjoyed square dancing, the figures being called by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Poston, later a hamburger supper with all the trimmings enjoyed by youngsters was served.

The little girls in their colorful full skirts and frilly blouses, the boys with their blue jeans and plaid shirts made a colorful group as they wove in and out in the dancing figures.

Bingo was played and a merry time had by all. Mrs. Page was club hostess for the gay affair.

Miss Faylene Falls Named Class Officer

Gaffney, S. C.—In a recent election, the rising Sophomore Class at Limestone College named the following officers: Miss Clara Weeks, president; Miss Rosemary Salsbury, vice-president; Miss Sylvia Lanford, secretary; Miss Faylene Falls, treasurer; Miss Sarah Rogers, athletic association representative; Miss Marianne Holland and Miss Mary Rodgers, Christian association representatives; Miss Barbara Smith and Miss Rosemary Ford, legislative council representatives; Miss Ellen Bindewald, judicial council representative; Miss Jane Cousart, Miss Lois Dove, and Miss Patse Terrill, as marshalls.

Miss Virginia Plonk Feted In Charlotte

Miss Virginia Plonk, summer bride-elect, was joint honoree at a bridge party in Charlotte last Thursday evening. The party was a courtesy of Miss Carolyn Guthrie.

Also honored was Miss Hattie Radcliffe, of Charlotte, also a summer bride-elect.

Six tables were arranged for play in the Guthrie home, with the rooms beautifully decorated with rich, colorful roses. The places of the bride-elect were marked lovely corsages of red roses.

Prizes were given Miss Margaret Thompson for high score, and Miss Addie Black, for second high.

In addition to the corsages, the hostess presented Miss Plonk and Miss Radcliffe with lovely linen bridges covers.

Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Austin returned this week from a week's trip to Florida.

Book Mending

Torn pages of books may be held together with transparent library mending tape or special tissue paper and paste, both of which are sold at book stores. Use a flat hard surface when mending.

Spots or soil on cloth bindings may be removed with an art gum eraser. Occasional applications of household wax—paste or cream—to leather bindings offer good protection.

Year Around Wardrobe Storage "Year around wardrobe storage planning should be considered," says Mary Em Lee, extension specialist in clothing, State College, Raleigh.

State College Research Upsets Old Rule About "Neps" In Yarn

NEW YORK, May 15—Some 150-year-old, rule of thumb concepts of textile processing have been upset by results of research on the causes and cures of neps, those little uneven spots frequently seen in cotton fabrics.

Textile World, McGraw-Hill publication, reports.

Not only can the number of neps now be cut in half scientifically, but cotton production can be increased using present machines, according to the magazine. The three-year study was made at the School of Textiles, North Carolina State College.

Heretofore, little was known about neps except that they were inevitable and any attempts to reduce them were based on rule of thumb rather than knowledge. Neps have been the plague of the cotton industry for years. They appear as tiny knots in the yarn and besides being unsightly in smooth finished cloth, will not take dyes as readily. So in a navy blouse, they appear as lighter spots.

Most spectacular result of the study, however, is that by increasing speeds in the carding machines, where fibers are cleaned and disentangled, not only can better quality yarn be made with fewer neps and less waste, but production can be increased, the magazine says.

Speeds and setting on cards, which are precision machines with moving parts that can be

KING TOBACCO LEADING CASH CROP!

North Carolina, with an area of 31,450,880 acres, has 59 per cent devoted to farm land. The largest single source of farm cash income comes from tobacco. In 1951 there were over 700,000 acres of blue-cured tobacco harvested and more than 13,000 acres of burley produced. The quality of these tobaccos has become world famous and they have contributed greatly in making North Carolina a better place in which to work, play and live.

Another fine example of North Carolina progress is the steadily-improving standards of operation by malt beverage retailers in "legal control" counties. The United States Brewers Foundation policy of cooperating with such retailers, in maintaining orderly law-abiding conditions for beer and ale sales, provides an important contribution to the pleasant living that is North Carolina.
