The Reverend J. J. Thornburg, minister of the ceremony church, heard the couple pledge vows of the impressive double ring ritual before a background altar banked with white gladioli and Oregon fern.

Robert Hicks, of Shelby, was pianist for the program of wedding music prior to and during the exchange of vows, and Mrs. Charles Starnes, of Shelby, was vocal soloist.

"I Love You Truly" by Bond was sung during the ceremony and played as vows were pledged.

The couple entered the church and approached the marriage altar together.

The bride had chosen for her wedding costume a two-piece suit of winter pink-wool with accessories in black and white and a purple-throated white orchid corsage pinned to her suit shoulder. There was no reception. After the ceremony, the couple greeted their guests in the church vestibule.
