STORING FOOD IMPORTANT
— Milk: keep fresh milk tightly covered and under refrigeration. Dry and evaporated milk in cans should be kept in a cool, dry place. After it is opened dry milk should be kept in a tightly-covered container in the refrigerator.
— Eggs: keep in a covered container under refrigeration. Never wash eggs until just before using. If only the yolk of the egg is used, keep the remaining white in a tightly-covered container. If only the white is used, put the yolk in a container and cover with water to keep it from drying.
— Cheese: keep hard cheese in a tight container or wrapped in waxed paper in the refrigerator.

Slice as needed. Cottage cheese and cream absorb flavors readily, and should be kept tightly covered under refrigeration.
Fruits and Vegetables: store greens and salad vegetables (unwashed) and refrigerator in covered pans or waterproof bags. Keep ripe fruits like peaches, plums and berries refrigerated and unwashed until ready to use. Foods like peaches, pears, and tomatoes may be ripened at room temperature and then stored in the refrigerator. Keep potatoes and cabbage in a dark, cool place, and well ventilated. Store dried fruits in sealed containers in a cool place, though not necessarily under refrigeration.

This is The American Way

In a world torn by strife and selfishness, it enhances my faith in humankind to see our people help each other cheerfully and enthusiastically through the American Red Cross. You who join the Red Cross ignore all barriers and differences, but you never ignore a plea for help. You give your help freely, because you want to. That is the American way.

I am proud to be a member of the Red Cross because it personifies the American generosity of spirit, the spontaneous outpouring of help to others. America needs the Red Cross in so many ways—for disaster relief, for its blood program, for service to the men and women in our armed forces. I hope that each of you will join our Red Cross.
