Registration Books To Open Saturday Osborne Lists May 26 Primary Vote Officials

Registration books for the May 26 Democratic primary will open Saturday for the first time.

The books will be open for three consecutive Saturdays, through May 12, and May 19 will be challenge day.

Calling attention to the opening of the registration books in all precincts of the county, J. W. Osborne, county elections board chairman, announced the names of the several precinct officials. All are registered Democrats. Mr. Osborne noted that no Republican candidates had filed in the county and that no recommendations for Republican judges had been filed with the elections board. But, he added, a Republican judge would be named for each precinct in sufficient time for November general election.

Kings Mountain area precincts and officials are:

East Kings Mountain — Mrs. Nell Cranford, registrar, Ted Gamble and Mrs. Craig Falls, judges, and Craig Falls, alternate.

West Kings Mountain — Mrs. J. H. Arthur, registrar, Mrs. F. A. McDaniel, Jr., and I. B. Goforth, Jr., judges, Mrs. Charles Dixon, alternate judge.

Bethware — Mrs. H. A. Goforth, registrar, Mrs. Myers Ham-bright and Leonard Gamble, judges, and J. Clyde Randall, alternate judge.

Grover — J. B. Ellis, registrar, Miss Ethel Martin and Mrs. Inez B. Ellis, judges, and Mrs. Bill McCarter, alternate judge.

Waco — G. M. Murray, registrar, Raven Craft and J. R. Hord, judges, and W. S. Brown, alternate judge.

The elections board has not called a new registration, meaning that Democrats who voted in the county primary two years ago, in the 1954 general election, or in the special bond election of 1954 are eligible to vote in the Democratic primary. Persons who have never registered, either due to age or residence requirements, should see the registrar at their particular precincts.

Eastern Star, of which Miss Helen Logan is Worthy Matron, and special music will be presented by Dr. Blake McWhirter and Miss Melba Tindall, vocalists, accompanied by Mrs. Fleete McCurdy.

Announcement of the ladies' night banquet plans was made by Arnold W. Kincaid, who said that the banquet would also feature "the heart-warming practice of Fairview Lodge in honoring the widows of former Masons." D. E. Tate will be in charge of this ceremony.

Some 250 Masons their wives and guests are expected to attend the event.

CANDIDATE — J. W. (J. U.) Wilson, city trucker, is one of seven candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for Number 4 Township constable, subject to the May 26 primary.

Does Chill Slow Political Fire?

Why is political activity outwardly quiet?
Is it the cool weather, holding back the political sap?

With registration books opening for the first time Saturday and with voting day in the Democratic primary only a month away, majority of citizens guess that the activity of both candidates and their supporters will increase.

But that has been the prediction for several weeks with little outward result.

The "big" race in this area, Ralph Gardner, Basil Whitener and Hugh Wells, jousting for the Democratic nomination to succeed Woodrow W. Jones as 11th district Congressman, have all been working hard. They have traveled through the district several times, made speech after speech to civic clubs, shaken thousands of hands, but the results thus far have been lackluster. Thus far in Kings Mountain—and it is reported in other spots of the district—few supporters are shouting any candidate's praises in the true spring political warfare tradition.

In Number 4 Township, six challengers want to take the Democratic constable nomination away from C. A. (Gus) Huffstetler, who has served one full two-year term and part of another. They are Elmer Ross, William (Bill) Huffstickler, Ben Sessoms, J. W. Wilson, Robert Ruff, and Haskel Bumgardner.

County-wide races number only five, four of them two-man affairs, the other a sweepstakes joust.

Wilbur W. (Ebb) Wright, one time Kings Mountain citizen, is challenging Registrar of Deeds Dan Moore, George Leukhardt is challenging Zeb V. Cline for the District 1 county commissionership. J. D. Harmon, Shelby feed salesman who lives near Buffalo Creek, is challenging Kings Mountain poultryman Hazel B.

East Principal Mrs. Thomson Will Retire

Mrs. J. H. Thomson will retire as principal of East School at the end of the current school year.

Mrs. Thomson announced her letter to the City School Board last week. The board, in a special meeting Monday night, accepted her resignation, but did not name a successor for the principalship.

The special meeting had been called to re-elect teachers for the coming year. All other teachers except Miss June Rogers, teacher of Bible were re-elected. The board expressed regret that it could not re-elect Miss Rogers due to the fact that the Bible Committee had not yet brought a recommendation before the board.

The election of a Bible teacher hinges on the recommendation of this committee which pays the costs of Bible teaching in the Schools, and the board can not take action until a recommendation is received. Miss Rogers was praised highly by the board for her work during the past year. Chairman A. W. Kincaid made it clear that the hold-up of the re-election was not a popular choice with the board members.

Mrs. Louise Albrecht was re-elected on the condition that she re-new her certificate which has expired.

Mrs. Rosalie P. Suber was elected to a teaching position in West School for next school year. Mrs. Suber had left her West School position during the current year, but reapplied. Mrs. R. S. Lennon replaced Mrs. Suber for the interim period.

The board passed motions that a letter be written to Mrs. Lennon thanking her for her services during Mrs. Suber's absence, and to draw up a resolution thanking Mrs. Thomson for her many years of faithful service to the community schools. Dr. P. G. Fadgett said, "Mrs. Thomson has definitely left her mark on this community, and many persons here have felt the influence of her years as a teacher."

Weather Just Lovely, Says Snow Refugee

While the unseasonably late chills have caused much shivering, higher than-normal fuel bills, and furnished a leading topic of conversation, one Kings Mountain citizen thinks the weather is quite lovely.

It's all a matter of comparison.

Paul Lancaster, superintendent of Kings Mountain Mica Company was in New York and New England states last week on a business trip. In New Hampshire last Friday, the Kings Mountain man shivered through a steady snow. The new snow already had ten inches of snow to build on.

"I'm glad I live in the South," Mr. Lancaster commented this week. "It's really pretty warm after all."

Car Safety Check Is Scheduled

A city-wide motor vehicle safety check will be conducted here from May 21-26. It will be a voluntary program.

John C. Smathers, secretary-treasurer of Park Yarn Mills, is serving as chairman of the voluntary safety effort and announced this week committee chairman to handle details of the campaign.

They include: W. G. Grantham check-lane committee; Jonas Bridges, publicity; Martin Harmon, special events; Hugh A. Logan, display; Glee A. Bridges, employer-employee committee; B. F. Maner, finance; Louis G. Sabettie, program materials; and Mrs. George Houser, historian and recorder.

In addition to Mr. Smathers, the steering committee includes Chief Logan, Mr. Sabettie and Mayor Bridges.

Plans for the campaign to assure good condition of the city's motor vehicle population will be announced in the near future.

Specifically, the committee expects to operate a safety check-lane in which expert mechanics (serving without pay) will check brakes, lights, steering and other auto parts to assure their safe operation.

It will be similar to the safety-check conducted last year, which, Mr. Smathers said, attained considerable popularity among the city's motorists.

Under action by the congregation, Mr. Alexander's replacement will be employed to serve only the Oak Grove church.

Third Shift Work Halted By Neisler

Orders Short, Firm To Suspend Swing Shift

Approximately 75-90 employees of Neisler Mills Division Massachusetts Mohair Plush Company will receive layoff notices next week.

W. M. Ford, Neisler division general manager, confirmed the lay-offs Wednesday.

He reported that third shift workers at both Margrace and Pauline Mill will have to be "temporarily laidoff." Mr. Ford added that some of these workers would be absorbed by first and second shifts at the two plants, but still placed the number of effected employees at 75-90.

"We didn't feel that these workers were getting enough work to be fair to them, and decided that they should be allowed to draw unemployment compensation," Mr. Ford said.

When asked about the status of the remaining workers, Mr. Ford said that both Kings Mountain plants will run two shifts.

"Naturally we hope we will be able to put the third shift back into production soon. We had hoped that the market situation would have improved six or eight weeks ago, and we still have hopes that the situation will improve shortly," he added.

Schools Want Thompson Lot

Kings Mountain City School Board voted Monday night to attempt to purchase a lot and house adjoining Central School at 107 East Ridge street for $10,000.

The property, which is owned by W. B. Thompson of Concord, formerly of Kings Mountain, was reported to be for sale, and board members expressed interest in obtaining the lot, which measures 127.5 feet by 138 feet.

A purchase price of $10,000 was agreed upon by the board after a long discussion. During the discussion, it was brought out that the school needs all additional property adjacent to the Central plant that it can obtain.

An attempt to purchase the property some five or six years ago did not materialize because at that time the board did not have money available for purchasing additional land. The price offered by the board at that time was $10,100.

Board Member Fred Plonk extended the board's offer to Mr. Thompson following Monday's meeting. Mr. Thompson told Mr. Plonk that he would come to Kings Mountain to discuss the matter with the board.

No specific project is in mind for this tract if obtained, but the board felt it could be used for any number of needed additions to the Central plant.

The house is presently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Gilbert and family.

Phifer Worked 2,196 Consecutive Days

Rufus Phifer, the city post-office's contract mail messenger, was back on the job Monday, after a hospital siege broke a long record of service without a single day's absence.

Mr. Phifer took over the duties of mail messenger—which includes dispatch and receipt of mail handled by the railroads, plus delivery of special delivery mail—on April 16, 1950.

It was April 19, 1956, when Mr. Phifer was hospitalized with a kidney ailment, after 2,196 consecutive days of service. The mail messenger job is a seven-day-per-week duty schedule.

During the three-plus day interim, Acting Postmaster Ted Weir and other postal employees handled the duties of the ill messenger.
