Said Successful
For Rev. Gregory

Rev. John Gregory, former pastor of Park Grace Nazarene church, underwent heart surgery early Tuesday morning at Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem to close a hole in his heart which had been there since birth. The hole healed in childhood but reopened some months ago.

Fresh blood was necessary for the operation. Stored blood can not be used in heart surgery.

The family of Rev. Gregory wish to express their thanks to the donors who provided the essential blood, the Life Saving Crew for the transportation, the Red Cross for its assistance, and to Foote Mineral Company for permitting donors for the plant to leave work without loss of pay.

Board Names
Phillip Dye
Policeman

The board took no action on request of Ken Jenkins, of the Cleveland County Life-Saving crew, for use of an old city radio.

The board also agreed to leave "as is" present policy of trash-hauling. Currently, the city will haul from residential premises brush, shrub and tree-trimmings on small quantity. In a meeting last Thursday night, the city approved for paving, when and if funds are available, the following streets:

- Ellis street, from Cansler to Watterson;
Childers street, from Tracy to Watterson;
Parker street, from Tracy to Watterson;

Lions To Hear
Manly I. Clark

Manly I. Clark, governor of Lions district 31-C, will address members of the Kings Mountain club Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the Woman's club.

Mr. Clark is owner of a Lawn-dale drug store.

Lion Clark is one of the 315 District Governors who supervise the activities of the 13,834 Lions clubs. Lions International was founded in 1917 at Dallas, Texas, and during the past 41 years has become the largest, most active, and fastest growing service club organization in the world. There were on June 30, 1958, Lions clubs in 91 countries and geographical locations of the world with a membership of over 579,383. During the fiscal year of 1957-58, 931 new Lions clubs were organized. The Lions club special mission is the promotion of greater good and greater citizenship, the development of civic, educational, social and moral welfare of the community and nation, and to help create and foster "a spirit of generous consideration among peoples of the world."

"This one?" queried I. Up jumped the rat. "This one!" "Where do you want it put?" "OUT! Just out!"

A gentle tap with the sharp edge of the scissors brought a squeal from the rat and much animated movement, to wit, high jumping which was only intended for placing the rat on the floor.

I remembered someone once said a rat will fight—and bite—when hurt. The rat was definitely hurt. The rat jumped, and with the aforementioned thought in mind, so did I.

Peals of laughter emerged from the damsel in distress, to which I replied "from now on, kill your own mice!"

A more decisive blow laid the mouse low and with only minor kicks I was able to remove him to the yard.

"Thanks," said the secretary. "You're welcome," I replied and went on my way to wash away the blood from the murder weapon.

Chief Ware said he had received numerous complaints concerning "crackerjacks" and had instructed his men to crackdown on violators.

A joker, he said, doused the aisles of the Joy Theatre last weekend, and then sat back to enjoy the fun as later-arriving theatre patrons stepped on the noise-makers and caused them to pop.

In Shelby, seven youths were tapped in the shoulder by city policemen for shooting the devices. Four were juveniles, under 16, and got a citation to juvenile court. The other three were "booked" in regular court for trial on charge of violation of the state law.

Voters Oppose
Amendment,
Favor Jordan

Majority of Kings Mountain area citizens ignored the polling booths Tuesday in the biennial general election, but those who did vote returned majorities which coincided in result with those of the county and state.

U. S. Senator B. Everett Jordan was heavily favored over his Republican opponent Richard Clarke, and Kings Mountain citizens also returned a majority against a proposed constitutional amendment which would have given justices of the peace additional authority in handling claim and delivery matters.

These were the only two contests or questions at issue.

In Kings Mountain, only 444 persons were logged on the poll-books as having cast ballots, 259 voting at West Kings Mountain and 185 at East Kings Mountain.

Majority of the voters took the straight-party Democratic route, marking an "x" at the big circle at the top of the ballot.

But there were some exceptions as, obviously, a few Republican voters minus candidates of their own party — cast votes for a particularly favored Democratic candidate. For example, J. Ollie Harris, re-elected county coroner, led the West Kings Mountain balloting with 239 votes, while Sheriff Haywood Allen was accorded 235. Mrs. J. H. Arthur, registrar, said there were 220 ballots marked straight Democratic.

Vote totals at the four Number 4 Township voting precincts were:

West Kings Mountain — Jordan 212, Clarke 27. Against J. p. amendment 132, for 102.

East Kings Mountain — Jordan 153, Clarke 26. Against J. p. amendment 106, for 62.

Bethware — Jordan 30, Clarke 16. Against J. p. amendment 27, for 10.

Grover — Jordan 109, Clarke 10. Against J. p. amendment 82, for 34.

The election results will mean only one change in identity of County office-holders, and it was dictated by results of the Democratic primary run-off. J. Broadus Ellis was elected to the county commission and will succeed Carl P. Finger, whom Ellis had (Continued on Page Eight)

Distressed Damsel
Laughs At Rescuer

BY DAVID BAITY
Ambidexterity is a key need in service businesses and its need is felt especially at Herald Publishing House. Here we get, and welcome, requests for all types of services, all of which we try to fulfill.

The most unusual yet came Wednesday afternoon with a phone call from Mrs. Phyllis Carpenter, secretary of First Baptist Church, requesting a "big favor."

She had trapped a rat in a waste basket and wished its disposal. I agreed.

Armed with a pair of scissors, I made for her office. The weapon came in handy.

"It's in the waste basket," says she. "This one?" queried I. Up jumped the rat. "This one!" "Where do you want it put?" "OUT! Just out!"

A gentle tap with the sharp edge of the scissors brought a squeal from the rat and much animated movement, to wit, high jumping which was only intended for placing the rat on the floor.

I remembered someone once said a rat will fight—and bite—when hurt. The rat was definitely hurt. The rat jumped, and with the aforementioned thought in mind, so did I.

Peals of laughter emerged from the damsel in distress, to which I replied "from now on, kill your own mice!"

A more decisive blow laid the mouse low and with only minor kicks I was able to remove him to the yard.

"Thanks," said the secretary. "You're welcome," I replied and went on my way to wash away the blood from the murder weapon.

Popping "Crackerjacks" Must Go,
Chief Ware Warns Dealers, Kids

Crackerjack—at least the non-edible popping kind — must go. Chief of Police Martin Ware warned both dealers and customers this week.

The little pyrotechnic pellets, much in evidence during the Halloween weekend, look like small candy balls, but, in fact, are juvenile cousins of the "torpedo," a sand-covered ball-type of noise-maker and once a favorite at fire-cracker season. The "torpedo" made a loud bang and was also dangerous, as the sand pellets could wound.

The little torpedoes are called "crackerjacks" and, like fire-crackers, their sale and use is a violation of North Carolina law.
