Barnes, Grigg Told Contingency Clause Unbinding After Merger

By DAVID BAITY

Assistant Attorney General Claude Love has advised school officials to hold a bond election for a consolidated high school plant first and to vote on a merger proposal subsequently.

The city board of education was given this information by Supt. B. N. Barnes at Monday night's meeting. Mr. Barnes and County Schools Supt. J. Horace Grigg had conferred with the state officials in Raleigh on October 13.

Plans to date called for a consolidation or merger vote, to be contingent on a subsequently successful bond election for a township high school.

Mr. Love, Barnes reported, pointed out that this method would be legally questionable. "If the consolidation vote should go through, but the bond vote not be passed, we would nevertheless be consolidated — minus funds for the new school."

"Love pointed out that we could proceed as planned with the present proposal, but since the object of all parties concerned in consolidation is to provide a modern, large high school, it would be better to hold the bond vote first and then consolidate, Mr. Barnes said.
