The city board of commissioners approved Thursday public hearing for June 28th on request by Realtor Wilson Crawford that 33 acres of the old R. S. Plonk estate be annexed into the city

Extensive engineering work and land planning to develop a redricted area and housing development are underway on the properties which are located west of the present city limits and north of U. S. 74. Mr. Crawford said his line begins near the Country Club road and extends west 1,822 feet to a rural road, then follows the rural road over 300 feet south to the Bun Goforth property on U. S. 74 and falls behind the property owners on the highway and parallel to the highway back to the present city
