Scripture Reading, Matthew 1:1-10

"Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born king of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east and are come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him, and when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophets. And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda; art not the least among the prince of Juda, for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel. Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the Star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when you have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also. When they had heard the king, they departed; and lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with great joy."

Our hearts should be touched with the approaching of the greatest of all holidays. For these two thousand years great joy has come to countless hundreds of peoples.

The thrill doesn't lessen with the passing years, but rather becomes more thrilling and joyous.

If it would be possible for us, of this advanced and rushing age to call a halt to the fast pace which we have grown into, and consider the seriousness of the occasion; though it has been many years since the occasion of this memorable birth we should not allow time to take away the sanctity and glory of the date observed. There was great joy at his birth; there has been great joy to those who have known Him during the years from the great and miraculous occasion of the Judean hills; we should make this Christmas of nineteen hundred and sixty-one one of which this Christ would smile upon.

If circumstances and conditions have detracted from a picture of happiness and joy, I am sure that we could attribute it to the way you and I have conducted ourselves. Certainly we would say it is because of us and our choosing.

We are the people of a generation and age of great opportunities and privileges. Are we going to let them slip from us? or are we going to be wise and take full advantage of the wonderful blessings which have come to us?

I would like very much to offer some advice to all who will let me.

As Mayor of this wonderful little city, located in the most beautiful setting one could wish for, and inhabited with the most wonderful people that could be found, surrounded by the natural resources of life and the wonderful blessings of God to be enjoyed at all times, I urge that we celebrate the birthday of our Lord with reverence and thanksgiving to Him, for His wonderful blessings and protection to us all.

Our prayers are not only for this city but for our neighbors both far and near.

In this year of turmoil and strife, and with war clouds hanging over us, we should with reverence turn to one who is anxious to give aid and assistance to all, and in all circumstances.

I thoroughly recommend to you the One whose birthday we shall observe on December twenty-five, the Christ of Bethlehem, not as the babe in the manger, but, as Lord and Master, One who is loving - kind - compassionate - and considerate to us all.

From me to you, where ere you be.
A prayer or a wish that joy you see.
To every rank or walk on earth,
To every creed or race by birth.
So was our Lord, and so are we.
Meek and lowly as can be
Our heart goes out for one and all,
For blessings to both great and small.
We wish for you a very merry Christmas,
and a happy new year.
