Musical Event In Charlotte

For the first time in this area, the Shakespearean play "A Midsummer Night's Dream," complete with music by Felix Mendelssohn, will be given in Ovens Auditorium, in Charlotte. The performance is scheduled for Monday evening, February 12, at 8:15 p. m.

Three of the Piedmont area's most distinguished groups are joining forces to present this rare production, including the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra, Henry Janiec, conductor; the Mint Museum Drama Guild, Dorothy Masterson, director, and the Queens College Concert Choir, Albert May, director. Featured soloists are Dorothy Harwell and Joy Veen Brown.

This unique musico-dramatic event should be of particular interest to the young English and music students in the area.

Tickets are available at the Symphony's office, 404 1/2 South Tryon St., in Charlotte.

FEATURED IN "LOOK" — The recreation room in the Progressive Care Center is popular among patients. Here Dr. Graham Harden plays checkers with another patient.

Care Center Is Featured By "Look"

WINSTON-SALEM — Baptist Hospital's Progressive Care Center, which has received wide-spread notice in hospital magazines and in newspapers, is the subject of a three-page picture story in the February 13 issue of Look Magazine, which went on sale Tuesday (Jan. 30).

Look Writer Jack Star and Photographer James H. Karales spent two days at the Center gathering material for the story. They used a patient, Dr. Graham Harden of Burlington, who was staying at the center for a few days while undergoing tests and diagnosis, to illustrate the daily activities of the average patient. Dr. Harden is a retired physician. His wife was a surgical patient in the hospital at the same time.

Look's article is entitled "Hospital Hotel," and points out that although about a fifth of all hospital patients do not require the elaborate and expensive care provided for bed patients, they

The Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to questions from former servicemen and their families:

Q — Is an insurance dividend now being paid by the VA to holders of Korea GI policies designated "RS"?

A — Yes, provided that the policies with letters "RS" preceding the policy number are exchanged for permanent policies or lower-cost term policies bearing the letter "W" before the policy number. Policyholders have until September 13, 1963, to make this change and still qualify for the dividends. The nearest VA office can supply more details.

Q — Isn't the War Orphan Education program aimed at education at college level?

A — Not necessarily. While actual high school courses are not allowed, those eligible children of deceased veterans may take vocational subjects and other subjects of above high school standards that may help them in their vocation field.

Q — I have remarried and my present husband has adopted my daughter. Thus she is not an orphan. Since her father died from injuries sustained in World War II, is she entitled to training under the War Orphans Assistance program?

A — Yes. Her eligibility is based on the fact that her parent died from service-connected causes. Subsequent adoption does not affect this original eligibility.

Q — I am a veteran who was discharged for a service-connected disability. Because of that am I entitled to a special deadline date for a GI home loan?

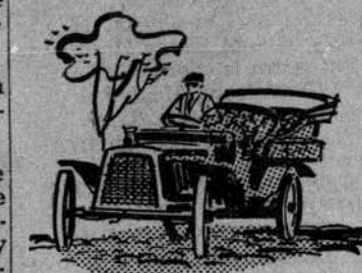

A — Yes. Veterans discharged for service-connected disabilities are eligible for home loans until the maximum deadline, re-
