Something you should think about if you're about to buy a truck:

If all trucks were built the same way, cost the same to keep up, were worth the same at trade-in . . . then probably the price tag would be your only concern. It can't be, of course, because some trucks have more quality than others. And marks of quality are the real keys to low cost.

Chevrolet trucks, for example, have double-wall construction, which gives bodies and cabs more strength. Cabs are insulated against heat, cold and noise. A big part of road shock, which shortens truck life, is damped out by Chevrolet's suspension system; it also makes riding in the truck a pleasure. Pickup bodies and cabs are separated to eliminate stress between them.

Value such as this has induced more people to invest in Chevrolet trucks every year since 1937.

This can be a good time to buy a modern new Chevrolet truck

Late summer traditionally is the season for all-around savings on a new Chevrolet truck . . . selection is still good . . . deliveries are prompt . . . and Chevrolet dealers are doubly anxious to put you into a new vehicle in order to make way for next year's models. Coupled with the efficient performance a new Chevrolet truck will give you, it seems evident that you couldn't buy at a better time.

Come in and take full advantage of it!

CHANGES IN YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY. By Lee G. Barkley (Manager of the Gastonia Social Security District Office)

According to Mr. Lee G. Barkley, Manager of the Gastonia Social Security Office, many household workers in this area are losing out on insurance rights that could amount to many thousands of dollars according to the estimates of the Social Security Administration. Nine out of ten who work for a living are now protected under the retirement, survivor and disability provision of the social security law. These workers include household workers such as maids, laundresses, baby sitters, etc., who perform household work in or about a private home. However, Government records indicate that many who work in jobs of these types are losing credits they need to qualify for these benefits because of proper tax returns are not being filed.

If you work in household employment, be sure you do not lose your rights to future social security benefits. Cash wages of $50 or more paid to you in any three-month period ending March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31, by one employer must be reported for social security purposes. If you are paid as little as $4 in every week of a calendar quarter by one employer, your wages would be covered under the law.

The social security tax of 6 1/4 percent must be paid on these wages; 3 1/8 per cent to be paid by the employer, and the other 3 1/8 per cent to be paid by the employee. Wages must be reported by the employer to the Internal Revenue Service under the name and number as shown on the worker's social security card.

The reporting of these wages and the payment of the social security tax is not a matter of choice, but is a legal requirement. The employer is directly responsible for reporting the wages of the household employee and the payment of the social security tax. The employer who fails to meet this responsibility is liable for any delinquent taxes in addition to any penalty for failure to report on time.

Your social security office located at 1320 East Franklin Ave., Gastonia, N. C., or your Internal Revenue Office will furnish the necessary information for reporting a household worker for social security purposes. Leaflet OASI-22, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," which explains how to get the forms to make the required report, is also available at your local security office.
