By MRS. A. T. RANDALL R-3 Kings Mountain (Phone HU 7-6706)

OAK GROVE — No Sunday School was held at Oak Grove Sunday morning because of the renovation and redecoration that was done in the educational building last week.

The pastorium has recently been redecorated and other improvements on the church grounds are planned.

A Brotherhood meeting was held at the church Monday evening.

Drivers Need Rigid Tests, Cars, Too

"If the state's two million drivers underwent as rigid a test as some of the component parts of their cars we would probably have far fewer winter traffic accidents."

That's the opinion of Motor Vehicles Commissioner Edward Scheidt in anticipation of some of the winter's worst weather conditions.

"The steering knuckle of your car during manufacture, for example, undergoes tests that simulate the strain it would receive in a vehicle skidding sideways a half million times," he said.

"But the driver, whose very life is involved, too often fails to meet the test of control and cracks up."

Scheidt said the accident experience of past winter months tends to show that thousands of drivers become entangled in needless mishaps simply because they don't know, or ignore, the basic rules of safe cold weather driving.

"Stopping on snow or ice makes a good illustration," he said. "One of the basic rules is to keep your wheels rolling in order to maintain steering control. The novice driver slams on his brakes and locks the wheels up tight. Then he starts skidding instead of rolling. And when that happens, he's got to be stopped by something else and that something is usually an accident."

The vehicles chief advised motorists to "pump" their brakes, lightly and rapidly, which lets the front wheels roll naturally between brake applications and maintains steering control.

"Even a skid on glare ice can be prevented," he said, "if motorists learn to anticipate steering movements and slow down than a week with a virus infection."

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Hamrick, Mrs. Eknnett Mayes and Fred Hamrick spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges of the Mt. Sina section.

in advance of making them." He urged drivers unsure of their winter wheel handling skills to find a traffic free roadway and practice making controlled stops.

shield wipers in good condition and make sure wiper arm pressure is adequate to clear ice and road splash from windshields. Use snow tires for better traction and keep reinforced tire chains in the trunk for severe conditions. Slow down, allow more time for any trip you plan.
