Pat Spangler Withdraws From Race For State Senate Will Decide On Bond Issue County Citizens

Spangler Says Fields Young Cline Possi Contender Candidacy Dictated Decision

Spangler Out Of His Race

R. Patrick Spangler, on the heels of his brother-in-law's announcement as a candidate for the House of Representatives, withdrew from his race for the state Senate Wednesday.

Mr. Spangler's withdrawal currently leaves Kings Mountain's Jack H. White, who was opposing Mr. Spangler, unopposed for the Democratic nomination to the 31st district Senate seat.

Mr. Spangler's brother-in-law is H. Fields Young, Jr., Shelby businessman, who announced he would seek the House seat Mon-

Mr. Spangler's statement was plain: 1) he regards his views on politics, business and government so completely opposed to Mr. Young's as to preclude their successful joint representation of Seveland County; and 2) it is . Spangler's conviction that bers of the same family, even when only related by marriage, should not attempt to serve in the General Assembly at the same time.

"When I announced last October that I would be a candidate for the State Senate, I did so with the sincere feeling that I might in some small way contribute to the industrial, educational, commercial and agricultural growth of Cleveland County and the life doing what I can to achieve State of North Carolina.

"Today I have the same thoughts and goals in mind and will continue to spend the rest o. my life doing what I can to a chieve them. "However, Monday's announcement relative to a candidacy for Cleveland County's lone seat in the N. C. House of Representatives makes it mandatory that I attempt to strive for the fulfillment of those goals outside the halls of the North Carolina State Senate.

"I am, therefore, taking this portunity to inform the people Cleveland County that I am it no way a party to this latest de-velopment and that I would never consent to be a party to the maneuvering of any group or faction intent upon squeezing political gain from family ties.

"It is my firm conviction that members of the same family even when related only by marriage—should not attempt to represent Cleveland County in the General Assembly, especially when their political, business and overall governmental views Continued On Page 6
