John H. Moss Defers Decision On House Race

By MARTIN HARMON Don Glass said Wednesday he will offer for the board of county commissioners as a Democrat and will file with the elections board Monday.

Mr. Glass, a registered Democrat, sought to file as a Republican, but the attorney-general ruled that he could not seek nomination other than by the party in which he is registered. He would not be able to change party affiliation until April 25, eight days after the filing deadline.

Mr. Glass, a Kings Mountain grocer, will pose a three-man race for the District 2 district nomination. J. Broadus Ellis, incumbent and board chairman, seeks re-election and already is opposed by Coleman Goforth, Stoney Point dairyman.

"I continue to receive much encouragement to seek a county commission seat, regardless of party, and I shall file as a Democrat candidate Monday," Mr. Glass said.

Another political development was announcement of Robert Z. Falls, that he would seek the Democratic nomination for the state House of Representatives.

A major question continued, as the April 17 filing deadline nears, on whether H. Fields Young, Jr., will withdraw as a House candidate. He announced he was withdrawing several weeks ago, but has not executed a formal withdrawal statement to the board of elections. Unless he does, his name will remain on the ballot.

Meantime, a group calling itself "Citizens for Young" with Packard Elliott as chairman, has bought advertising space in this and other newspapers in the county urging Mr. Young to remain a candidate and urging a write-in vote if he doesn't. The attorney-general, however, has ruled recently that write-ins are not valid in party primaries, only in general elections.

John H. Moss, of Kings Mountain, who has been considering seeking the House nomination, had not reached a decision shortly after noon on Wednesday. Indicating previously he would reach a decision this week, Mr. Moss said, "I am deferring decision briefly due to the emergence of a candidate today and also due to the continuing question of whether Mr. Young will withdraw."

There was a rumor extant that Harry Woodson, former Shelby mayor, might offer for the House nomination.

Three more candidates entered the race for the five Democratic nominations to the board of education, including J. D. Ellis, veteran incumbent member, Bobby Austell, who became a member of the board two years ago, and Charles Eam, of Roul's I. Grover. Other candidates include Buford Cline, incumbent, Richard Alexander, Charles Elliott, Bob

IN WHO'S WHO - Aubrey Mauney, Kings Mountain manufacturer, has been listed in the 33rd edition of "Who's Who In America."

Aubrey Mauney In Who's Who

Chicago. - Aubrey Mauney, of Kings Mountain, N. C. makes his first "Who's Who in America" appearance in the 33rd edition published this week.

He shares the debut not only with recently elected Governors, Senators and other U. S. notables, but with such foreigners as playwright Shelagh Delaney ("A Taste of Honey"), Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, comedian Terry-Thomas and dress designer Yves Saint Laurent.

Reflecting America's growth in science, the arts and other worthy fields as well as in population, the more than 9,000 new biographical listings nationally are a record high. Listings old and new total 58,000. Publisher Jackson Martin-deved noted that only three out of every 10,000 Americans are chosen for "Who's Who."

10th Birthday For Optimists

Kings Mountain Optimist club, celebrating this month the 10th anniversary of its organization as a civic club will sponsor an all-day barbecue Friday and Saturday for benefit of boys' work in No. 4 Township.

Proceeds will also be applied to the Bus Fund of the club. Local Optimists recently purchased an activity bus which is being used by Optimists and other clubs for youth and club activities.

Barbecue, to be served by Red Bridges, will be available at $1 per plate at the Optimist club building from 10 a.m. until 12 midnight both days. For delivery service, orders may be placed by telephoning 739-5822. Barbecue plates will be delivered to personnel of area industrial plants, if they desire.

The club is advertising the fund-raising effort as a "Big Barbecue" and "Open House." The public is invited to inspect the new quarters of the Optimist organization on North Carpenter street, W. D. (Doc) Byars, a spokesman for the group said.

Veterans, Auxiliary Set Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of Kings Mountain Barracks 3275, Veterans of World War I, and Ladies Auxiliary will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at City Hall.

The charter with 21 names will be on display and membership to the Barracks and Ladies Auxiliary will be accepted for 1961.

Board Votes 20-Year Bond Retirement

By MARTIN HARMON Kings Mountain district board of education is inviting bids on construction of the new district high school for May 15.

Legal notice of bid invitation appears in today's issue of the Herald.

The board ordered advertising of the bids at a meeting Tuesday morning, in spite of slight plans modifications ordered by the state fire marshal. Architect Thomas H. Cottrill explained the changes could be covered in addenda to the basic plans.

The action followed conferences in Raleigh Friday with the State School Planning division, and culminates more than two years of work toward obtaining a new district high school. Citizens of the district approved issuance of $1,100,000 in bonds for the project March 19, 1962.

In another action, the board voted to issue the bonds on a 20-year basis. For two years a 40-cent tax levy per $100 valuation has been in effect, and more than $180,000 is in escrow for the $11 million bond retirement over the 20-year period anticipated. Superintendent of Schools E. N. Barnes said he has been informed the bonds will be sold on April 28.

Four separate bids are invited on May 15 for general construction, mechanical work (including provision for future air-conditioning), electrical work, and plumbing. The bid notice specifies that bids for kitchen laboratory and other equipment will be taken at a future date.

Plans call for construction on a 73-plus acre site on Phifer Road of a high school building of approximately 120,000 square feet, including gymnasium, cafeteria and other facilities.

In other actions Tuesday, the board elected as a fifth grade teacher at Bellview school for the 1964-65 term Mrs. Sally Y. Barker, of Shelby. She is a graduate of University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Supt. Barnes said the board elected Mrs. Barker to fill a known upcoming vacancy.

Informed there were no bids on the Parker street house the board had offered at auction for removal, Supt. Barnes was instructed to sell the house by any legal means.

The board authorized payment of certain expenses to teachers, grades 7 through 12, who wish to attend a reading conference at High Point April 18.

Mauney Library Plans Open House In Observance Of Library Week

Kings Mountain's Jacob S. Mauney Memorial library will join in the observance of National Library week, beginning Sunday, with open house to be observed beginning next Wednesday night and continuing through April 16 and 17.

All citizens are invited to visit the library and to examine its facilities. The library has been recently renovated completely and its operational plan modified to conform with North Carolina law relating to county and municipal libraries.

The newly appointed six-member library commission organized at a meeting last week.

Grady Howard, administrator of Kings Mountain hospital, was elected chairman. Haywood E. Lynch was elected vice-chairman, J. Ollie Harris, secretary, and Mrs. George Houser, treasurer. Other members are J. E. (Zip) Rhea and Mrs. Hunter Neisler.

Open house will be observed Continued On Page 6

WARRIOR - Donn Freeman, high school senior, has won a George Foster Hankins scholarship to Wake Forest college.

Donn Freeman Wins Scholarship

Donn B. Freeman, Jr., nephew of Mrs. Dorothy P. Etheridge of 108 Gaston St., Kings Mountain, is among 43 high school seniors who have been awarded a George Foster Hankins Scholarship at Wake Forest College.

The 29 boys and 14 girls were selected following a series of tests and interviews. All but one of the winners are North Carolina high school seniors.

The scholarships range in potential four-year value from $1200 to $1800. The program was started in 1955 through income from a more than one million dollar estate left the College by Col. George Foster Hankins of Lexington. The winners were announced by William G. Starling, director of admissions.

Freeman is past president of student government at Kings Mountain high school, president of the French club, and vice-president of the National Honor Society. He is photographer for the school annual and has been a member of the golf team, science club and Key club. He is president of the Youth Fellowship at Central Methodist Church.

Scholarship winners were chosen because of high academic records and possibilities of leadership.
