Rock Hill Planning 'Come See Me' Week

ROCK HILL, S. C. — Y'ALL COME!

That's the invitation extended by the city of Rock Hill during its third annual "Come-See-Me!" weekend on April 17, 18 and 19.

During the middle of April the gardens are at their peak of beauty in Rock Hill. The whole community takes on a holiday mood, and out-of-town guests are invited to "Come-See-Me!"

Activities planned for the weekend include a tour of private gardens, a police escorted motorcade of the various sections of town and a tour of homes with some of the most interesting houses on exhibition.

Glencairn Garden, Rock Hill's municipal garden, which covers nearly six acres of gently rolling land, will be at its height of color at this time with thousands of red, white and pink azaleas in full bloom. Winding paths are banked by massive colorful blooms amid stately oak trees. It is open to the public without charge.

This year on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 17 and 18, the Junior League is putting on the "Come-See-Me!" Follies at Sullivan high school which will assure visitors of an interesting and amusing evening.

Lohr Speaks To Home Arts Club

Lawrence Lohr, retired text book salesman for the nationally known publisher Harcourt, Brace and World, and veteran of 35 years in this field, spoke to members of the Home Arts club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philip Padgett.

Mr. Lohr gave anecdotes illustrating the pressures put on text book publishers by special interest groups and displayed several history texts some of which, published by his company, are currently in use in North Carolina schools and some rare editions of North Carolina histories discarded by the state because of error and/or prejudice.

He told of the Warren text which although adopted by the state was said to have 1,000 errors. It was subsequently discarded, and 119,000 copies were burned.

Mr. Lohr discussed the N. C. school book selections method whereby only one book of a type is selected for the entire state system.

"There has been a regional approach to school books in the past, and there's no doubt the South has been at a disadvantage," he said and added "You can be sure texts used in N. C. are scrutinized by experts."

Mrs. B. D. Batterree, president presided, and Mr. Lohr was presented by Mrs. Martin Harmon, program chairman.

Following the program, Mrs. Padgett served a salad and sweet course with coffee.

Mrs. Lohr was invited by the hostess to join club members.

FHA Week Of Activities Underway Here

By DONNA HARDES

Over one-half million Future Homemakers of America in state throughout the nation observe National FHA Week April 5-11. Miss Margaret Swanson, president of the Kings Mountain chapter announces.

Mrs. Betty Gamble, Mrs. Juanita Egerton and Mrs. Margaret Baird, home economics teachers at Kings Mountain high school, are the advisors of the local chapter. Officers are President Margaret Swanson, First Vice-President Helen Goforth, Second Vice-President Joan Howard, Secretary Betty Styers, Treasurer Ann Hammett, song leader Abigail Spangler, historians Elaine Dixon and Dora Kircus, parliamentarian Martha Herndon, SPO representative Jane Fisher, reporter Donna Harde and recreation director Carolyn Heavner.

The 150 members of the Kings Mountain chapter will celebrate FHA Week by placing posters in the high school, planning a downtown window display, and other activities to take place at school. Future Homemakers of America are home economics students in Junior and senior high schools. Members of this national youth organization, now in its 19th year, work toward the over-all goal of helping individuals improve personal, family and community living.

A national program of work guides the activities of individual members and chapters. Projects on this year's programs are: 1) You and your values; 2) Focus on family friendship; 3) Marriage calls for preparation; 4) Stay in school; and 5) Action for citizenship.

Commenting on the current projects, Mrs. Gamble said that preparation for marriage and stay-in-school activities have much appeal to members at this time. Surveys and interviews with marriage counselors and other adult advisors, and with couples who married while still in their teens, have directed attention to programs discouraging early marriage, she explained. Stay-in-school activities, she added, range from publicity campaigns proclaiming that "drop-outs are left outs" to actual adoption and support of needy teenagers who would otherwise be forced to leave school.

FHA is sponsored by the Home Economics Education branch of the U. S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association.
