Light Docket Aired Monday In City Court

The following actions were taken during a light docket of cases in City Recorder's Court before Judge Jack White Monday.

Ora Grayson Brown, 37, of Allendale, S.C., was sentenced to nine months, suspended upon the payment of $20 weekly for the support of his two minor children, and was assessed the costs of court after pleading guilty to abandonment and non-support.

The case was continued for one week pending the transfer of a deed to the Brown house, which was awarded Brown's wife.

A compliance bond of $200 was ordered put up by Brown, who is a South Carolina resident.

Jack R. Cobb, 23, of Route 2, Box 331, appealed to higher court the case charging him with exceeding a safe speed. He was found guilty in City Recorder's Court and made his appeal after receiving a 30 day suspended sentence and assessed half the costs of court. The appeal bond was set at $50.

Capais' were issued for Robert J. Smith, 23, of 104 N. Watertown Street, charged with non-support, and for Herman Barrett, 49, charged with public drunkenness and violating the prohibition laws.

Jeremy John Ryan Bell, 25, of 243 Country Club Road, Shelby, was found not guilty of a stop light violation following extended testimony by the accused. Bell, an English engineer employed at Fiber Industries, Inc., acted in his own defense and produced evidence which created a reasonable doubt as to his guilt.

Bell was charged with proceeding through a red light at the corner of Cleveland Avenue and East King Street.

A nol pros was issued in the case involving Arthur Sprouse, 17, of Route 2 Parkdale Road, charged with no operator's license.

The case involving Paul Brown, 38, of Cassler Street, charged with non-support of an illegitimate child, was continued until July 6.

A nol pros was issued in the case of Dessie S. Cunningham, 49, of Box 184 Linwood Rd., charged with no operator's license.

A continued prayer for judgment was handed down in the case involving Mack Lefevers, 39, of 515 Broad Street, who pleaded guilty to assault on a female and contempt of court. The continued prayer was set for July 13, pending Lefevers procurement of employment and good behavior toward his wife.

Six cases of public drunkenness were docketed with two capais' being issued, three were continued until August 3, and one pled guilty and was sentenced to 30 days, suspended upon the payment of the costs of court.

The following defendants submitted:

John D. Bost, 21, 492 E. King St., stop light violation, half costs.
