School Of Arts Takes Applicants

WINSTON-SALEM — Dr. Vittorio Giannini, president of the North Carolina School of the Arts, is now assembling a faculty for this new school which will open here in September, 1965. Applications from prospective students have been coming in since Dr. Giannini arrived here in June.

A group of approximately 400 talented students in music, drama and the dance will be selected from the applications.

Admission to the school will be by auditions which will be entrance examinations given before a jury of faculty members who have the responsibility of selecting their students from the applicants.

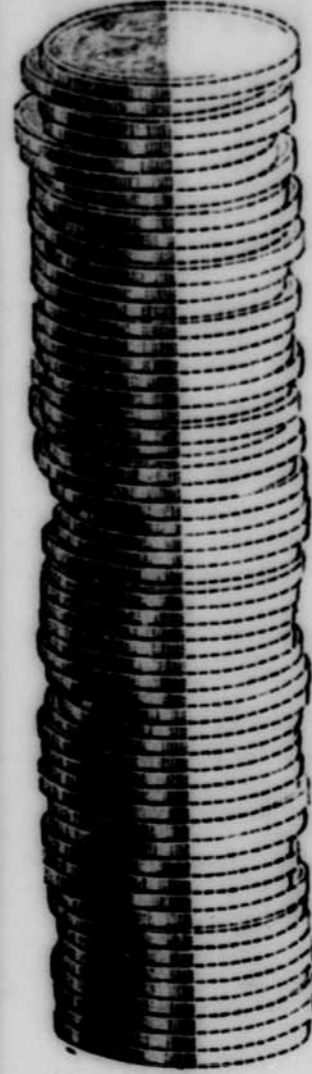

Auditions will be held in April and June at Winston-Salem; however, in order to save applicants the expense of traveling unreasonably long distances, Dr. Giannini is considering other central locations according to applications received.

Students who wish to apply should write for application blanks to:

The North Carolina School of the Arts
James G. Hanes Community Center, or Box 4657
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Dr. Giannini, a composer and musician of international reputation, was chosen president of the school by unanimous approval of a board of trustees appointed by Governor Terry Sanford. Before becoming president, he was on the faculty of the Juilliard School of Music and the Manhattan School of Music at New York.

Governor Sanford, Dr. Giannini and the Board of Trustees will meet with the school's Advisory Board on November 14 at New York to discuss and approve faculty appointments.

Money Is Only Half Of It ....

We Deal In Futures Too

Or should we say OUR DIVIDENDS can be half of it?

Our shareholders number hundreds, from juveniles to senior citizens, all benefiting from semi-annual payments of our high-rate dividend.

Youngsters save for bikes and ponies. Parents save for autos, homes and their children's educations, and, when those important responsibilities are handled history, for supplements to their income after they retire from active work.

Yes, we deal in futures.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS By GENE TIMMS

WHEN IS A "SALE" A SALE?

With so many furniture sales being run so frequently by so many stores, customers often wonder whether these sales are legitimate and whether the alleged "mark-downs" are real.

There are many reasons why reputable stores run sales. Very often a merchant has the opportunity to buy a quantity of discontinued merchandise from a manufacturer at a great discount and is able to offer these goods to the public at a great savings.

Then, too every business acquires an accumulation of odd pieces, slightly shopworn goods, slow selling items, discontinued numbers, etc., which they would rather mark down at cost so they can replace them with fast selling goods.

However, the best way to tell whether a sale is legitimate is by the reputation and integrity of the advertiser. The public knows quite well which are the "prestige" stores in their community, and which are not.

While it is always a great temptation to pick up a bargain, it must be remembered that it is only a bargain if you like it and can use it. Everyone has an accumulation of things in the attics or closets of their homes which were purchased simply because they were bargains.

But if you are able to pick up a marked down item on sale at a reputable store, and it is something you really love and will use in your home, then you have really saved money.
