The Stars in Our Flag: 27 FLORIDA—MARCH 3, 1845

THE SUNSHINE STATE—CAPITAL TALLAHASSEE

Stories of gold to be mined from the ground and a magic fountain that re-joyed youth were the reasons Ponce de Leon set out for Florida. It took his three caravels three weeks from Puerto Rico to a spot on the Florida coast just north of St. Augustine.

Both the gold and the fountain eluded him, but the legends of fabulous wealth still continued, luring others. They fared no better, so carried off the Indians to sell as slaves in the West Indies. In 1521 Ponce de Leon brought colonists into Charlotte Bay, but within a few months the settlement was abandoned.

Hernando de Soto was next to tour Florida... and in search of gold also. Other Spanish explorations included Fray Luis Cancer in 1540 and Tristan de Luna in 1565. Then Spain was finished sending men. The French moved in and Jean Ribaut started a colony on the east coast; now a part of South Carolina.

Spain tried again when Don Pedro Menendez de Aviles, treasure fleet leader, tried to rout the French and convert the Indians. He founded St. Augustine on August 28, 1565. This is United States' oldest permanent white settlement.

In 1586, Sir Francis Drake burned the town, but the Spaniards rebuilt it, and it grew to become headquarters for missionaries among the southeastern Indians. The English returned in 1763 and 1764, burning, plundering and running off with Indians whom they made slaves.

James Oglethorpe, governor of Georgia, attacked St. Augustine in 1742 and ended Spanish power. In 1763 the English moved in and St. Augustine knew prosperity. The British used the town as headquarters for Revolutionary attacks on the Carolinas.

America's victory restored Florida to Spain, but Americans moved into the homes, and there was no government for four decades. Expeditions under Andrew Jackson in 1810 and 1812 led to the purchase of Florida from Spain for $5 million in 1819. This purchase was not ratified, however, until 1821 at Pensacola. The Territory of Florida was organized March 3, 1845, the balancing free state was Iowa.

During the Civil War, Florida was among the first states to secede in 1861. Re-admission took place in 1868.

Three Auto Accidents Are Reported

Wednesday's Kings Mountain police report showed three accidents in the past week, the first occurring Friday, December 11 at 9:40 a.m. at the intersection of Piedmont Avenue and the driveway of Kings Mountain Manufacturing Company.

Jay Raymond Proctor, 29, 610 Gantt Street, was traveling north on Piedmont Avenue in a 1953 Chevrolet when he struck a '55 Chevrolet, driven by Billy Reid Davis, 25, of Route 3. No damage was reported to Proctor's car. Damage to the left rear of Davis' car was estimated at $300. Proctor was charged with failure to yield right of way by the investigating officers Ellis King and Charles Wallace.

Ronald Andrew Watterson, 21, of Route 1, Grover, was charged with improper passing following an accident at the intersection of York Road and East King Street Friday at 10:50 p.m.

Steven James Goforth, 17, of 606 East Gold Street was traveling south on the York Road when the 1937 Ford which he was driving was struck by a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Watterson.

Damage to the left front of Goforth's car was estimated at $160 and damage to the Chevrolet was reported at $300. Charles Wallace and Wayne Russell were the investigating officers.

The third accident occurred Tuesday afternoon at 12:48 at the intersection of Stone Street and Cleveland Avenue.

Bobbie Gene Glenn, 35, of Route 1, Shelby, was charged with failure to see a movement following an accident involving Glenn and John Berry Dilling, Jr., 41, of Kings Mountain.
