CANCER CONTROL MONTH — Governor Dan K. Moore signs a proclamation designating the month of April as Cancer Control Month as Lewis R. Holding, state chairman, looks on. The American Cancer Society during April will carry on a "Tell Your Neighbor" crusade with volunteers supplying neighbors with life-saving pamphlets about cancer. Expanding research offers the prospect of new cures and the hope of future prevention. There are more than 1,300,000 Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer. Half of those who develop cancer today could be saved through early diagnosis and prompt and proper treatment.

A man in trouble who owns his own house or has equity in it can find himself the target of a new type of "con" game. How many times have you seen ads or direct mail citing, "amazingly low second mortgage financing. It's so easy to pay off your debts. Five years to pay, economical monthly charges." While there are legitimate second mortgage companies, there are also "sharps" who give a five year pay back period, but over these years will make you pay back almost double the amount borrowed. You can dig yourself a deeper debt pit this way.
 Like the first mortgage, the second is a lien against the property. The new type of "con"

Agriculture in Action

 The little island of Japan is looming large in North Carolina's foreign trade future.
 In 1963, Japan purchased Tar Heel products valued at $208 million, with farm products accounting for the major share.
 The sales breakdown went like this: Tobacco and cigarettes — $21 million; soybeans — $3 million; Cotton — $1 million; manufactured goods — $1 million; metal scrap — $1 million; synthetic rubber — $1 million; machinery — $1 million; textile machinery — $1 million.
 In addition, says a publication of the United States-Japan Trade Council North Carolina saw some 7,270 additional jobs created for citizens as a result of the Japanese purchases.
 North Carolina's surplus-laden farm economy, in particular, must review this export picture with a considerable degree of pleasure. The best news, though, is that even bigger sales to Japan appear to be in store.
 Excluding Canada, Japan buys more U.S. goods than any other country. And, over the past decade, U.S. trade with Japan has more than tripled. Our sales to the Japanese leaped from $300 million in 1954 to the record $1.5 billion level in 1963.
 The trade crystal ball now shows that Japan might offer us an export market worth up to $3.5 billion by 1970 — if American suppliers can hold on to their share of the growing market.
 North Carolina can figure in the increase too—if the state can continue to claim its share of U.S. exports. Since tobacco is Tarheelia's biggest seller in Japan, it appears that North Carolina's stake in the Japanese market may rest largely on the shoulders of the leaf grower, and his ability to grapple with the quality problem.
 Japan won't buy tobacco from us just because it's American. They will buy tobacco from us because it's the best.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include three brothers, Jeffrey Dale, Franklin and Charlie Patrick, Jr; three sisters, Judy Kay, Linda Jean and Theresa Patrick, all of the home; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Patrick of Kings Mountain and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Canipe of Shelby.
