Ex-Citizen

head later — MRS. DAVIS ... days, Mrs. Davis said last Sunday, as 75 friends and relatives gathered at the Davis home for a birthday dinner and family get-together.

Mrs. Davis has a life-long habit of remembering birthdays. "I keep up with the birthdays of my eight children, 18 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren and I mail them a card on their birthday," she proudly admits.

Her daughter-in-law adds, "And the remarkable thing about Grandmother Davis is that she mails them on time."

"Grandmother Davis" uses a hearing aid and listens to news and weather reports via radio and television. Bad eyesight keeps her from reading the morning newspapers, however, her daughter-in-law reads the papers to her. She cleans her own room except for vacuuming.

"I enjoy visitors", Mrs. Davis says. A frequent visitor is her minister who is pastor of the Raleigh Presbyterian church.

The L. L. Davis family had for many years lived here on Walker street. For the past several years they have resided on their farm on route one, York, South Carolina. The Davises are parents of two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Meacham of Kings Mountain and Mrs. H. L. Brantley of Charlotte.

Children of Mrs. Ella Davis, besides her son here, are Mrs. Elmer Dockery, Mrs. Drayton Jones, Mrs. Lyman Davis, all of Greenville, S. C., L. C. Davis of Forest City, L. D. Davis of Spindale, Mrs. William Mills of Charlottesville, Va. and Lowe Davis of Burlington.

All members of her family attended the birthday dinner in her honor.

Decked out on her birthday in a cotton frock with lace collar and a necklace she picked out herself, Mrs. Davis belies her age.

"She loves to talk, reminisce of 'old times' and show off her African violets which are in abundance at the Davis home. Spry and cheerful, she maintains her love for flowers and her hands are always busy rooting and tending them to give to her friends.

School Plan
choice of school will be made using the same criteria as used for first choice and based on residence proximity to the school. If no choice is indicated by parents, assignment will be made to the school last attended or to the nearest school with adequate facilities and not over loaded using the same criteria as used to make assignments after first and second choices have been indicated."

Supt. Barnes' letter from Dr. Keppel read:
"The plan for desegregation submitted by your school district to comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 has been reviewed by the staff of the Office of Education.

"Section 80-4(c) (2) of the departmental regulation issued under Title VI requires the Commissioner of Education to determine whether such plans of desegregation are adequate to accomplish the purposes of the Civil Rights Act and the regulation. On the basis of our review, the plan submitted lacks the provisions which would be necessary to find it adequate under the regulations."

The commissioner did not elaborate. He offered the assistance of his department but did not say why 28 N. C. school units plans were inadequate.
