The handsome plaque reads: "for leadership as president 1963-65."

Mrs. Jonas, a Gastonia elementary teacher, is wife of Bill Jonas, manager of the loan department of First Union National Bank. She is the former Virginia Glenn of Gastonia and they are paren of two children, Glenn and Cris Jonas. They reside on Jackson street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Ledford

Miss Diane Stroupe, Robert Ledford Wed Sunday In Double-Ring Ceremony

East Side Baptist church provided the setting Sunday for a 12 noon wedding uniting Miss Diane Stroupe and James Robert Ledford, both of Kings Mountain. Rev. Darrell Coole, minister of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church altar was banked with palms and arranged with white gladioli and wrought-iron candelabra holding cathedral tapers.

Miss Beverly Willis was at the piano for the program of nuptial music and Miss Rita Caveny was vocal soloist. Miss Caveny sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" before the ceremony and "Seal Us O Holy Spirit" as the benediction.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her formal gown was designed of Chantilly lace and bridal satin and featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline with long sleeves and a very full lace skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was draped from a taura of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a white lace-covered Bible topped with a white orchid and showered with staphanotis and ribbon streamers.

Gina Stroupe, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her formal-length gown was of green satin and she wore matching headpiece and carried a white flower basket filled with rose petals.

Participating in the wedding as honorary attendants were Miss Dora Kireus, Miss Patricia Lewis, Miss Roxanne Sellers and Miss Kathleen Caveny.

Best man for the bridegroom was his father, Wayne Ledford, brother of the bridegroom, ushered with Mack Jenkins.

The bride's mother wore a street-length dress of pink and white whipped cream with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Ledford, mother of the bridegroom, chose a blue street-length dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The newlyweds are at home on Waco Road.

BRIDE AND BRIDEGRROOM Mr. and Mrs. George Stroupe are parents of the bride who is a recent graduate of Kings Mountain high school. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Plato Ledford, the bridegroom is also a graduate of Kings Mountain high school and is employed by Harris-Teeter Super Markets in Gastonia.

Miss Jackie Blanton, president, presided.

Miss Hovis Bride-Elect

Mrs. E. W. Neal entertained Thursday night at her home at a kitchen shower paying compliment to Miss Nancy Hovis, bride-elect of Saturday.

The 20 guests enjoyed "kitchen" games and contests and the top prize went to Mrs. Fred Finger for carving an object from an Irish potato.

Wedding bell-shaped ice cream was served with punch and cheese wafers.

The hostess gave Miss Hovis a corsage of pansies which she pinned to the shoulder of her party dress.

Among guests were the bride-to-be's grandmother, Mrs. Crawford, and the bride-to-be's aunt, Mrs. Heman Hall, both of Cherryville.

Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Molly Salmons were co-hostesses. At refreshment time they served pineapple sherbet punch with homemade cake and potato chips.

Mrs. Reeves pointed out that visitors are invited to tour the Home at Greensboro. She noted that the adoptive agency also places older children for adoption.

Marlene Weir Home From European Trip And Tour Of Fashion Houses Of Paris

ATLANTA, Ga. — From the fashion houses of Paris to the Fashion Institute of America, today came Marlene Weir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Weir of Kings Mountain who returned to Atlanta with her classmates from a jet-tour of Europe.

Flying from Paris to New York on an Air-France jet liner, the girls reached Atlanta today, climaxed a twenty-one day jaunt that reached London, Madrid, Nice, Rome, Berlin and Paris.

The fashion tour, part of the two-year program at the Fashion Institute of America, led the group first to New York, then on-stop to Paris and a connecting flight to London.

Here, the girls attended a private fashion showing at the House of John Cavanaugh and visited historic points including Buckingham Palace, Trafalgar Square and Downing Street.

Next came Madrid, complete with a bull fight, a party in the penthouse of Europe's tallest building and visits to designers, glove makers and coat manufacturers. Highlight of Madrid was the special prices in stylish leather coats and gloves; only a third of "at home" prices.

Nice and Monte Carlo followed with visits to Grace Kelly's and Prince Ranier's castle at Monaco and Aly Kahn's villa on the Riviera.

In Rome the girls found time between fashion studies to throw coins in the fountain, tour museums and acquire blistered feet sight-seeing.

Rome's climaxed event was a Papal audience in St. Peter's Basilica.

From Rome, the group flew to Berlin for a weekend stay, with visits to both East and West sectors. Here their fashion studies embraced clothes and soft goods manufactured throughout Germany.

The fashion center of the World, Paris, came next and two hours of jet travel later found the girls at home on the Champs Elysees.

Their week in Paris included lunch on the Eiffel Tower, late evening dinner on the Left Bank, a visit to the famous Folies Bergere, and tours of museums, cathedrals and public buildings.

But Paris is the fashion center, and in Paris the girls visited the salons of Christian Dior and Guy LoRoche. They saw the thousand dollar creations of Givenchy and Balmain. They shopped for famous name perfumes at a fifth of United States prices. They ate at sidewalk cafes, rode French with Russian taxi drivers and absolutely awed the male population of a city renowned for its beautiful girls.

After the Fashion Institute's visit to Paris, this city may never be the same, and probably neither will Marlene Weir, at least until she gets her head out of the clouds and settles back to studying in an old fashion classroom!

Marlene will receive her associate in fine arts degree in March.

Luncheon Honors Nancy Hovis

Mrs. N. F. McGill, Sr. and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Norman McGill, entertained together Saturday at noon at a luncheon honoring Miss Nancy Hovis, whose wedding to Rev. Fred Archer, Jr. will be an event of Saturday.

Luncheon was served to 14 guests at Holiday Inn in Gastonia.

Overlaid with green cloth, the T-shaped table was arranged with magnolia blossoms and foliage. The bride-elect's place was marked by a corsage of white gladiolus and gifts of crystal in her pattern from the hostesses.

Miss Hovis was dressed in a pink linen party dress.

In addition to the hostesses, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. T. Lewis Hovis, guests included Miss Jane Smith of Lumberton, who will be maid-of-honor in Miss Hovis' wedding, Miss Julia Smith of Lumberton, Mrs. Jack Grier of Gastonia, Miss Jo Kelso of Greenville, S. C., Miss Jennie Alexander of Charlotte, all members of the wedding party, Miss Lynda Parton of Gastonia, Miss Dottie Adams of Gastonia, Mrs. F. R. Archer of Statesville, mother of the prospective bridegroom, and Miss Virginia Black of Charlotte.

Federation Publishing Cookbook For Scholarships

Members of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs and leaders of other state federations dug into their files of favorite recipes, original, inherited, bequeathed, and improved and have just recently made available the first of three volumes of the Federation Cookbook, "Tarheel Recipes".

State Cookbook Chairman, Mrs. Robert LaBoyetaux, of Gibsonville, says that orders are pouring in and those wishing to secure a copy should contact their local club members as soon as possible. Volumes II and III are expected to be ready for sale in the early fall.

Proceeds from the cookbooks will go into the Federation's Scholarship Fund and add considerably to the four $750 scholarships presently awarded annually by the organization.

Mrs. Hambright, hostess To Presbyterian Circle

Mrs. P. Q. Hambright was hostess Saturday night to members of Circle 1 of Dixon Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Hambright, circle chairman, presided.

Parties Here, In County Honor Debs

A whirl of events was held last weekend for debutantes presented at Saturday's gala 20th annual Sub-Debutante Ball in Shelby.

Kings Mountain Sub-Debs were honored by their parents at a gay Thursday night party carrying out the theme, "A Night In Las Vegas."

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mauney, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon honored Marion Morrison, Lynda Mauney, Joan Howard and Connie Dixon at the Mauney home on N. Piedmont Avenue.

The 148 guests included all sub-debs and their escorts.

Roulette, chuck-a-luck, blackjack and other games were played with play money designed to carry out the deb theme. Dealers and helpers were dressed in red vests and wore sun visors and sleeve garters.

Record albums were given to game winners.

Guests danced in the recreation room, decorated with magnolia blossoms, a large mirror ball hanging from the ceiling, and a punch fountain placed at one end of the room. A combo from Charlotte furnished music.

Poker chips, inscribed with "Sub Debs 1965, Kings Mountain", were given as favors.

Prior to the party, the four honorees and their escorts, Hubert McGinnis, Terry Leonard, Pat Murphy and Mickey Bell, were entertained at dinner at Kings Mountain Country club.
