Dodgers Seek Third Straight NL Win

The Los Angeles Dodgers get back in World Series competition today (Wednesday) seeking to bring a third consecutive World's Championship to the National League and seeking to win their second straight Series in four

In 1963, the last time the Dodgers played in the World Series, Los Angeles defeated the favored New York Yankees four straight games. Of course, there's a very slim chance that the Dodgers will accomplish that same feat with the Twins, but on the other hand, that's something that can never be foretold.

National League teams have won the World Series for the past two seasons, the Dodgers winning in '63 and St. Louis knocking off the Yankees in seven games last

The Dodgers will be seeking the third NL Series

Los Angeles is the choice to win the Series, due to its strong pitching staff headed by lefthander Sandy Koufax, the Majors' winningest pitcher, and righty Don Drysdale, who gave Koufax a tough race as the top winner.

This year's Series brings some fresh young faces into the picture as only five members of the Twins ball club have ever seen action in the event. Three of those five are

The three members of the Twins' coaching staff who have seen Series action are Billy Martin, former second baseman of the Yankees, Johnny Sain, former hurler of the Boston Braves and Yankees, and Hal Naragon, who leads to because of that same mistake. Wright at tailback. Smith and Company of the South Company of the South Company of the Boston Braves and Yankees, and Hal Naragon, who played with the Cleveland Indians.

Martin thrived on World Series competition. While he hit .257 in major league play, he batted .333 in five World Series. Martin, hardly ever known as a home run hitter, blasted five round trippers in 28 Series trips to

He was terrific in the 1953 World Series when the Yankees defeated the Dodgers four games to two. New York depended largely upon his .500 batting average and his 12 hits set a Series record.

Sain had a lifetime 2-2 Series record. His overall earned run average was 2.64 for six games. Naragon caught in just one game with the Indians in

'54. He had no offensive figures. The two playing members of the Minnesota club who have seen World Series action are Johnny Klippstein and my Goforth to Tommy Finger put the Mounties on the 36, but Goforth was tossed for a one yard.

Burdette Last Ace To Win Three Games

Lou Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves was the last major league pitcher to win three games in a Series back in 1957 when he won the first, fourth, and seventh games against the New York Yankees.

People are now wondering whether or not Koufax or Drysdale (or maybe even Jim "Mudcat" Grant) can accomplish that feat in this year's Series.

But with the heavy clouting of recent years, those three-game winners have become very rare. Burdette and Harry Brecheen of the 1946 Cardinals are the only ones since the end of World War II.

10 Twins Were Senators Before Switch

Seven players, two coaches, and Manager Sam Mele were former Washington players representing the Twins two wins against one defeat. The the game's leading ground gain when Minnesota clinched the pennant at D. C. Stadium.

Gabe Murphy, stockholder of the Twins, has his eighth suit in court against Griffith for moving the club. If Griffith enters Washington, he will be served a summons to appear in court. He has not returned since the club was Mele played for the Griffiths' pre-expansion Senators in Washington from 1949 to 1952 and coached in 1960 for Calvin. Coaches Jim Lemon and Hal Naragon both were players when the Senators moved.

Pitchers Jim Kaat and Camilo Pascaul, catcher Earl Battey, shortstop Zoilo Versalles, first baseman Don Mincher, third baseman Harmon Killebrew, and outfielder Bob Allison also played at Washington.

Belmont's Jimmie Hall Series Newcomer

Jimmie Hall of Belmont, N. C., a Minnesota Twins outfielder, will see action in the World Series this year for the first time. Hall has been listed in the Major League's top ten hitters brackett the entire season, and if the Twins pull it out, it will be his hitting, plus the power of Harmon Killebrew (former Charlotte Hornet), Tony Oliva, Bob Allison, and others.

Personally, I think (maybe a lot of you fans disagree and probably you do) that the Dodgers will be too powerful for the American Leaguers.

Minnesota has some real good hitters, but those guys have not been batting against Drysdale, Koufax, and the like. Not sticking our necks out too far, let's say the Dodgers will capture the Series in five games.

Former KM Stars Meet At Boone Saturday Night

Former teammates will meet as opponents Saturday night at Boone, N. C., when the Appalachian State Teacher's College Mountaineers play host to Le noir-Rhyne in a Carolinas Conference football game.

Pat Murphy will be starting at quarterback for the Mountainers while Ronnie Rhea will be at defensive safetyman for LR. Murphy, who made all-confer Kings Mountain, took over the ASTC team when the first-unit ence for two seasons while at quarterback was injured about on a one-yard plunge during the two weeks ago.

The 175-pounder has pleased many people, including hometown fans, with his ability to play the position, and especially the other point. with his passing.

Rhea is listed on the LR roster

as a 5-11, 170-pound end but has been switched to the defensive spot since opening drills last Three other former Kings Mountain players are expected to see action in the game. They are: Jimmy Cloninger and Tony Goins of Appalachian and Hubert McGinnis of Lenoir Rhyne. Goins, who played a few years before these other boys, is a first-unit defensive halfback for the at 6:45 p.m. at the Woman's Mountaineers and Cloninger, who averaged almost 40 yards per punt at KM last year, will be do-
