Why don't you "take a minute"
and visit your schools during
