Kings Mill, Inc. To Take Over December 28

By MARTIN HARMON

Kings Mill, Inc., a newly-formed corporation, is purchasing the plant and equipment of Kings Mountain Manufacturing Company, the city's oldest textile plant and will take over operations effective next Tuesday.

A Kings Mill spokesman, who declined identification, issued this statement Tuesday:

"Kings Mountain Manufactur-ing Company will be sold in its entirety effective December 28. Thereafter to be owned and operated by Kings Mill, Inc.

"The new management plans to completely modernize this mill with the latest and most up-todate equipment available.
"It will be engineered to manufacture carded knitting yarn on a six-day per week operating schedule

"It is the sincere hope of the new management to make this mill into one of the finest textile plants in the area and to be an asset to the City of Kings Mountain."

He added that Paul Owens, KM Manufacturing superintendent, will remain with the new firm as director of operations.

He added that equipment mod-ernization will begin immediate-The sale does not include the mill-owned houses adjacent.

The transaction was confirmed by Aubrey Mauney, general man-ager and secretary-treasurer of KM Manufacturing who said, "Kings Mountain Manufacturing Company as contributed much, in its 73 years, to the welfare of the community."

Mr. Mauney continued, "The future operation of the mill is well - assured. The product laceration, which required several minor throughout its history has been bruises, and said at her home, carded weaving yarn, but will be 805 Maner Road, Wednesday she customer in Martinsville, Va.,
