

Established 1889

The Kings Mountain Herald

A weekly newspaper devoted to the promotion of the general welfare and published for the enlightenment, entertainment and benefit of the citizens of Kings Mountain and its vicinity, published every Thursday by the Herald Publishing House. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Kings Mountain, N. C., 28086 under Act of Congress of March 3, 1873.

EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Martin Harmon Editor-Publisher Gary Stewart Sports Editor Miss Elizabeth Stewart Circulation Manager and Society Editor

MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT

Bobby Bolin

Dave Weathers

Allen Myers

'66 School Guidelines

er paying the piper calls the tune.

It is an axiom of life that the danc-

Thus, with the Great Depression of

The job was not being done and the

The tune-calling has been an in-

Thus the new guidelines for '66 for creasing concern of the payer, too, and school districts, colleges and universities benefitting from federal largess are tighter than those for the current year ending in June, when Kings Mountain school district and many others, most particularly in the South, experienced,

even when operating in good faith,

many forms of bureaucratic run-around.

ernment by administrative fiat. Administrators quite easily fall into the human failing of enjoying the role of dictators.

ous. In one section, the federal Office of Education declares the guidelines

have no intent to interfere with any school board of education in assigning teachers on basis of professional train-

Another paragraph infers, quite strongly, that lacking evidence of faculty desegregation, a board of education

may be denied federal subsidies in the many departments for which Uncle Sam

been a very tidy one, but, on basis of continuing rulings by the courts, gov-ernment by administrative flat has been to a few or to many, but these are the fail to assert that the school portion of today's tax bills from district, county

We Favor One-One-One

county and state district legislative level only a month distant, and with district rotation agreements thrown into limbo 1) by the redistricting in all but a few instances and 2) a little known law concerning legislative re-districting

agreements imposing a missed deadline,

the Herald re-states its priorly printed opinion and the expressed opinions of numerous political leaders in Cleveland, re-districting law gives the three-county

43rd House district three state representatives, therefore making it possible for the election of one member from marrying opposing Democratic factions,

with whom the proposition has been discussed agree that the desired end is worthwhile, both from the standpoint of the party's welfare and from the other of charitability on part of the heavier populated counties to the smaller ones.

where factionalism is rampant.

The aggregate opinion is that the Inferred, of course, are the "if's" of

The Herald and the political leaders

Rutherford and Polk counties.

each county.

With filing deadline for office at

and state are insufficient.

The economic squeeze has never

These results may not be pleasant

Few of the many, however, would

That is the major danger in gov-

As usual the guidelines are ambigu-

1929-33 as the major spur, the federal government took over monetary responsibilities in many categories nominally the province of the states, and their subsidiaries, the counties and bread lines were long.

the trend continues.

ing and competence.

endorsed repeatedly.

Paul Jackson Steve Ramsey

SUBSCRIPTIONS RATES PAYABLE IN ADVANCE - BY MAIL ANYWHERE SIX MONTHS ., $2.00 THREE MONTHS .. $1.25 PLUS NORTH CAROLINA SALES TAX

TELEPHONE NUMBER - 739-5441

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and has professed a good profession before many witnesses. I Timothy 6:12.

The Happy Result

A veteran Kings Mountain political observer, active campaigner in many elections through the years, expressed disbelief as he examined the results of Tuesday's special election on the question of the city's borrowing up to $1,-300,000 for sewage disposal.

"You mean only 19 voted against the bonds? That's impossible in Kings Mountain. No matter what the issue, there's always more than that against it!" he declared.

But the vote total of 458 "for" and only 19 "against" was correct.

As there are always many reasons for failure, there are always many reasons for success.

Among the many:

- 1) Twenty years of embarrassment concerning the sad state of sewage disposal here.
- 2) Pressure for stream pollution clean-up on both state-wide and national basis, with overtones of a state-dictated force play should the city not at-tend its own sewage knitting.
- 3) Embarrassment on the part of many citizens at the city's failure to meet last April's plans-filed deadline in its contract with the State Stream Sanitation committee.
- 4) Hard work and long hours on the part of the Moss Administration in a) obtaining a year's moratorium on the contract deadlines, b) planning of an operational timetable for completion of plans, conducting the election, obtaining of site and easements, and c) providing of full and continuing information to citizens concerning both plans and need.
- 5) Virtually solid support by civic, fraternal, and service organizations.
- 6) The nauseating odors emanating from creeks into which the city's sewage effluent flows.
- A seventh factor may also have been involved.

Kings Mountain's sewage treatment system was condemned during the Ful-ton Administration by the State Board of Public Health, perhaps earlier. The predecessor Thomson Administration, the Fulton Administration, and the Still Administration sought successfully to obtain funds for a sewage-system clean-

The first Bridges Administration won approval of borrowing authority which resulted in modernized sewage disposal serving that portion of the city on the eastern side of the ridge served by the Catawba River basin. With water a concurrent problem the Bridges Administration stretched the city's bond-financing authority to upward limits to offer a water bond issue (also

With this long background of need, with the improvement of the city's financial position via good management and growth, majority of former oppo-nents of past efforts voted "yes" Tues-

The Herald believes that Tuesday's 19 opponents, as the project comes to fruition with its many attendant benefits, will be glad the winners won.

A Bargain

Regardless of one's personal feelings about the federal medicare program which becomes operative July 1, only the most rancorous and insensitive would advise an eligible citizen to for-swear the $36 annual cost of buying the extended coverage available.

The Kings Mountain hospital staff astounded area social security staff by offering advice concerning the extended benefits and further encouraging pur-chase of this bargain extra insurance.

The clinics being conducted each Tuesday afternoon at City Hall court-room have enjoyed increasing numbers

Social security representatives have two more clinics scheduled at City Hall, on March 22 and 29, and the postoffice has application blanks for the extended

Best bows to Rick Goforth, elected vice-president of his fraternity at Western Carolina college, and to Suzanne Amos and Tom Kennedy, grammar graders adjudged winners of the history medals awarded annually by Col. Frederick Hambright chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

MARTIN'S MEDICINE

Ingredients: bits of news wisdom, humor, and comments Directions: Take weekly, i possible, but avoid

BY MARTIN HARMON

Our neighbor, Kelly Wilson, now approaching her fourth birthday, paid a visit recently primarily to play with our Bos-ton terrier, Sir Winston. My wife was starting a bath and seeing that Kelly was properly enter tained excused herself and continued the ablutions.

When she had finished, she found the dog in his big cardboard box which is as tall as Kelly.

How did Sir Winston get into his box? Kelly replied, "He told me he wanted in and I just threw

Then she said, "Anne, your dog is just like mine was." Anne didn't recall it as a Boston and asked, "What do you mean?" Kelly's bright answer, "If you pull his tail, he'll bite you!"

Another three · year · old girl friend of mine is Ray and Sylvia Holmes' daughter Lindsay. Lindsay, with her mother, paid a visit to the office last pressday. She is quite a tease. When her fouryear-old brother came in she said, "He hangs around our neighborhood."

When I asked his name, he replied succintly, "Christopher Michael Holmes."

I said, "Lindsay, you've been teasing me. Not only does he hang about the neighborhood, but he lives at your house." She grinned an acknowledgement.

I was chatting recently with Jim and Kate Smith and Kate related the story of the adoption of their daughter, now Mrs. Rachel Smith Farley, wife of the Raleigh physician Bill Farley.

Kate and Jim had been unsuctessful in finding a child avail. All these are individuals acting sales. Thompson administrator Brought to them, Rachel treated talent. them to a rendition of "Jesus Loves Me" Cute, yes, but they weren't sure. Kate didn't say it. but I got the impression they were interested in adopting a m-m

the girl," Kate said and Jim aides. drove back to the building.

stop was to buy Rachel some North Piedmont avenue they found the late Mr. Charlie Neisler walking, promptly stopped to introduce him to Rachel.

"Look what we have!", Kate said. When she had finished telling him Rachel was their new daughter, Mr. Charlie ejaculated, "I must be Rip Van Winkle!"

"We couldn't have had a daughter who has been any more is a desirable counter-attack in joy to us nor kinder to us," Kate a field where carelessness and compliments, and she and Jim loose practices have developed. are mighty glad they changed The lozenges are not harmful, their minds that day 38 years a- but neither have they been shown go Certainly, none could have to do any good. Since the revision grown up to be any more beau- of the drug law worked out in tiful than Rachel, as those who 1962 by the late Senator Estes know here will attest quickly. Kefauver, the Food and Drug his book "But What about the iveness, but he FDA has been re-People", tells a story about a luctant to exercise that responquite - intrepid young girl who sibility.

was auditioning for the School Rigorous enforcement is imof Fine Arts in ballet. Agnes deMille was conducting the audiing the girl's application, when she admitted she'd never had a ballet lesson in her life. The rough performance she was able to give she had developed from watching ballet on televi-

That's the ingredient that some of our Chattahoochee catchish. They can't produce caviar, but they're battle-hardened.

The Atlanta Constitution tain Woman's Club Friday night.

M.C. HIGHWAY PROGRAM henry Illcoarn

Viewpoints of Other Editors

THE TYPICAL FARM

They come in all varieties.

persons just the opposite.

and an analyst

tion (USDA)

ducing $40,000 or more of farm products for sale during 1964 had been to college; one in eight of those with sales of $20,000 to

YEARS AGO

THIS WEEK

Items of news about King Mountain area people an events taken from the 195 files of the Kings Mountain Herald.

C. A (Gus) Huffstetler, incumbent constable for No. 4 Township, will seek Democratic renomination in the May 26 primary,

Miss Frances Summers, solo-

regular meeting of the Kings

Mountain Kiwanis club Thursday

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Road Sign

WARNING!

NO LITTERBUGGING

550 FINE

TO THROW TRASH ALONG

HIGHWAY

MOONLIGHTING MILLIONS

"Moonlighter, n., a person holding two jobs at the same time." (Webster's, 1965 edition.)

This new usage indicates a social change. Many people moonlight today for reasons we regard as worthy. Small farmers moonlight by day in mill or shop (doing their main job of homemaking by night and over long weekends) in order to send their children to college. Many heads of househlds take double employment just to make ends meet.

able for adoption at a foundling from personal motives. Now we Grouping all the farms in home and decided to visit the see moonlighting being used by Episcopal Thompson orphanage. public officials to meet labor shortages in professional fields. said they only had one child a. This can mean a large-scale salvailable, a three-year-old girl. vaging of untapped training and

The Chicago school system, for example, has engaged off-duty policemen, mailmen, and airline hostesses with college degrees as substitute teachers. The Chicago Police Department, with 243 college graduates in its ranks, has There was a long winding cooperated by authorizing its drive into the orphanage and men to moonlight up to 20 hours they'd navigated only half its a week. In other city school syslength when each looked at the tems, college-educated homemakother. "Let's tell him we want ers are being sought as teacher Moonlighting has much to commend it if pursued in moderation. It was about three weeks be- It should not be encouraged, how fore the administrator called to ever, when it prevents the hiring tell them they could come for of qualified unemployed persons. the child. It was a Saturday. Nor, except under pressing de-Kate recalls, "The poor kid's mands, should a person moondresses were too small and her light when it means denying himshoes were worn out." The first self time to study, think, and participate in civic affairs, or clothes. Next morning was Sun- perhaps paint a picture. We day and Kate and Jim, with their might expand the definition of new daughter, were riding about moonlighting to include such untown before church services. On paid but useful after job activities.

The Christian Science Monitor

DRUG ENFORCEMENT

The Food and Drug Administration is showing admirable vigor in enforcing the law under the leadership of Dr. James L. Goddard, the new Commissioner.

(A recent) order halting the $39,999 had some higher educafuture sale of antibiotic lozenges tion. - The Agricultural Situa-Administration has had the authority to bar products which had Ex-Governor Terry Sanford, in not been fully tested for effectportant both to the consumer's health and to his pocket-book. In he announced this week. tion and the applicant wasn't a a field so complex and competi-well-trained ballerina. Miss de tive as the marketing of drugs, ist, of Charlotte, will present a program of tolk songs at the Mille was on the verge of deny- the Government has the duty to

New York Times

EXPERIENCED From Moscow comes word that sion and attempting to practice what she saw. When Miss deMille learned that she said, "You've got to be enrolled." and she was.

Six chemical plant officials were put on trial for polluting the Vollega River and killing caviar-producing sturgeon.

We should offer the Soviets.

Mr. and Mrs. Glee E. Bridges entertained members of the Couple's Bridge club at the Country Club Friday night. The Town and Country Garden

LETTERS WITHOUT SUBSIDY

Looking for the typical farm? You'll probably never find it. Plans to give aid to humanistic scholars and writers merit ap-Some are highly productive; proval. A great nation should others turn out very little. Many show proper appreciation of produce a single type of product; those who contribute importantothers have several enterprises. ly to its intellectual life. But we Some may take up a vast amount work swing shifts in factories to of land; others only a fraction of should not forget that some of the buy the machinery they need to an acre Some have assets of $10 best of humane learning and litkeep farming. Busy mothers million or more; others, less than evature will always derive from for whom the popular song is $19,000. Some are operated by highly skilled farmers; others by lonely road with little thought of supporting agencies to succor So, how do you go about looking for a farm that is successful

In the current issue of The and likely to continue that way? One of the best guides is gross random advice that Hardin Craig United States on this basis, less was accustomed to give his stuthan half produce nine-tenths of dents, advice on "How to be a the fanm products. This is the productive scholar without any commercial part of agriculture. time to work." These notes prompt Miss Chute to observe There were fewer farms in the that the dedicated author does commercial sector in 1964 (when not wait to be subsidized, but unthe latest census of agriculture dertakes "some teloved piece of was taken) than at any other writing which no one has asked time in the 20th century. Howhim to do and for which, it may ever, this has been the trend for well be, he never will be paid.' many years. At the same time, the size of commercial farming salvaged from routine duties; it operations has grown steadily, necessarily will have to be done particularly in the last 5 years. with intensity "combined with a Fanms feeding 200 to 400 cattle long patience. It was probably in annually, raising 400 to 600 hogs, or milking 80 or more cows were busy public official wrote The much more common in 1964 than Canterbury Tales and therefore was never obliged to turn to a Bigger in terms of production patron."

and gross sales, today's commer-And Miss Chute makes a furcial farms also use more purchased inputs-such as fertilizers, thing to have public support, but machinery, hybrid seeds. They also are much more highly speing only one kind of crop or live-But the essential ingredient in the growth of commercial agriculture is still the farmer. The gain in his experience, education, and management ability have is a decision-maker, a technician. Increasingly, today's farmer alone with themselves. has a college education behind him. A third of the farmers pro-

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

It is not easy to visualize New York without its big Stock Exchange, a landmark down on Broad Street near Wall for many years. It is not apt to move despite rising taxes but there are those, it seems, who would welcome it elsewhere. One of these is Irving Rosenthal, president of the Palisades Amusement Park across the Hudson River in New Jersey In fact, he backed up his offer by proferring a gift of ten acres of land on which to build the new exchange. Also the taxes in New Jersey are not so high, it is pointed out, and this is one reason a number of large corporations have located there. It seems rather ironical that an amusement park would be the site of the stock exchange, though. To those who lose money in its uncertain transactions, the market is anything but amusing. But then why take life so seriously?

The draftee was awakened roughly by his platoon sergeant after the rookie's first night in the army barracks.

"It's 4:30"! roared the sergeant. "Four-thirty"! gasped the recruit. "Man, you'd better get to bed. We've got a big day tomorrow."

When the Civil War Between the States was over, many people there fled northward to other homes. Glenn Tucker is an exception. He was a successful New York advertising executive and when he had reached the peak of his career, decided to go South and write about the Civil War. Now he lives at Flat Rock, North Carolina, not far from another Yankee expatriate, Carl Sandburg. The latest book by Glenn Tucker is "Zeb Vance: Champion of Personal Freedom" just published by Bobbs-Merrill It is the exciting story of the energetic and controversial Civil War governor of North Carolina who, in recent years at least, legend says defended the young Tom Dooley, men and women who travel a named. But as Glenn vividly brings out in his impressive volume, Vance was much more. He prepared North Carolina for a war but insisted at the same time that the people of the state American Scholar Miss Marchette retain their personal rights. Of Chute, a brilliant writer and a all the governors, North and humane scholar, quotes some South, Zeb Vance was the only one who maintained the 'important writ of habeas corpus. Even President Abraham Lincoln suspended this means of personal freedom in the North. Glenn Tucker astutely argues in this book which contains much humor as well as pathos, that Vance would have succeeded Jefferson Davis as President, had the South won the memorable war.

> Some of the television commentators who sound off so ponderously on world affairs leave some of their listeners rather cold. Especially do these selfdesignated authorities fail to move those who know that most of them do not even write the stuff they broadcast, much less know much about it.

The years of name bands may be almost over but there are a ther comment that "It is a fine few around to remind us who it is quite possible to survive remember warmly the mellow without it ... It is no misfortune days of Tommy Dorsey and cialized than ever before, producto be obliged to travel this parti- Wayne King and others. Among cular terrain. The air may be the society orchestra leaders of thin, but it is good mountain air New York, Ben Cutler has been and can be quite exhilarating." outstanding and is a man of fine We should remember that even background personally as well as the best hothouse will not insure an accomplished musician. Now the rapid growth of literature or he has charge of the music at learning. Great scholarship and the Hotel Pierre, the sedate hosbeen behind all other changes. He great literature will continue to telry on 5th Avenue, where Stanthrive without benefit of founda- ly North and his smooth orchestions in the cold, clear air of the tra has been playing for 18 years. lonely mountain where men are Edward Seay reminds me that Nancy Manning, who performed The Washington Post with Peter Duchin's orchestra.

KEEP YOUR RADIO DIAL SET AT 1220

WKMT

Kings Mountain, N. C.

News & Weather every hour on the hour. Weather every hour on the half hour.

Fine entertainment in between

for t

get i

lette

colnt

Sout

ever

ence

the last

crow

seas

cent

base

wall

Ling

Page

Fran pros an 8 seas und be E rett.

> be t my She alm Wil

> > Low

juni tear Gof som I've

Tor fiel ma yea

ski the wit

ma per