Rotary Governor

nationalities and political and religious beliefs? Though a seasoned Rotarian before his election to the office of Rotary governor, Mr. Garland attended a 9-day meeting last June in New York State at which all Rotary governors for 1966-67 received intensive training for their jobs. One of his biggest jobs will be to hold a district conference of all Rotary clubs in this area. The conference will be held in Gastonia, in April of 1967. Gov. Garland is a former member of the N. C. House of Representatives. He has formerly served as president of the Gastonia Junior Chamber of Commerce, State Vice President of North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce, Chairman of Gaston County Board of Public Welfare, member of Board of Directors of North Carolina Division American Cancer Society, and president of Gaston County Bar Association.

At present he is serving on the John Motley Morehead Award Committee, District IX, University of North Carolina; Relations Representative of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America to Rotary International for the States of North and South Carolina; City Attorney of Gastonia, North Carolina; and Secretary of Law Foundation Council, University of North Carolina.

Vandalism

Wednesday, approximately $240 was taken from B. F. Maner Insurance Agency by robbers who smashed the office side door. A quantity of sweets—ice cream, cake and strawberries, were eaten by persons who entered the Woman's club by removing the glass from a side door. County and city officers are still seeking the lone Negro bandit who reportedly held up the manager of Reel's Gulf Station here early last Wednesday and escaped on foot with $3300 from the cash register.

Dropouts

gain in spite of the high school consolidation. Ninth and tenth grade enrollment showed slight increases. High school enrollment last year was 1190 vs. 1131. Elementary enrollment last year was 3079 vs. 2965. Enrollment by plants showed gains at Bethware, Central, North and Park Grace, losses at Compact Elementary, Davidson (115 reflecting dropping of seventh and eighth grades), East, Grover, West and the aforementioned Kings Mountain high school.

G-W Begins School Year

BOILING SPRINGS — Gardner-Webb College begins its 1966-67 school year this week with a period of registration and freshmen orientation. An estimated 700 freshmen will join 600 returning students this week to form the college's largest student body in history. Last year enrollment was 1,150. Freshmen come onto campus all day Tuesday and orientation begins Wednesday morning with a convocation in the Best Physical Education Building. Throughout the day students will be pre-registered, pre-registered, have rules and regulations explained to them and have photographs made for identification cards and the college yearbook. Thursday, and Friday will be used for registration and a skeleton class schedule will be run Saturday. Sixty-nine professors will be on the teaching staff, not including evening college instructors, administrative personnel and staff members. Registration, as it was last year, will be carried out through the use of IBM machine tabulation. Students use IBM cards for registration and the cards are tabulated through the college's data processing department machines. Mrs. Dorothy Hamrick, registrar, is in charge of registration. Robert Abrams, director of admissions, reported that over 2,300 applications have been processed for the 1966-1967 year and that an estimated 1,000 students were either rejected or told facilities were not available to accommodate them.

Although the way furniture is used determines how often it needs cleaning, once a year is often enough to wash wood furniture and apply a coat of paste wax. Otherwise, rely on those clean, lintless dust cloths you own.

Dust Can Be Hard On Furnishings

RALEIGH—Particles of dust can be hard on house furnishings and on your housekeeping morale. Your best weapon in the fight against household dust that accumulates on wood furniture is none other than a clean, soft, lintless cloth; the kind you can use once and wash, reports Mrs. Lillie Little, extension housing and house furnishings specialist, North Carolina State University. Chamois is excellent. Here's why just the use of a soft, clean cloth is good. If you have new wood furniture, chances are it already has a good, hard finish so only a regular dusting off is all these pieces need. If you possess antique furniture or fine, old pieces of wood furniture, you can actually safeguard the finish better by dusting the surface with a clean cloth rather than adding on layers of cleaners or polishes. What happens when you are over-generous with polishes or waxes is this: they build up on the surface of the furniture; actually attract more dust and may leave gummy, soiled surfaces on your wood furniture. Also the "antiqued look" given to some furniture items may be destroyed by overzealous cleaning and polishing. You'll still wish to keep a clean surface on your furniture. So when the wood takes on a dull, soiled look, wash it gently but quickly with suds made of a light duty detergent; wipe off the suds. Then, go over the surface quickly with a clean cloth dipped in clear water. Immediately buff surface dry with a lintless cloth. If you wish to wax the surface, use a thin coat of paste wax. Buff it diligently.

Revival Set Sept. 4 At Mary's Grove

Revival begins at Mary's Grove Methodist Church Monday August 29 and will continue through Sunday September 4, closing at the 7:30 p.m. service. Services each evening 7:30 with special singing. Rev. H. G. Clayton, the pastor, will present the sermon and Rev. and Mrs. Clayton and daughter Mrs. Jean Patterson of Charleston, S. C., will furnish the music. The public is invited to hear the messages and songs of the Claytons and daughter. The church is located on Mary's Grove Road just off Kings Mountain and Cherryville Highway.

Social Security Changes Noted

Q. If you have to go to the hospital, I prefer to be in a private room. Will Medicare cover the cost of a private room? A. No, Medicare will pay semi-private rates, unless your doctor says it is medically necessary for you to have a private room. If not, you can still have a private room, but you will have to pay the difference between the semi-private rate and the private room.

Q. My mother is in poor health and the family got together and decided to put her in a nursing home. She hasn't been in the hospital, however, and our doctor hasn't told us to put her in the nursing home, but we fell she will get better care there than at home. Will Medicare cover this? A. Benefits cannot be paid for nursing home services unless the attending physician certifies that the beneficiary needs the skilled nursing care for continued treatment of a condition for which the beneficiary had been hospitalized. Beginning January 1, it will be possible after three days hospitalization for a doctor to have a person moved from a hospital to a skilled nursing home, where he can continue treatment under less expensive surroundings. Medicare will pay the reasonable cost of the first 20 days—and all but $5.00 a day for the next 80 days.

Q. When released from the hospital after a stay of two weeks, what benefits would I be able to get at home while convalescing? A. Your physician can arrange for part-time nursing care, physical therapy, and rental supplies (wheel chair, crutches, etc.) in your home. Your medical insurance will help take care of the doctor's bill for his service in your home.

Man Injured In Wreck Saturday

Robert Carthern, 28, of 406 Childers Street, was hospitalized Saturday afternoon following an accident on Linwood Road, about 100 feet west of its intersection with Cleveland Avenue. Carthern, according to police reports, was driving a 1949 model Buick when it went out of control, ran off the right side of the road, traveled approximately 25 yards, went back across the road, up an embankment, and turned end-over-end and came to rest in a ditch. Carthern was thrown out of the car. He was charged with reckless driving by investigating officer B. P. Cook. Damage to the car was estimated at $200. James Price, 45, of Gastonia, was charged with a stop light violation following an accident around 5:15 Saturday afternoon. Price's 1956 model Chrysler ran the red light at the corner of South Gaston and West King and struck a 1964 Cadillac driven by Elizabeth Lynch, of 507 East Ridge Street. Damage to Price's car was estimated at $100 and damage to the Cadillac was reported at $225. Bob Hayes investigated. Officers L. D. Beattie and Jackie Barrett charged Clyde L. Cole, 32, of 109 City Street with failure to yield right of way after his 1958 Chevrolet struck a 1957 Ford driven by Dorothy Crocker of Route 1 Thursday morning around 6:35 a.m. According to police reports Cole's brakes gave away. Both drivers were treated for minor injuries at Kings Mountain hospital. Damage to Cole's vehicle was estimated at $325 and damage to the Ford was reported at $225.

Garden Time

His real name was John Chapman, but wherever he traveled he was known as "Johnny Appleseed." Whatever John Chapman may have been in fact or fancy, there is no doubt that he was as thorough going an example of good old-fashioned American individualism as ever copped out a clearing. The dissemination of apple seed and the cultivation of the trees was a passion with him. He would clear a small area in some open part of the forest, girdle the remaining trees standing upon it, build a brush fence around it and plant his apple seeds. This done, he would move on 20 miles or so and again go through the same operation. This Johnny Appleseed project was begun in 1797 when Chapman was 23 years of age. Later, when the settlers moved in to open up their lands, the fruits of his labors were apparent, for he had done his job well. It was not his fault if every settler did not have an orchard planted and growing when he staked his claim. It was not until 1935 that John Chapman's birth and family connections were trailed to the right place in Leominster, Mass. Leominster now even points out the traditional Chapman homestead, There the Massachusetts Fruit Grower's Association, in 1940, erected a little granite monument with a bronze inscription which reads: "He planted seeds that others might enjoy fruit." This is a brief history to refresh your memory about the escapades of Johnny Appleseed and to call your attention to a commemorative stamp to be issued in September honoring this pioneer apple grower. Should you be interested in reading the complete story of this remarkable person, his travels and family connections, I suggest that you get a copy of "Johnny Appleseed—Man and Myth" by Price. It is published by the Indiana University Press, Bloomington, Ind. It may be available in your local library.

A Johnny Appleseed Commemorative 5c postage stamp will be issued on September 24, 1966. First-day cancellations will be from Leominster, Mass., on this date. Individuals desiring first-day covers should do the following: (1) address as many envelopes as you wish to friends, placing your name and address top left; (2) obtain a money order covering the cost of stamps; (3) enclose all material in an envelope and address as follows: Johnny Appleseed Fruit-Day Issue, Postmaster, Leominster, Mass., 01453.
