

Thieves Stage Four Break-Ins

City police and the Cleveland County Sheriff's Department are still investigating four break-ins reported Tuesday in the Kings Mountain area.

Three business firms just outside the city limits were broken into sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning about the same time Southwell Ford in Kings Mountain was entered.

Timms Furniture Co. on the Grover Road was robbed of approximately $400 worth of merchandise. Items stolen included eight or more Gruen wrist watches, two tape recorders, a transistor radio, cigarette lighter, men's electric shaver and a ladies' electric saver. Entrance was gained through a side door. Property damage was reported at $150.

Nothing was reported taken from Welch's Radio and TV Shop or Spangler's Ready Mix Concrete. Entrance at Spangler's was gained by breaking out a window and Welch's was entered by breaking open a lock on a rear door.

At Southwell Ford, entrance was gained by breaking out a window in the back door. Coke and cracker machines were broken into but nothing other than eats was reported missing.

A supply room was entered but nothing was stolen. City police officer Boy Hayes investigated the break-in at Southwell's.

Senator Johnson Rotary Speaker

Senator James V. (Jimmy) Johnson of Charlotte will use the topic, "Building A Budget for North Carolina", at Thursday's Rotary club meeting at 12:15 at the Country Club.

He will speak on a program arranged by Rotarian-Thomas L. Trot.

Elected to a seat in the North Carolina Senate in 1960, 1962, and 1964, Mr. Johnson did not seek re-election in 1966. During the 1963 session he served as chairman of the Senate finance committee and was a member of the Robert L. Doughton Memorial Commission in 1963. He served on the Advisory Budget Commission in 1963-64 and was chairman of the state-wide study commission for School Board Selection. From 1964-66 he was a member of the N. C. Board of Mental Health.

Senator Johnson moved to Charlotte in June from Statesville. Since January of this year he has been president of Carolina Coin Caterers Corporation in Charlotte, a Coca-Cola affiliate, and executive vice-president of Charlotte Coca-Cola Bottling Company and Salisbury Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

A native of Statesville, he was educated at Statesville high school and UNC at Chapel Hill. He was wounded in action and a prisoner of war in Germany while serving in the Armed Forces.

He joined Coca-Cola as a route manager in January 1947, became plant manager of the Statesville plant in 1950 and resigned in 1961 to move to Charlotte.

In Statesville he was president of the Rotary club, commander of the American Legion and active in the Jaycees, VFW, Chamber of Commerce and Elks. He is a Methodist and past chairman of the Official Board of his church and a lay leader. Mrs. Johnson is the former Gett Thurston of Taylorsville and they are parents of two teen-age daughters.

Boxes To Trap And Slay Rats

Rats, beware! The rat boxes will get you if you don't watch out!

And, the new boxes, complete with rat bait, are being placed by the city in the downtown business district.

The rat and rodent control program is part of the city's clean-up campaign.

Mayor John H. Moss, in recommending purchase of rat boxes said he feels with operation of the new garbage collection system the board authorized on Tuesday there will be much improvement in trash-garbage collection.

He noted that debris is a source of rats and rodents.

Ward 5 Comm. O. O. Walker questioned the mayor about the "safety of the rat traps around pets." He said he was thinking about his dog.

The mayor replied, "It's safe as far as pets and animals are concerned and we'll get the poison from the State Health Department."

"Just be sure we get a responsible person to set up the traps", Walker quipped.

Lindsay Wins Army Medal

Captain Robert Lindsay, son-in-law of Mrs. George Julian of Kings Mountain, was presented the Army Commendation Medal recently for outstanding service in Thailand.

The Lindsay family will arrive here from Virginia Thursday to visit Rev. and Mrs. Julian at the Second Baptist church parsonage. Mrs. Lindsay is the former Cynthia Plott, daughter of Mrs. Julian and the late E. T. Plott.

The commendation reads: "By direction of the Secretary of the Army, the Army Commendation Medal is awarded to Captain Robert S. Lindsay, OF104143, Corps of Engineers, United States Army for Meritorious service during the period 16 January, 1965 to 23 May 1966 while serving as Commanding Officer, Company B, 538th Engineer Battalion (Construction), 9th Logistics Army, Thailand.

"Captain Lindsay's outstanding leadership and professional competence contributed immeasurably to the battalion's successful overseas deployment, establishment in Thailand, and accomplishment of tasks having strategic importance to the effort in Southeast Asia.

"His personal leadership and untiring efforts were instrumental in the rapid completion of all concrete, asphalt, and equipment support in the erection of a $540,000 POL Tank Farm in Korat, the completion of a $50,000 project for concrete and asphalt hardstands in the Korat depot, and the paving of a vital road at the Korat Air Base.

"Through his inspiration and motivation, his company was successful in accomplishing its primary mission of constructing a 23 kilometer portion of a strategically important military road project through rough mountainous jungle south of Korat.

"Captain Lindsay's outstanding performance of duty and meritorious service are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, this command and the United States Army."

Nine Win Certificates

Nine certificates in junior and senior life saving courses were presented by the Kings Mountain Red Cross chapter to graduates of ten two-hour classes.

W. Donald Crawford, Water Safety instructor for the local chapter, taught the courses at Lake Montonia. To be eligible for a certificate students must have completed a minimum of 15 hours of instruction for Junior life saving and a minimum of 17 hours of instruction for Senior knowledge, practical work and final examination in writing and skills were features of the courses.

Certificates in Junior Life Saving went to Mary Anne Bennett, Sara Beth Simpson, Pimmy Amos, Gilbert Patrick, Frances McGill, all of Kings Mountain, and Stephanie Ann Phifer of Bessemer City.

Certificates in Senior Life Saving went to Donna Ann Crawford of Kings Mountain, Beverly Harmon and Steve Harmon of Bessemer City.

City Tapping Auxiliary Lake

Tuesday, Wednesday rainfall, estimated at three-quarters of an inch, increased the flow of the small streams feeding the city's two water reservoirs.

But more rainfall is needed. The city has been using its auxiliary Davidson Lake reservoir to augment the diminished supply in the York Road reservoir. Bigger pumps were installed last week to enable 1.75 million gallon pumpage per day from the Davidson Lake.

WOMAN'S CLUB

LIFE COMPLETELY CHANGED

Judy Adams, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Adams, Farmer community in Randolph County, declares that her life has been completely changed this year. As part of her 4-H health activity she conquered her weight problem by losing 25 pounds.

Judy, who trimmed down to a size 9 dress, said recently, "Before you can lose weight, you must decide you really want to. You must have a goal and lots of will power. But to have others notice you've lost weight and to know you can buy a dress a size smaller makes anyone happy."

Judy Adams is Randolph County's 1966 4-H Health Queen. Mrs. Joyce Spoon, assistant home economics extension agent, notes, "She was selected because of her outstanding 4-H health record."

100 DOLLAR REWARD Would you believe a $100 award for a 4-H project? Annette Lowe, 17, of the Clover 4-H Club, Jones County, says it is believable. She holds a check for $100, the result of her outstanding work in the 4-H Electric project. Annette received the check and recognition at the 4-H Electric Congress, recently held in Asheville, because she one of the outstanding 4-H Electric Record books, Patricia Ann Peterson, assistant home economics extension agent, says.

Working on the electric project for four years, Annette has learned a great deal. As an added bonus, she has saved her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lowery, money by being able to repair electric appliances and by doing other electrical jobs around the house.

UNUSUAL REQUEST Extension home economics agents sometimes get unusual requests. For example, Judy Steadman, the assistant home economist agent in Cleveland, had a request from two of her low-income clients to learn long division. The two sisters said they knew how to do short division. But they had never learned to do long division and would like to do it.

The agent decided this request was a long way from the field of home economics, but she decided to help them anyway. She dug into some mathematics books and made out a lesson plan for her new students. "This goes to prove that a home economist must sometimes be a jack of all trades," Miss Steadman muses.

HARMONY IS THE WORD There are several things a woman can do to earn the title "well-dressed." She should select garments that fit, that flatter her figure and that are of a color flattering to her.

Even so, the most perfect dress, suit or coat cannot stand on its own without the right accessories, Marsha B. Edmondson, home economics extension agent, Durham County states. Accessories can make or ruin a costume.

The secret of selecting and assembling accessories successfully for a costume is expressed in the word "harmony"—harmony of color, shape, size and texture.

PLONK SOME BETTER The condition of C. S. Plonk, Sr., well-known Kings Mountain trader, was reported a "bit better" Wednesday night by his son, Dr. George Plonk. Mr. Plonk has been hospitalized at Kings Mountain hospital following removal of his gall bladder.
