Crowds Attend Floral Event

Wednesday's Community Festival attracted throngs of visitors to the Woman's club for turkey and ham with all the trimmings and a colorful display of flowers and exhibits ranging from family bbies and collections to crafts. It was the 66th annual floral fair of the Kings Mountain Woman's club.

There were no ribbons given but the roses, arrangements and horticulture specimens could easily have been blue ribbon winners. One of many conversation pieces at yesterday's fair was Mrs. Clyde Kerns' bright orange featherwork arrangement which she made herself. She brought the feathers from a recent trip to California, sprayed and arranged them. The feathers are pretty enough to grace a hat.

Two groups of exhibits claimed attention of the young people who came in groups from school ceramics and crafts filled one large display area. Hobbies and collections filled a second dis-play area. Local garden clubs provided four eye - catching table settings with autumn in mind and decorated a Halloween table complete with orange and black appointments and pop-

This poem - October 1918 was written by Mrs. E. W. Griffin at the close of World War I. Because of the world situation today, it could have been written in October 1966.

Mrs. Griffin, the former Mabel Graham Kurfees, wrote the poem, she said, on her family's plantation in Davie County near Mocksville as she sat under a tree. She was at home for several weeks before returning to school. The poem appeared in the October 1918 Charlotte Observer and hymnbook which is just off the Mrs. Griffin found the clipping while house-cleaning the other
