Six-Ounce Egg Is Displayed
Marvin Goforth, Shelby road farmer, was displaying a six and one-half ounce egg, one of four from his henhouse this week.

The oddity was on display Tuesday at the Herald office.

Mr. Goforth declares the egg is a "rooster egg". Of the pullets he purchased sometime ago, one resembles a rooster and "crows", says Goforth.

Hospital Chatter

By Sandra Johnson

Candy Stripper

at Kings Mountain Hospital

Mrs. William Houser is the newest addition to the Kings Mountain Hospital. Her duties include acting as receptionist at the front desk, Mrs. Houser's likes include, Candy Strippers, and people in general. She says she finds her work very fascinating because it gives her an opportunity to meet all types of people.

Another new addition to the hospital staff is Mrs. McClure.

David M. Hardin Aboard "Ranger"

USS RANGER — Aviation Structural Mechanic — Airman David M. Hardin, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hardin of 504 W. Gold St., Kings Mountain, N. C., serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier Ranger, has qualified to wear the Navy Unit Commendation ribbon.

The Navy Unit Commendation was awarded to the Ranger for her "... exceptionally meritorious service while participating in combat operations in Southeast Asia in support of the Republic of Vietnam's effort to resist Communist aggression."

His ship has also earned the Arleigh Burke Fleet Trophy. The award is presented each year to one ship in the Atlantic Fleet and one ship in the Pacific Fleet for the greatest improvement in battle efficiency.

The Ranger is now moored at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard near Seattle, Washington, where it will undergo an extensive overhaul before returning to service overseas.

Twenty-five potential nurses aides are enrolled in classes taught by Miss Mary Blackwelder, director of Nurses. The two integrated classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday — one from 3:30-5:30 and the other from 6:30 to 8:30. The course will be completed by early Spring and there is a possibility that another class will be offered in late spring or early summer.

Room 4 is occupied by Miss Nancy Sue Service, a veritable ray of sunshine, who has been a patient since March, 1965.

Miss Service is a registered nurse and for four years worked as an anesthetist in Chicago. In 1958 she returned to her hometown, Bessemer City, to be with her sister who was ill. She then opened a hat shop — Nancy's Shop. Many people remember her for the lovely hats she designed for them. She always found time for her church (A.R.P.), her rose garden, and for the Woman's club and the Garden club.

In 1965, she was hospitalized with paralysis. Mrs. Ralph Mauney is her private nurse from seven until three. Not a day has passed without her receiving fresh flowers — love tokens from her many friends.

A visit with her is like a spring tonic. You come away refreshed and inspired. She is witty, cheerful, and full of plans for the future — re-opening Nancy's Shop. We just bet she will.

Commitment Day Service Set
Commitment Day will be observed in the Methodist churches of the Western North Carolina Conference on Sunday, November 13th. On this day the ministry of the congregation to alcoholics and disturbed persons of the community will be emphasized. The theme for the day will be "Do You Care Enough?"

The focus is upon the plight of America's 5,000,000 alcoholics. Alcoholism is the nation's third largest health problem.

This program is under the leadership of the Commission on Christian Social Concerns. The speaker for the 11 o'clock service at Central Methodist church will be Lester Whitener of Gastonia. Mr. Jordan will speak at the evening service.

Local Women On UCW Board

Meeting Wednesday night in Salisbury, the executive board of United Church Women, North Carolina Council of Churches will consider the plan for a new state structure in constitution and by-laws.

The plan, set up in October in Omaha, Nebr at the National Board of Managers meetings will be explained by Mrs. Charles Coleman, dean of women at Livingston College, Salisbury. After study of the new structure, the board will draw up recommendations to be made at the State Board of Managers meeting the following day.

Also scheduled for the 6 p.m. dinner meeting at Holiday Inn is a report of the Omaha meeting given by Mrs. Ira C. Shelley of Greensboro, state president. Evening meditations by Mrs. Arthelia Brooks, Methodist deaconess working as a Rural in Burnsville, will set the pace for the Nov. 10 meeting at Salisbury's First Methodist Church.

The state president reveals the Thursday morning agenda will include reports from the various departments and officers; election of district chairmen; adoption of the 1967-68 budget; discussion and adoption of the new state structure; and making final plans for the annual state meeting to be held in April in Winston-Salem.

Featured luncheon speaker will be Mrs. Elizabeth E. McCubbin, superintendent of the North Carolina Correctional Center for Women, Raleigh. Mrs. McCubbin will discuss the Chapel of the Nameless Woman being built for the inmates. The UCW organization has pledged $1,500 to the chapel project over a three-year period.

Speaking briefly will be Mrs. M. Joyce Mills of Hendersonville, a member of the staff for homemakers with the migrants in that area. Over the years UCW has maintained an active interest in and support of the migrant ministry in North Carolina.

The UCW Board of Managers includes all state officers, committee chairmen and members, state denominational presidents and representatives, local council presidents and members at large.

Agriculture In Action

IT'LL NEVER HAPPEN

It's around this season that the prophets begin to stir.

Visions of the New Year set them off. Pulling out some formula which eludes us common folk, they set about to probe into the future.

Robbing us of all the mystery which tomorrow holds, they tell us what's going to take place. The practice is known in the trade as predicting or prognosticating. To the layman, it's better known as sticking one's neck out.

We're envious but not brash. Somehow the cloudy crystal ball stays cloudy. And while we'd like to claim a place among the seers, we'd be risking severe embarrassment to guess what 1967 holds.

But there's a way out. Carefully avoiding suggestions about what might come to pass next year, we can still venture a few bold predictions about what won't happen. And here are a few of them:

DECORATING TIPS
By GENE TIMMS

VARIETY IS THE SPICE OF DECORATING, TOO

Your home will be more excitingly decorated if you add variety to it, and if you concentrate on avoiding monotony in your furnishings.

But, how do you go about doing this?

It can be done even if you use the same furniture period throughout your home. For instance, you can still vary the wood finishes and color schemes sufficiently to avoid monotony. And, there are many other things to look for when you go furniture shopping.

A striped pattern on a chair or sofa will often be a charming change from the usual solid or floral fabrics. Look for a certain piece of furniture that can be a center of interest for your living room.

You can even do things to your windows that will add variety to your home. Here's one idea: Use of double traverse rods with two sets of drapes can be a good plan with one set of the light, transparent type allowing light into the room while the other set is opaque giving complete privacy.

When you come into our store we can show you many pieces of furniture which can make a wonderful addition to your rooms and give you the variety and the sparkle and the attractive decorator touch which many homes lack. Come in and look around.

Discounts every day, cash or our easy monthly installment plan, geared to fit your budget, quality furniture & appliances at reasonable prices. We guarantee we'll save you money.
