WHIMMY DIDDLE
What is a whimmy diddle? Twenty-one 4-H'ers in Randolph County found out recently when they attended a crafts workshop conducted by Mrs. Doris C. Latham of the Gray's Chapel community.

A whimmy diddle is an old-fashioned wooden toy consisting of a notched stick with a small propeller attached to one end. Mrs. Joyce Spoon, assistant home economics agent, explains that when the notches are vigorously rubbed by another stick the vibrations cause the propeller to revolve.

In addition to making whimmy diddles, the 4-H'ers learned to make papier-mache jewelry, a felt toy and greeting cards.

REMODEL 100-YEAR-OLD HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Tilley, Bahama, Durham County, have been remodeling their 100-year-old farm house. And, in order to stretch the family's housing dollar they've done a lot of the work themselves.

Take the living room, for example. To begin the work, Tilley removed a partition between the room and hall and reinforced the ceiling with a steel beam. Mrs. Tilley put up the ceiling tile.

To complete the improvements, Tilley put down new plywood flooring, which was covered with nylon carpeting. Mrs. Tilley antiqued a beautiful chest; Annette, a daughter, refinished and upholstered a chair; Bucky, a son, built a bookcase, and Mrs. Tilley painted pictures for the room. "This has truly been a family project," agrees Martha B. Edmondson, extension home economics agent.

SEES MERIT IN SPENDING PLAN

Poor money management can cause much frustration and many headaches, agrees a young Goldsboro mother.

For the woman, who works part-time and receives some public assistance, discovered it was impossible to make ends meet without careful planning.

According to Betty Jean Barr, associate home economics extension agent, Wayne County, "the homemaker had borrowed large sums of money from several finance companies, purchased many items of furniture on the installment plan and spent more money than necessary for other items she thought she and her family needed."

When the businesses started collecting, the young woman found she was in "trouble."

She called on Miss Barr to help her work out a realistic budget. "She's now a firm believer in a spending plan and realizes that the time and efforts spent in making one can soothe plenty of frustrations," Miss Barr adds.

UNUSUAL ATTENDANCE RECORD

Mrs. Bobby Owen Beeker, Rowan County, has an unusual attendance record. The 18-year-old homemaker has nine years of perfect attendance at the Franklin Extension Homemakers Club.

Mrs. Beeker started coming to meetings with her mother when she was nine, and has participated faithfully in the club's projects, Edith Hinshaw, home economics extension agent, reports. "For example," she says, "one year Bobby read and reported on enough books to receive a reading certificate."

Two campuses of the University of North Carolina—North Carolina State University at Raleigh and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill—are among the 41 member institutions of the Oak Ridge Association of Universities, Inc., a non-profit educational and research corporation located in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. The corporation was established in 1946 and operated for nearly 20 years as the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.
